ROYAL PAIR WED TODAY

Princess in Final Reception

[illegible] Jose Has Busy Day as She Meets Pope Pius and Reviews Peasants

[illegible] Decorated in Red for Nuptials to Unite Italian and Belgian Families

ROME, Jan. 7. (AP)—Princess Marie Jose of Belgium was the guest of a final brilliant reception tonight at the Quirinal Palace before her marriage to Crown Prince Humbert of Italy tomorrow morning.

The Princess, who spent a crowded and colorful day, received about 300 guests, including high army and navy officers, government officials and the members of the so-called Roman "white aristocracy"—those who have been signalized by their devotion to the kingdom of Italy.

PRINCESS IN PINK

The Princess was dressed in pink and wore a beautiful pearl necklace, which was the gift of Crown Prince Humbert.

The officers were in full dress uniform and the rest of the men in full evening dress.

The Duchess of Vendome, Marie Jose's aunt, wore a gown of gold [illegible] lace with a fur-trimmed train. Former Queen Amelie of Portugal was in purple velvet with a diamond diadem on her hair.

Princess Christopher of Greece, the Princess of France, wore a [illegible] brown lace gown with a long train. The Marquise De [illegible] wore a white-satin gown with a short cape embroidered in diamante and a train of [illegible] velvet lined with gold. Another striking costume was that of the Countess Chartier De Segouv, which was of gold lace and had a train lined with golden velvet.

Most of the gowns, including Princess Marie Jose's, were made in Paris.

ALL TO WEAR VEILS

At the wedding ceremony tomorrow all of the ladies will wear lace veils and long sleeves and high-necked gowns will be the rule. The [illegible] attached to the Belgian and Italian courts will wear mantles of [illegible] blue.

Crown Prince Humbert, unlike [illegible] bridegrooms, did not give [illegible] dinner this evening. He [illegible] such a dinner some time ago [illegible] to his brother officers of the [illegible]-second Infantry, all of whom toasted the bride in sparkling [illegible] wine.

Princess Marie Jose spent a busy day on the eve of her wedding. In addition to the reception tonight, she had an audience with Pope Pius in the morning and reviewed a

Will Rogers Remarks:

WINSLOW (Ariz.) Jan. 7. [To the Editor of The Times:] Senator Grundy is receiving Republican praise for not voting yesterday on a tariff measure that he himself was interested in. His side was already nine ahead. I will withhold my applause till I see what he does when a tie comes up. Mr. Hoover is sending a Democrat and a Republican Senator to the London show. Would have sent a Progressive, but it's a peace conference. The Hearst papers are against prohibition but in favor of enforcement, while Senator Borah is for prohibition, but against enforcement.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

SNOW ENDS DRY CRISIS

Heavy Storm Hits Colorado

Subzero Weather Holding Sway Over Most of Western States

GRAND JUNCTION (Colo.) Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—There is joy over Western Colorado tonight for it is snowing, the first snow of any magnitude to fall this winter, and with it comes a promise of a relief of drought conditions which until now have threatened to prove serious. Reports from over Western Colorado this evening indicate that the fall is a general one, ranging from six inches in the lower valleys to probably three feet or more in the high altitudes.

The snow was the first that has fallen since November 7, when a storm brought a precipitation of .63 of an inch in Grand Junction, and in the two months intervening there had been but .12 of an inch precipitation. Precipitation during December totaled only .10 of an inch, compared to a normal of .63 of an inch. The average November snowfall in Grand Junction is 2.1 inches and for December, 5.6 inches.

PEAKS LONG BARE

The total snowfall for the winter up to the 5th inst. was only 1.7 inches and for the first time in the memory of the white man mountain peaks remained bare of snow until after the first of the year. Snowplows in readiness for service on the mountain passes, were sent into the valleys on the eastern slope. The mountain roads remained dry and dusty.

The Grand Mesa, one of the largest watersheds on the west slope, remained almost bare of snow into the new year, autoists driving to the 10,200-foot altitude for New Year's. Prior to the present storm 10 inches of snow covered the ground in the Ward Lake district, where normal falls of 24 inches on November 30 and 44 inches December 31, occurred. In the Mesa Lakes area a foot of snow covered the ground where usually on New Year's it totaled from 4 to 5 feet. That there is ample time yet for a normal winter's snowfall, is shown by the records of 1917. In that year with only 18 inches of snow on December 31, gauges recorded 114 inches, or more than nine feet, by the end of April. The record at Ward Lake was 127 inches on March 31, 1920.

PRESENT STORM HEAVY

The snowfall during the present storm in the higher altitudes is unknown, but from the severity of the storm in the valleys, it was no doubt large. Forest rangers will read the snow gauges as soon as weather conditions permit, as the water situation had been extremely critical up to the present storm.

Late today it was reported the Ouray-Silverton road had been closed for the winter because of deep snows. It was snowing hard on Tennessee Pass with from 2 to 3 feet of snow covering the road, and indications are that the entire mountain district is experiencing the worst storm in years.

West into Utah, sheepmen report a heavy blanket of snow.

SNOW AND SLEET DISRUPT AIR SERVICE

WICHITA (Kan.) Jan. 7. (AP)—Snow and sleet virtually disrupted air-line service from every direction around Wichita today. No planes left here. The Western Air Express and Universal Air Lines got planes through from Kansas City, but they were halted here.

Midcontinent and Brower planes failed to operate and the eastbound T.A.T.-Maddux ship canceled its flight out of Waynoka, Okla.

WESTERN STATES SWEPT BY COLD WAVE

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 7. (AP)—Winter held the entire West in an icy grip tonight.

From the Great Lakes to the gulf and from some Pacific Coast points to States east of the Mississippi River a cold wave, accompanied in many sections by snow and sleet, drove temperatures down to uncomfortable depths.

Subzero weather prevailed in northern communities as the cold spread over the Great Lakes and Mississippi Valley regions from the frigid Rocky Mountains.

Along the Gulf of Mexico the tail-end of the northern cold wave was being felt.

THERMOMETER BREAKS

Reports from Glasgow, Mont., today said the official thermometer there broke after the mercury had descended to 40 deg. below zero.

Subzero temperatures were general in Montana, Wyoming, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Nebraska, but a gradual moderation was in prospect in these States.

Near-zero temperatures were forecast for tonight in Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City and cities in Kansas and Oklahoma.

BLIZZARD IN ROCKIES

The snowstorm which covered Wyoming and Colorado with a white blanket last night subsided today, but one of the worst storms in years was raging on the western slope of the Rockies where the snow had piled up eight to twelve inches deep.

A coating of sleet and ice in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Northwest Texas impaired wire communication and delayed traffic. Fog and rain in other sections of Texas caused suspension of operations by several air lines.

PERSHING TO KEEP HIS HAT OUT OF RING

General Ends Hopes of Friends He'd Seek Seat in Senate Held by Norris

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—Gen. Pershing today announced that he will not seek to enter the Senate from Nebraska. In a telegram to his supporters in Nebraska Gen. Pershing said he never had and does not now seek public office, and that while he regards the Senatorship as an honor his decision is final.

"Confirming what I said in our telephone conversation yesterday," Gen. Pershing wired, "I do not desire nor have I desired at any time to seek public office. While it would be a distinct honor for any man to represent the great State of Nebraska in the United States Senate, my decision must be regarded as final. Will you please advise my good friends in Nebraska to this effect."

Gen. Pershing's telegram was addressed to Mark Woods, of Lincoln, Neb., who recently started a movement in favor of the general for next year's Senatorial race for the seat held by Senator Norris.

LINCOLN (Neb.) Jan. 7. (AP)—Gen. Pershing, despite his statement from Washington today announcing he does not "seek office and that he will not consider entering politics in Nebraska," remains, in the opinion of Mark Woods, a potential "draft candidate" in opposition to Senator Norris.

Editor Blames Press for Undue Crime Publicity

WINTER PARK (Fla.) Jan. 7. (AP) George Fort Milton, editor of the Chattanooga News, put the responsibility for overemphasis on crime stories and sensational news squarely upon newspaper editors in an address tonight before the Institute of Statemanship at Rollins College here.

He said editors could, if they would, "stop mixing slime from the gutter with printer's ink."

Greatest discussion arose over the suggestion of Harold Lombard of New York, executive vice-president of the Stable Money Association, who presented a suggestion for solving fluctuations in price levels by stabilizing the purchasing power of the monetary unit.

CABLE-RADIO COMBINE HIT

Western Union President Ridicules Monopoly Scheme Proposed by Owen D. Young

BY MARTIN CODEL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (NANA)—Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union, scorns Owen D. Young's apprehensions lest America's international cable-radio system fall under foreign domination unless the radio law is amended to enable them to unify.

Mr. Carlton calls the menace of similar unifications by foreign countries, as pictured by Mr. Young, a "fantastic bogey." The Western Union, he says, will refuse to be a party to any monopolistic combine such as Mr. Young proposed for international communications.

This was the tenor of his colorful testimony before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce today, when hearings were resumed on the Couzens bill creating a commission to regulate all forms of wire and wireless communications.

COMPLETELY AT ODDS

The testimony of the two captains of the American communications industry revealed them entirely at odds on the need for a combination of cable and radio facilities to meet foreign competitors in the international field, particularly the threat of world domination of communication by the giant British cable-radio merger of last year.

Where Mr. Young, as chairman of the Radio Corporation of America, pictured America's cable and radio systems held at the mercy of foreign monopolies; Mr. Carlton declared the situation was completely controllable by American interests, and referred to the threat of British domination as "utter nonsense." The merger of Great Britain's private and governmental cable-radio facilities into one large private company was described as "creaky and ponderous" and as "no menace to anybody."

If any American merger takes place—and Mr. Carlton said he did not oppose the proposed sale of the Radio Corporation of America's radio system to the International Telephone and Telegraph Company—the Western Union will not join it. Mr. Carlton, in taking this attitude, said he spoke with the authority of his company's stockholders.

COMPETITION DESIRED

These expressions from the head of the company doing the bulk of this country's international as well as domestic telegraph business, in competition with other cable and radio systems, brought forward new aspects of the international cable-radio situation which Mr. Carlton hitherto has declined to discuss publicly.

For one thing, he asserted flatly that competition between cables and between the radio and cables was desirable in that it created new business for all. Competition, said Mr. Carlton, is the best method of rate-making. He opposed the plan of the Couzens bill to create a commission regulating rates, saying the Western Union preferred to remain under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission as at present.

On the score of British supremacy, he said that this has been a recurring "bogey" for the last fifty years and that long experience with the British should dispel any fears that they will "menace" America's powerful position in international communications. However, if the I. T. & T. and R. C. A. are permitted to combine, he said that exclusive radio contracts with foreign countries should not be permitted and declared that the Western Union will then be an applicant for wave lengths.

YOUNG RIDICULED

Mr. Young's testimony last month, in which he urged unification in private hands or else under government ownership, was the basis of a large part of Mr. Carlton's

FOX LOTS IN BAY CITY ATTACHED

Property Seized on Debt Asserted Due on Block in Los Angeles' Heart

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—Miss Kay Baxter, secretary to S. L. Lansburgh, San Francisco attorney, today filed in Superior Court a $250,000 attachment on personal property holdings of William Fox, theater magnate.

The attachment, it was explained, has nothing whatever to do with Fox company properties, but is directed entirely against the personal holdings of the defendant. It is levied on property here at Ninth and Market streets, but does not include the theater which was erected on the site several months ago.

The attachment was filed, it was said, because Fox failed to meet payments on the purchase of large realty holdings between Sixth and Seventh, Broadway and Hill streets in Los Angeles.

The deficiency estimates included $15,250,000 for the Veterans' Bureau, of which $8,000,000 would be for hospital facilities and services and the remainder for military and naval insurance; $190,000 for maintenance of the White House grounds; $200,000 for continuing construction of the Arlington Memorial Bridge across the Potomac River; $240,000 for the Federal Trade Commission; $10,000 for salaries in the Civil Service Commission; $6000 for contingent expenses of the executive offices; $37,000 for the Federal Board for Vocational Education; $31,000 for the Federal Radio Commission; $104,374 for the office of public buildings and parks of the national capital; $440,000 for acquisition of a site for a warehouse for the director of public buildings and parks; and $21,000 for the Smithsonian Institution.

NAVAL HOPE OUTLINED

Delegates Sail Tomorrow

Hoover Asks Nation to Back London Conferees With Great Patience

President Warns Results Will be Hard to Achieve and Not Immediate

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—President Hoover today requested the nation to support with "patience, courage and freedom from criticism" the American delegation which will sail Thursday for London to participate in the naval reduction conference.

This conference Mr. Hoover described as the "most important international conference of a great many years and probably the most important of many years to come."

This characterization was based on the President's expressed opinion that the result of the conference "must be such as to give a sense of security and satisfaction to each of the nations" and his firm belief that the result will be an agreement "by which competition in construction of naval arms is brought to an end and by which actual reduction in naval burdens of the world shall be accomplished."

LONG MEETING FORECAST

Mr. Hoover appreciates the difficulties which the conferees will face when the London meeting convenes and he emphasized the futility of expecting a hasty conclusion. He expressed the opinion that it would be a great accomplishment if the conference completed its work in three or four months.

The President expressed these views at a press conference at noon after he had conferred with the American delegates at breakfast. He read from a prepared statement and as he concluded it was evident to all that he was unusually emotional. There was a break in his voice as he read the concluding paragraph of his address.

"I am sure the whole nation bids Godspeed to the American delegation that leaves tomorrow for the London naval arms conference," he said. "The people and the governments of the five nations assembling at this meeting are sincerely desirous that agreements should be brought about by which competition and construction of naval arms is brought to an end, and by which actual reduction in naval burdens of the world shall be accomplished. The difficulties of finding a basis that will be acceptable to five different nations are great but they are not insuperable.

RESULTS WILL NOT BE QUICK

"The conclusions of the conference must be such as to give a sense of security and satisfaction to each of the nations. Permanent peace is never based on either taking advantage of or accepting a position of prejudice.

"The technology and the complexities of the problem are such that we need hope for no immediate and quick results. To complete the conference in three or four months would be in itself a great accomplishment, and we should not expect any hurried conclusions. It is the most important of international conferences of a great many years, and probably the most important for many years to come. The progress of peace for the world rests in a great measure upon the shoulders of the five delegations. There is good will toward the conference on the part of every nation. The importance and the gravity of the occasion have been recognized by the dispatch to London of the leading men of every country. They have the will to succeed.

"I hope that the people of our country will co-operate in the progress of the conference by patience, encouragement, and freedom from criticism. We go to London in a fine atmosphere of international good will, and it is the duty of our country to preserve that atmosphere so far as lies within our power."

STIMSON SPEAKS

At his breakfast conference with the American delegation the naval experts who will go to London and attaches of the State Department the President discussed the conference and this government's attitude on naval reduction in general terms. He gave no instructions. It was in-

OIL AFFAIRS FACE QUIZ

Grand Jury to Act in North

Thirty-three Companies on Coast Suspected of Trust Activities

Possible Fixing of Gasoline Prices to be Looked Into by Federal Officials

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—Asserted evasion of State gasoline-tax payments because of manipulations by employees of one California company became side-tracked today in the face of a prospective Federal grand jury investigation into the complete workings of thirty-three oil companies in California, Washington, Oregon, Arizona, Utah and New Mexico.

The impending inquiry became known when U. S. Atty. Hatfield appeared before United States District Judge St. Sure with a request that the grand jury be ordered into session next Monday and continue in session daily thereafter until further notice. Hatfield explained his request was in response to a request to him from U. S. Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, who had advised Asst. Atty.-Gen. Amen is on his way to this city to conduct an investigation into the affairs of the companies.

SECRETARIES CALLED

Judge St. Sure entered an order for the meeting of the grand jury and signed praecipes for the secretaries of the thirty-three companies, included among them being all the major companies in California, such as Standard, Shell, Associated, General, Richfield and the like.

The investigation will go into assertions of price fixing that arose during the so-called gasoline price war a year ago, agreements said to have been entered into regarding the marketing of petroleum products and other items involved in an inquiry into operations of the Sherman antitrust law. It is recalled that Asst. Atty.-Gen. Amen came to this city during the "price war" to conduct an investigation, after a similar investigation in Los Angeles.

The secretaries summoned are instructed to bring with them sheafs of records relating to the affairs of their companies.

LIST OF DOCUMENTS

A more comprehensive idea of the nature of the impending inquiry is obtained from the list of documents ordered produced by the secretaries.

These are:

Certificates of incorporation; minutes of the board of directors of each company relating to the sale of gasoline from June 1, 1928, to date; an original record dated November 4, 1928, from H. L. Weil (attorney for General Petroleum Corporation,) beginning: "I beg to advise you that the marketing rules code has been executed" and ending, "at the place from which the gasoline is taken for delivery to customer." An original letter of August, 1928, from F. R. Long, beginning: "Herewith copy of agreement of August—between the Hercules Gasoline Company and others" and ending: "If this meets with your approval your acceptance and carbon copy herewith inclosed will constitute a binding agreement between us;"

Your office carbon copy dated August 18, 1928, of agreement between your company and others and F. R. Long beginning: "This agreement made and entered into" and ending: "In witness whereof the parties here executed this agreement as of date first hereinbefore written";

OTHERS WANTED

All letters or copies of letters, telegrams or copies of telegrams passing between your officers, agents or representatives and F. R. Long and A. L. Weil and officers of your companies and all subsidiary corporations and their officers, and agents and representatives located in Washington, Oregon, Arizona, Utah, Nevada and New Mexico, during the period from June 1, 1928, to date, relating to the sale of gasoline and particularly with respect to the following:

(A.) Code of marketing rules in effect November 24, 1928.

(B.) Agreement dated August 18, 1928, between you and others and F. R. Long.

SOFT PEDAL PUT ON WAILS

British Back Arabian Rule and Order Jewish Women To Lower Voices at Prayer Wall

[Copyright, 1930, by the New York Times]

JERUSALEM, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—The first practical application occurred today of threats contained in a letter sent by the Society for the Protection of the Mosque Elaksa to Chief Rabbi Kook more than two months ago. The letter had said, among other things, that Jews would be allowed to pray at the wailing wall only in low tones and that their voices would not be allowed to be raised.

This afternoon a group of Jewish women came to the wall to pray for the life of a relative who is dangerously ill. This is in accordance with a centuries old orthodox Jew tradition.

In accordance with the custom, the women gave vent to their emotions, crying and praying loudly for the life of their relative. While so doing two Arabs approached them and ordered the women to lower their voices, saying Jews were allowed to pray at the wall only in silence. The sorrowful women, however, did not heed the words of the Arabs and continued crying. The Arabs reported this to British police on duty there, who then ordered the women to lower their voices or leave.

This is the first time in history that Jews have been interfered with in the course of prayer on the ground that their voices were raised too high. The most significant feature of this incident is the fact that the British police indorsed the Arabs' order for the wailers to lower their voices.

STANDARD OIL HEAD AGREES TO CALL PARLEY

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—K. R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil Company of California, today notified the State Board of Equalization of his acceptance of the board's invitation to call a conference of oil company executives and the board members to discuss evasions of payment of the State gasoline tax.

The conference will be held in the Standard Oil Company offices in San Francisco Thursday morning and besides the members of the Board of Equalization executives of the following oil companies will be present:

Standard, Associated, General Petroleum, Richfield, Shell, Texas and Union.

Kingsbury informed the board, according to Richard Collins, chairman, that the Standard Oil Company has no knowledge, other than press reports, that evasions of payment of taxes have been made and therefore has no estimate what such evasions amount to.

CO-OPERATION OFFERED

"If we can be of any assistance in uncovering evasions," Collins quoted Kingsbury as saying, "we will be glad to co-operate with your board in any investigation."

"With such splendid offers of co-operation from the oil companies," said Collins on behalf of the board which met here today, "and with the generous assistance of the railroads and other transportation companies, we are sure that our efforts to fix responsibility for gasoline-tax evasions will be entirely successful.

"It is to be regretted that any one would desire to evade such a fair tax as this but the public may be assured that the evasion is only temporary and that the State Treasury will not suffer by reason of these attempts.

"Oddly enough part of the public may actually benefit because the tax is generally passed on in the sale price of the gasoline. As evasions are detected the tax is charged back to the distributor who is responsible unless the motor vehicle fuel is actually exported. In such event the distributor will naturally look to the broker giving the false certificate of exportation for reimbursement.

BROKER OUT OF LUCK

"Probably the fuel was sold to the ultimate consumer at a small cut in price because of the original evasion, but the broker will now have to stand this himself because it would be impossible for him to seek reimbursement from the consumer who has benefited to that extent."

To date the board has discovered evasions totaling $113,000, said Collins, a substantial portion of which already has been collected. The balance will be placed on the 30th inst. assessment roll.

ICE BOUND ARCTIC GIVES TRAPPER HEALTH SECRET

Letter from far North tells how he gets through hard Winter full of pep

FROM the far and frozen North—from where man has to fight not only wild animals but still more savage Arctic cold, W. S. MacPhee, trapper and prospector, writes us his secret of health.

Just as he is shut in by the ice and snow of the Northern winter, so most of us are shut in by business or household cares. We cannot get enough exercise, and often we are not able to have proper diet. How simple a thing it is then to keep ourselves buoyantly happy, full of energy, seeing the bright side of life, by taking advantage of this discovery. There is a harmless method of bodily lubrication which gently, naturally, and surely sweeps away the poisons out of our bodies—regularly as clock work.

"Especially in the spring before the ice breaks up and the open water comes," writes Mr. MacPhee, "all us trappers are apt to be in pretty bad shape. In the summer of 1924 I first discovered Nujol. The idea of internal lubrication appealed to me. Soon I found that the irritable, nervous, no-pep feeling was gone. Nujol has certainly given me a different outlook on life."

Remember Nujol is not a medicine; it contains no drugs; it is as colorless and tasteless as pure water; it is not absorbed by the body; it is non-fattening. The only way for you to prove what Nujol can do for your happiness is to start in today. Buy a bottle of Nujol at any drug store and try it for a couple of weeks. It does not work over night; it is not a violent cathartic; you must not expect results until you have been taking Nujol for a little while. It costs but a few cents and it makes you feel like a million dollars. Millions of people are healthy because they are using Nujol. Why shouldn't you be happy, too? Get Nujol today!

London Conference Called Greatest of Years

Delegates Breakfast With President as Farewell

dicated that his talk to the delegation followed the lines of his address to the press of the country. Secretary of State Stimson and others who participated in the conference said the President had talked of the conference in the light of world affairs as they are developing daily; that he had talked hopefully and with an evident desire to transmit his firm belief in the outcome of the meeting to those who will represent him and the nation in London.

Secretary of State Stimson also delivered a brief address of farewell to the American people through the medium of talking pictures.

Those who participated in the breakfast conference are:

Secretary Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Adams, Senator Reed, Senator Robinson, Ambassador Morrow, Assistant Secretary of State Cotton, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Jahncke, Rear-Admiral Hilary P. Jones, Arthur Wilson Page, J. Theodore Marriner, George Rublee, Rear-Admiral William A. Moffett, Rear-Admiral H. E. Yarnell, Rear-Admiral A. J. Hepburn, Capt. W. A. Smyth, Capt. A. H. Van Keuren and Commander Harold C. Train.

UNIFORMS FORBIDDEN

Just about the time the breakfast conference ended it became known that Secretary Adams had issued an order forbidding American naval officers who will accompany the delegation to appear at the conference in uniform or to attend social affairs in London in other than civilian dress.

The order created some adverse criticism, but eventually it was said that it was based upon a request from Great Britain, which likewise had ordered that its naval officers wear civilian dress at the conference and at social affairs. Since Great Britain will be the host at the conference there was nothing for this government to do but accede to its wishes. Navy men, however, see in the incident an effort further to limit the influence of the Navy at the conference and they couple it with the decision of the statesmen not to permit the experts to be considered as a part of the delegation to the conference. These experts are formally listed as "advisers" to the diplomats. There is a distinct feeling in navy circles that naval men will be kept in the background as much as possible at London and at the same time the statesmen handling the problem feel that this should be so. They point to the failure of the Geneva conference and assert it got nowhere because it was dominated by navy officers.

MANY LEAVE TOMORROW

Secretary Stimson disposed of all current affairs at the State Department this afternoon and arranged to leave for a short visit to his home on Long Island. A majority of the official party will leave here Thursday on a special train, which will carry them to Hoboken, where they will board the George Washington, the vessel selected for the voyage to London.

Notwithstanding pessimistic views which have been constantly coming across the sea, particularly in regard to the attitude of France on naval reduction, President Hoover, who is charged by the Constitution with the conduct of our foreign relations, feels a great confidence that the meeting in London will bring about effective agreements between the nations which ultimately will reduce the burden of arms and point the way to peace. He has never lost this confidence. He has studied every angle of the problem from the viewpoint of this nation and of all the participating nations and he feels that at last the time has come when the respective statesmen can sit down with mutual trust and work out a world plan that will advance the cause of peace.

While he will be some 3000 miles away from the conference the President will be in constant touch with our representatives at St. James. After all, his is the ultimate responsibility and it may be taken for granted that he will follow as closely as modern communication will permit every detail of the discussion.

Plane to Girdle World Ordered

CLEVELAND, Jan. 7. (AP)—Around the world in ten days—the hope of Harry A. Husted, wealthy Cleveland manufacturer—was brought a step nearer reality today when he signed a contract for delivery of a four-motored Fokker airplane in which he intends to make the trip.

Husted announced he will start the flight June 15 with Hongkong, China, as his first stop. He plans to refuel in air while passing over the Hawaiian Islands. James Doyle, veteran flyer of the Western Air Express, probably will be Husted's pilot.

Forest Fees at Counties' Call

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7. (AP)—Warrants were written and ready for delivery by the State Controller's office today to California counties benefiting by distribution of $556,981.10 in funds from the United States Forestry Department.

This sum represents 25 per cent of the United States government's receipts from Federal forest lands in the State during the year ending June 30, 1929. The receipts represent moneys paid the government for timber and grazing fees.

The counties are to apply their apportioned amounts toward county roads and schools.

Plumas county receives $70,039.80, the largest sum.

MEDITERRANEAN PACT IN MAKING

Present Draft Omits Names of Specific Guarantors

France Satisfied With Plan to Bar Aggression

Treaty to Swing Navy Cut Meeting Toward Success

PARIS, Jan. 7. (AP)—Representatives of the interested governments are engaged in drafting a Mediterranean pact of nonaggression and mutual guarantees that will be submitted to the London naval conference and is expected to swing the conference on the road to success.

Spain is vitally interested in the pact and will be constantly consulted about its provisions. France and Italy are the powers chiefly interested, with Great Britain scarcely less so because of her need for keeping open the imperial trade route to the east through the Suez Canal.

SPAIN MAY BE INVITED

The importance that France and other powers ascribe to the Mediterranean pact may necessitate inviting Spain to the London conference, at least for the political aspects touching the pact.

Plans call for a pact that will be less rigid than the Locarno accord, which guarantees peace on the Rhine, and somewhat more precise and stronger than the four-power pact negotiated at the Washington naval conference to insure peace in the Pacific Ocean between the United States, Britain, Japan and France.

The Locarno accord provides that Great Britain and Italy shall become guarantors of peace on the Rhine and that in case of unprovoked aggression by either Germany or France they should go to the assistance of the nation attacked.

GUARANTORS UNNAMED

The Mediterranean pact as it now is conceived, apparently in a manner that satisfies French desires, omits the naming of specific guarantors and makes the guarantees reciprocal for all signatories.

The signers of the Pacific pact, which was created as a substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance, undertook to respect one another's rights on insular possessions and dominions in the Pacific. If difficulties arise, the pact provides for the calling of a conference.

It is understood in Paris that an effort will be made to make the Mediterranean pact more definite about the measures to be adopted if peace seems menaced in the Mediterranean.

discussion and most of the questions asked him. Mr. Carlton was opposed to both schemes, saying Mr. Young had merely entered into "the interesting field of conjecture."

At another juncture, he referred to Mr. Young as a "national hero" who, like all other returning heroes, is besought for advice on all manner of subjects. Mr. Young's advice on the subject of communications, he said, is, "in line with such advice as he might give to nursing mothers."

RATE CUT HINTED

The head of the Western Union told of negotiations he personally had carried on with the R.C.A. for the purchase of its radio system, but described this as a proposed "horse trade" in which apparently the I. T. & T. "saw more legs than we did." Mr. Young's proposal for the sale, he said, was "an artistic and superfinancial scheme whereby we would wake up and find ourselves owned by Radio."

Mr. Carlton called attention to the new telephone cable being laid across the Atlantic, which he said will be used both for telegraphy and telephony and may cause great changes in communication methods. This is only one of many new developments to follow, he said.

He intimated that in the domestic field his company is seriously considering the reduction of rates in certain schedules.

Disclosure Law Illegal, Court in Vermont Rules

MONTPELIER (Vt.) Jan. 7. (AP)—The Vermont disclosure law, under which persons found guilty of intoxication are compelled to tell where they obtained the intoxicant was declared unconstitutional by Chief Justice Powers in an opinion handed down in Vermont Supreme Court today.

The opinion was given in the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Gelsie Monti of Northfield, counsel for Harry D. Dewar of that town, who had been adjudged in contempt of court for refusal to make the required disclosure after he had been convicted of intoxication.

The plane, a utility amphibian, was making a flight over the lower bay when the accident occurred. Neither flyer attempted to use his parachute, it was stated at North Island tonight. A navy crash boat was sent to the scene at once and brought the bodies back to the naval air station.

BOTH MARRIED

Both officers were married. Lieut. Burkett, a native of Texas, came here from the hydrographic office at Washington. He entered the naval service from his native State June 14, 1916.

Ensign Clark was a naval reserve officer and came here for active duty with the aircraft squadrons from his home in Chicago.

Lieut. Burkett's body will be forwarded to the national cemetery at Arlington, Va., for interment, it was stated at the mortuary tonight.

Naval Training Ship Available for California

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—The steamship Henry County, now laid up at Norfolk, can be assigned to California for a training ship if desired by the State, Representative Welch of San Francisco was informed today by Chairman O'Connor of the Shipping Board.

Welch took the matter up with the chairman at the request of the Pacific American Steamship Association. Under an act passed in 1911 the Navy is authorized to put at the disposal of any State which appropriates sufficient funds for maintenance, a vessel to be used for training future officers for the American Merchant Marine. The Navy has no such vessel available but has asked the Shipping Board to assign one of its laid-up fleet. The last California Legislature appropriated $115,000 for the expense of maintaining the school over a period of two years.

RUSSIA SWINGS TO RED IDEALS

Communization of Nation to be Rushed

Sequestration of Farms at Once Now Ordered

Bolshevik Principles Again Given Full Rein

BY WALTER DURANTY

[Copyright, 1930, by New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—On August 9, 1921, Pravda published a decree introducing the "Nep," (new economic policy) and I cabled from Riga:

"Lenin has thrown Communism overboard."

As I learned later it was not strictly true, although the "Nep" decree did mark the end of "militant Communism," and for many years it seemed as though the soviet was swinging back toward a semicapitalistic regime.

SWINGS BACK

Today Pravda publishes a decision of the central committee of the Communist party which, in my personal opinion, marks the definite beginning of a new "militant Communism" period, to which policy Lenin—as Joseph Stalin reminded the world a few days ago—always intended to return when the occasion offered.

The decision states the success of the collective farm movement last spring and autumn demands a "radical change of tempo in rural socialization." Instead of the collectivization of 20 per cent of the peasant farms of 1933, as was originally contemplated by the five-year plan, the central committee now ordains the following step:

WORK TO BE RUSHED

(1.) The complete collectivization of such important regions as the Lower and Middle Volga and North Caucasus by next autumn, or by the spring of 1931 at the latest—that is, for next year's harvest.

(2.) Complete collectivization of the rest of the grain-producing areas by autumn, 1931, or by spring, 1932, at the latest, that is, for the harvest of 1932.

(3.) The supreme industrial council must inform the central committee not later than by the middle of March what measures it has taken to insure a supply of tools, machines and other equipment for extended collectivization.

(4.) The state assignments during the current year to the collective farm movement are increased from $135,000,000 to $250,000,000.

(5.) Henceforth there will be no place in Russia for the individual farms of the richer peasants—Kulaks. The previous policy of limiting the Kulaks is to be replaced by a policy of eliminating them by taking their land for collectives, which they are forbidden to join.

PRIVATE BUSINESS KILLED

If further proof of the deep-seated character of this political change is required it is to be seen in the present determined suppression of all save the smallest forms of private business in urban centers by taxation and other legal methods.

Finally, as I write, Moscow echoes to the songs and cheers of tens of thousands of young Communists and workers demonstrating against Christmas observance. Here again it is done legally—believers are not physically molested and churches are closed only when the congregations can not maintain them or pay the increasingly heavy taxes. Therefore I insist that today marks a change no less sweeping and perhaps far more permanent and important than that of August 9, 1921.

COALITION BARS SILK DUTY RISE

Democrats Again Team With Western Republicans

Rayon Schedule Likely to be Finished Today

Sugar Fight Then Will Bob Up in Tariff Fray

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—The coalition of Democrats and western Republicans reformed their lines in the Senate today, the first time in the anniversary of the initiation of the tariff controversy, and defeated an attempt to increase from 55 to 60 per cent the duty on woven silk goods. This left the rates as in the existing law and in the House bill.

At the suggestion of Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee the Senate rejected the only other pending committee amendment to the silk schedule—which would have classified silk hose made in part of rayon under higher rates in the rayon schedule.

SUGAR FIGHT NEAR

With that, it moved on to the rayon duty section and adopted slight increases in rates on rayon filaments and yarns.

Smoot said he hopes to dispose of the rayon schedule tomorrow and then call up the disputed sugar section, which the pending bill increases but not to the extent of the House measure.

The vote against increasing the duty on woven silk fabrics, or broad silks that enter into the manufacture of all classes of silk goods, including women's dresses, was 40 to 32. The roll call was demanded by Senator Blaine, a Wisconsin Republican independent, an opponent of the proposed rise, after a viva voce vote had approved the increase.

ONE DEMOCRAT FOR IT

Only one Democrat—Broussard of Louisiana—supported the higher rate, along with thirty-one Republicans. Thirteen Republicans, including Jones of Washington, the assistant Republican leader, joined twenty-seven Democrats in opposition.

Blaine made the principal assault on the duty. He said Horace B. Cheney, a silk manufacturer of South Manchester, Ct., had the "audacity" to ask the increase on behalf of the Silk Association of America when as a matter of fact Cheney "spoke for himself alone."

SUGAR TARIFF SECRETS TOLD

"Confidential" Memoranda Mention Hoover

Sliding Scale Angle Comes to Light in Inquiry

Attempt to Interest Borah in Bounty Revealed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—New "confidential" memoranda of the sugar interests mentioning President Hoover in connection with activities in the sugar tariff controversy before Congress were read to the Senate Lobby Committee today as it resumed its inquiry.

A "highly confidential" memorandum sent in a letter to Junior Owens, secretary of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages, from William H. Baldwin of New York, publicity man for the organization, said that R. L. Purdon, sugar expert of the Department of Commerce, had been "asked by the White House" and Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee to work out a sliding scale for sugar duties.

Baldwin, who said the letter must have been "signed while I was out of the office or something like that," testified that he knew nothing about the matter and could not give the source of the information.

SLIDING-SCALE REPORT

However, in the same letter was a "report on sliding scale" which said there had been no request "directly from the White House for a sliding scale." The sliding-scale proposal was rejected by the Senate Finance Committee. The report added:

"Mr. Hoover would like a plan worked out, if possible, so that if the C. and F. price in New York got too high the duty would not raise it. A request for a so-called workable sliding scale has been made by Senator Smoot. Mr. Hoover has worked out no sliding scale."

Previously the committee had read a letter from Morris Murmey, connected with Baldwin, to H. H. Pike, Jr., New York sugar broker, which said Murmey was "inclosing several copies of a highly confidential memorandum regarding sliding scales." The letter continued:

"The authority for the information on the inclosed memorandum entitled 'Report on Sliding Scale' is Mr. Thompson, sugar expert, United States Tariff Commission."

It was not developed whether the sliding-scale report was the same as the one sent by Baldwin to Owens and the committee said it will try to clear up the apparent conflict in the reports later. Purdon, Pike and Murmey have been summoned and the committee announced Pike will testify tomorrow.

BORAH MENTIONED

Testimony also was given that Murmey had conferred with Charles Michaelson, publicity director for the Democratic National Committee, in regard to sugar publicity and that attempts had been made to interest Senator Borah of Idaho in a sugar bounty.

Baldwin was questioned sharply in regard to the statement that tariff information had been received from Thompson. He said he supposed Murmey had been in touch with Thompson and had received the information.

"And got the highly confidential memorandum from an expert of the Tariff Commission?" Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, inquired.

"It probably would be confidential at the time," Baldwin replied.

"Well, is your firm in a situation to get private and confidential information from the Tariff Commission?"

"Not as a rule. I don't know—"

"Was there a variation from the rule in this instance?" interrupted Walsh.

"I didn't get that information. You had better ask Mr. Murmey about that because I can't give you any information about it."

"You appreciate, I suppose," Walsh said, "that puts you and Mr Thompson in a somewhat embarrassing situation."

"It does," replied Baldwin. "I don't know anything about the thing at all."

BORAH ANGLE

Efforts to interest Senator Borah in a plan for a sugar bounty for domestic growers were described in a communication from Baldwin to Pike.

The report sent to Pike October 31, 1929, said, "One of the first moves was to follow through steps already started to interest Senator Borah in the bounty scheme."

Asked if the plan had been successful Baldwin said Borah only recently issued a statement that he was working on a plan for a sugar bounty.

Nationalists in Honan Province Report Victory

SHANGHAI, Jan. 7. (AP)—Nationalist government military headquarters at Nanking said today that Nationalist troops in Honan Province had scored a crushing victory over rebel forces under Gen. Tang Seng-chi.

Gen. Tang was associated in his rebellion with Gen. Shih Yu-san, who led the Pukow division. The Nanking government recently announced a series of "rewards" had been offered for soldiers and officers of Tang's forces joining the Nationalist armies.

The announcement today said 10,000 of the rebel troops had been captured by the Nationalist fighters, while Gen. Tang, in disguise, was seeking to flee to Japan for safety.

Previously he had been chairman of the surgical section of the Philadelphia County Medical Society and president of the Medical Legal Society.

LIQUOR ECHOES STIR CONGRESS

La Guardia and Beedy Lock Horns in House

New Yorker Takes Shots at Borah's Home State

Senator Blease Says Crime Onus on Republicans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—The Congressional dispute over prohibition which was presaged by quarrels among the drys during the holidays over the enforcement situation materialized today in a scathing House debate.

Reference by Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York, a wet, to the shooting of three men by Coast Guardsmen off the New England coast as a "bloody murder" brought a vigorous reply from Representative Beedy, Republican, Maine, a dry. Beedy insisted La Guardia had not given the facts and upheld the Coast Guard.

REPUBLICANS BLAMED

Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, reopened the dry controversy in the Senate with the charge that the nation's capital was "reeking with vice and corruption." He said the responsibility for enforcing the prohibition law rested upon President Hoover and the Republican party in Congress.

La Guardia, in the first speech on prohibition since Congress returned from the Christmas holidays, said the "law is not being enforced for the simple reason that it cannot be enforced."

Deploring what he called the condition of the Coast Guard, which ten years ago, he said, was one of the finest branches of the government service, the New Yorker asserted that "what prohibition has done to the Coast Guard it will do to the Department of Justice within a very short time after that department is cursed with the duty of prohibition enforcement."

BLACK DUCK AGAIN

On the same day that the Black Duck was captured, he charged, members of the Coast Guard "got crazy drunk at New London, Ct."

Beedy said he understood that ordinary seamen who were nevertheless "red-blooded American boys stood for hours on that cold December night unloading this liquor," and that "some of the gobs, to relieve themselves from the cold and suffering, opened a bottle and drank something out of it." He added that two of the boys took some of the liquor with them and got into trouble on shore.

Beedy denied reports that officers in the Coast Guard had stolen liquor and said they had been slandered. He said the Coast Guard had broken up a string of ships which had formed a rum ring and now the vessels were scattered along 10,000 miles of coast.

Attacking the Coast Guard for what he called "rushing into print" to justify the recent killing of the three men on the Black Duck, La Guardia said the record "was bare of facts showing that the Black Duck had refused to heave to or was in actual flight."

COAST GUARD DEFENDED

Representative Beedy said it would be easier for the Coast Guard to say, "We did not see those ships." He contended that attempts were being made to break down the morale of the Coast Guard and added that, "No doubt the rum runners think that before long these boys will be sick of being accused as murderers and will suspend their vigilance."

"What will you do?" Beedy asked his colleagues. "Admiral Billard, commandant of the Coast Guard, says, 'I can send a telegram to those boys tomorrow telling them not to fire on a motor boat under any circumstances.' This is the crux of the enforcement problem. What would you have them do?"

This statement was applauded by members on both the Democratic and Republican sides of the House.

"I believe the prohibition officials and the Coast Guard of this country will be permitted to make an honest and conscientious attempt to enforce prohibition," Beedy added.

SHOT AT BORAH

La Guardia also attacked Senator Borah of Idaho and asserted there are more saloons per capita in Idaho than in Philadelphia.

The New Yorker said Senator Borah "takes it upon himself to criticise enforcement in other States when he might as well begin in Idaho." He then gave figures to support his assertion that Idaho compared unfavorably with States and cities of the East in law observance.

"There are more bootleggers per capita in the State of Idaho than there are in the city of Chicago," he added. "Liquor is better in the State of Idaho than in any of the large cities, and cheaper."

HOOVER COMMISSION MUM ON MEETING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—Meeting for the first time since the present prohibition controversy began here, the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission held a protracted session today. The subject of discussion was not revealed.

BOY WITH AX ATTACKS STREET-CAR OPERATOR

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 7. (AP)—Attacked by a boy with an ax, Fred Shinkle, 31 years of age, operator of a one-man street car, received two scalp wounds before fighting off his assailant while the car ran wild over a South Side line late last night. The youth, believed to have intended robbery, smashed a glass and escaped from the rear platform. Shinkle said his assailant was between 15 and 17.

WHITE FISHERIES BILL REPORTED TO HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—The White fisheries bill to provide for a five-year construction and maintenance program for the United States Bureau of Fisheries at a cost of $4,705,000 was formally reported to the House today by the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee.

JINX PURSUES NEW MAYOR

Indiana Official's Bad Luck Begins Just as He Takes Oath of Office

LAFAYETTE (Ind.) Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—When John B. Hudson, Mayor of Lafayette, entered on his term of office he had a run of bad luck to make his inaugural memorable. As he was taking the oath yesterday, his grandmother, who reared him, died unexpectedly.

An hour later his daughter Jane was taken ill with chicken pox, and the new health officer's first job was to quarantine the Mayor's home. Last night while he was presiding at a Council meeting his automobile was stolen.

TAX PARING ADVOCATED BY MELLON

Secretary in Interview Says Debt Payment Rapid and People Should Benefit

PRINCETON (N. J.) Jan. 7.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon believes that the Treasury surplus of approximately $160,000,000 gained under the present income-tax schedule should be used for tax reduction. After outlining the new income-tax schedules in an interview published in the Daily Princetonian, undergraduate publication of Princeton University, Secretary Mellon says:

"The Treasury surplus of approximately $160,000,000 gained under the present income-tax schedule should not be applied to national debt reduction. Debt reduction and tax reduction should, of course, go hand in hand. This has been the historic policy of the government since the very early days. No other part of our financial policy has been more steadfastly maintained than that providing for the prompt payment of the public debt.

"At its peak in 1919, the war debt amounted to $26,594,000,000. In the ten years ending August 31, 1929, it had been reduced to $16,805,000,000 or an average of nearly $1,000,000,000 a year for this period. During the last year the debt was reduced by $673,000,000. For the present fiscal year, debt retirements will amount to $630,365,000. For the fiscal year 1931 debt retirements should aggregate not less than $635,000,000.

"The Treasury believes that, with debt reduction proceeding at a reasonably rapid pace, the present surplus of revenues over receipts should be used for tax reduction, thus benefitting the persons directly shouldering the burden of taxation."

BORDER PATROL PLANS FAVORED

Canada Agreeable to Latest Liquor Barrier

Ports of Entry Quadrupled, Deadline Between

Present Law Allows Persons to Cross Anywhere

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—The Treasury Department has submitted to the Canadian government its detailed program for improving prohibition enforcement along the border and, although official advices are still lacking, has been informed that the plan is regarded favorably at Ottawa.

Five hundred new ports of entry would be established under the proposed system, with the provision that traffic from Canada into the United States must cross the border at these places and the 100 ports of entry already designated. This, with a consolidated and increased border patrol to prevent smuggling between these points, makes up the program.

Before the scheme can be made effective an agreement must be reached with Canada as to the location of the ports of entry, in order that Canadian and American stations may be located at the same points. Officials here were greatly gratified by indications of Canadian approval.

The plan involves a marked departure from the present system of supervising border traffic. Under existing regulations persons may enter the United States from Canada at any point along the border, with the restriction that officials of the nearest port of entry be advised at once if any merchandise is brought into the country or the crossing is made in a vehicle.

To provide a rigid patrol of the border between ports of entry, existing border agencies—the Coast Guard, immigration, narcotic, and customs patrols—are to be consolidated under one head and the number of agents increased. At present there are almost 2000 agents on the border, representing the four services.

The Treasury received reports that Canadian exports of alcoholic beverages to the United States in November amounted to 295,486 gallons, compared with 530,902 gallons for the same month in 1928.

Police and Reds Clash in Berlin

The police used their clubs, while stones and coal were hurled from windows bordering the scene of the crash. Two policemen were injured and finally the police fired a number of pistol shots in the air.

Fifty-two Communists were taken to police headquarters, where forty-three were released. The others were held.

OBSTACLES MET IN REPARATIONS

Six-Power Hague Session at Standstill

Weighty Problems Debated Without Results

All Agree on No Preference to United States

THE HAGUE (Netherlands) Jan. 7. (AP)—The big six powers at the second Hague reparations conference came to a standstill today, when they tried to get the remaining chief questions between Germany and her reparations creditors cleared up.

The question of sanctions, or what action is to be taken in the event Germany should default, which is the biggest thorn, was left to one side, while the delegates discussed the dates of the payment of instalments. This involves the question of whether instalments are to be paid on the fifteenth or the end of the month. The question of a moratorium, how it is to be prepared and how accumulated payments are to be made, the question of liquidation of the past, compromising settlement of the accounts for ceded public and sequestrated private property, the transformation of negative pledges of railroad revenues under the Dawes plan into positive pledges under the Young plan and German deposits in the bank for international settlements were considered.

SLIGHT PROGRESS

Little or no progress was made on any of these problems. Three of them, tne dates for payments, the transformation pledges and the moratorium, were reserved for reference to the Reich Cabinet and to the experts.

The creditors agreed with the Germans that there should be no special privileges handed to the United States in reparations payments over the other creditors. This and adoption of the text of the preamble of the protocol for acceptance of the Young plan are about the only things on which the conference has agreed, so far apart are the creditor nations and the Germans at this stage.

It was decided that it is necessary to refer some of the questions to the Reich government, others going back to the experts and jurists. In order to give time for these formalities, the big six powers will not meet tomorrow.

During the day S. Parker Gilbert, agent-general for reparations, who is now here, met with the big powers and discussed the manner in which instalments on reparations had been paid under the Dawes plan.

Reports that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the German Reichsbank, had refused to come to The Hague when requested, were denied in advices from Berlin, which said that Dr. Schacht is coming here the 12th inst.

BULGARIA PROBLEM

Bulgaria, following Austria in consideration of the reparations problems of the smaller powers, today informed the committee dealing with non-German reparations that she could not possibly meet the demands of her creditors.

M. Douroff, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, and M. Moloff, Minister of Finances, rejected a compromise offer made by the committee thi safternoon to settle for 15,000,000 marks annually. The Bulgarian delegates set forth the financial difficulties of their country and insisted that unless a moratorium were granted the country could not possibly increase her present payments of between 10,000,000 and 11,000,000 marks.

M. Loucheur, chairman of the committee, declared the Bulgarian offer disappointing but that, since it is a real and tangible proposal, it must be taken into consideration. Another subcommittee will consider the Bulgarian offer tomorrow morning and the full committee will meet the Bulgarians in the afternoon. This throws the hearing of the Hungarians to Thursday, putting the conference time schedule behind two days.

Salt Maker's Home Burns

SAN JOSE, Jan. 7. (AP)—Fire early today destroyed the home of St. John Whitney, president of California Leslie Salt Company, in the foothills residential district near here, and forced Mrs. Whitney and her 6-year-old son, Jack, to leap to safety from a second-story window. They were alone.

Mrs. Whitney, awakened at 1 a.m. by the flames bursting through the kitchen roof, found her escape by the stairs blocked by flames. Bundling her son in a blanket, she dropped him to the ground and then herself leaped, sustaining bruises to one leg.

The loss was estimated at $40,000.

METHODISTS LAUNCH $10,000,000 DRIVE

CHICAGO, Jan. 7. (AP)—Leaders of the Methodist Episcopal church today launched their $10,000,000 world service campaign for home and foreign mission work. The total has been allotted among the twenty-one districts o fthe church proportionately. Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, chairman of the world service committee, is among those attending the meeting.

PRISON REVOLT STUDY OPENED

Enforcement Commission Seeking Causes

Crowding and Restrictions Given Blame

Failure to Reform Also Under Discussion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—To determine why prison inmates rebel, with resulting riotous outbreaks such as those of recent months, the Hoover law-enforcement commission has launched an intensive survey and called to its assistance a large group of widely-known penologists.

A statement from the commission, published today, told of the first meeting of this gathering and of a free discussion of the problem which advanced overcrowding, clothing, food and severity of restrictions as basic factors in prison dissatisfaction.

REFORM DISCUSSED

The meeting also brought into prominence the question of why prisons do not reform or cure and it was indicated that an answer would be sought by obtaining extensive information on criminals who are returned to the prisons after serving one or more terms.

The first meeting was held under the direction of Judge Mackintosh, chairman of the subcommittee on penal institutions. Similar gatherings will take place from time to time, with an advisory committee, headed by Dr. Hastings H. Hart of the Russell Sage Foundation, co-operating between meetings.

Among those who attended the session are Sanford Bates, superintendent of Federal prisons; Warden Lawes of Sing Sing, Oscar Lee, warden of the Wisconsin State prison; William J. Ellis, commissioner of institutions and agencies of New Jersey, and many others.

OTHERS ASKED TO SERVE

The advisory committee is made up of Associate Justice Joseph M. Proskauer of the Appellate division of the New York Supreme Court, Dr. Herman J. Adler, State Criminologist of Illinois, and Herbert C. Parsons, Massachusetts State Commissioner of Probation.

Several others have been asked to serve, including Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid of the University of Southern California, Charles Reed, former warden at Walla Walla, Wash., and Stillwater, Minn., and James Johnson of the California Crime Commission.

BAY CITY TO START SPAN SITE TESTS

Contract Let for Borings in Bay for Picking Best Foundation Structure

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7. (AP)—B. B. Meek, director of the State Department of Public Works, announced today he has awarded a $26,829.30 contract to the Duncanson-Harrelson Company of San Francisco for making borings in San Francisco Bay between that city and Alameda county upon sites under consideration for the proposed transbay bridge. Work is to begin at once, Meek said, and will be completed within two months unless weather conditions interfere.

The work is to be done for the purpose of obtaining information to present the joint San Francisco Bay Bridge Commission of nine members, five selected by President Hoover and four by Gov. Young.

The borings are to determine the practicability of various sites under consideration by the commission and will give data upon which estimates of cost can be based. The borings are financed by a contribution from the county of San Francisco.

The personnel of the commission to which the report will be made includes the following: Mark L. Requa, chairman; Rear-Admirals W. H. Standley and L. E. Gregory of Washington, D. C., representing the Navy; Col. George B. Pillsbury, Philadelphia and Maj. Edmund L. Daley, Washington, representing the Army. These men were appointed by President Hoover. Gov. Young named the following men to represent the State and local interests: George T. Cameron, San Francisco; State Senator Arthur H. Breed, Oakland; Charles D. Marx, Stanford University, and C. H. Purcell, of the State Engineer's office in Sacramento.

TCHITCHERIN SLATED FOR PARIS POST

Soviet Expected to Send Shelved Commissar There As Its Ambassador

PARIS, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—Georges Tchitcherin about definitely shelved as Commissar of Foreign Affairs at Moscow, will be sent to Paris as Soviet Ambassador to France, it is reported here by usually well informed Russian circles.

It is understood that Tchitcherin has been recalled and will leave Weisbaden, where a prolonged cure has greatly benefited his health, to discuss his next move with Dictator Joseph Stalin. The Red dictator's dislike for Tchitcherin is well known. An aristocrat by birth and character, Tchitcherin has been under suspicion by members of the Stalin crowd. They never have believed in his sincerity regarding Bolshevism. This, added to the fact that he worked so well with the Trotsky faction, has been the cause of his eclipse at the Foreign Office.

NOBLES TO SELL ART TREASURES

Heavy Levies on Estates Drain Pocketbooks

LONDON, Jan. 7. (AP)—Increasing taxation and heavy death and succession duties have obliged many prominent members of the British nobility to throw on the market art treasures that have been in their families for decades and even centuries.

The Duke of Richmond and Gordon announced today that he had decided to sell a number of pictures and books from Goodwood House, his sumptuous English estate, and from Gordon Castle, his seat in Scotland.

"Much as I regret having to do this, there is no other course open if I wish to continue to live at Goodwood and employ those connected with the estate," the Duke said.

This news closely followed reports that the Earl of Durham was about to part with Sir Thomas Lawrence's famous painting, "The Red Boy" to an American collector for approximately $1,000,000.

The sale was said to have been forced on the Earl of Durham in order to pay the enormous death duties demanded for the estate owing to the deaths of the third and fourth earls.

BYRD'S TESTING KITES VANISH

And No One in Antarctic Camp Mourns Loss

Flying Them in Sub-Zero Weather Hard Job

Tom Sawyer Stunt Fails to Get Volunteers

[Copyright, 1930, by the Los Angeles Times, the New York Times and St. Louis Post-Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.]

BY RUSSELL OWEN

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—Bill Haines has lost his kites and doesn't know whether to be glad or sorry. Two of them, the most important two, have gone voyaging southward on their own and are somewhere between here and the pole. Those kites have been a source of vexation for Bill and Harry Harrison, his fellow-meteorologist, and a source of humor to the others in camp for many weeks. When Bill started sending them up and laboriously hauling them down, he said:

"Im going to be like Tom Sawyer painting the fence. You fellows are going to think that's so much fun you'll all be fighting to fly kites."

METEOROGRAPH CARRIED

But it didn't work out that way and kite flying has been the hardest form of labor yet found in the Antarctic. It even beat shoveling snow. Just the same, thirty-five kite flights have been made and some interesting data collected, and in addition six records have been made on airplane flights. The kites carry a meteorograph which registers altitude, temperature and humidity and shows the changes in the upper area, information of great value to a meteorologist. That is why Bill and Harry, as meteorologists, are sorry their kites are gone, but as weary winders of a kite reel they may cherish a secret thankfulness. Nobody dares to ask them.

The first time the kites were hauled in was in a twenty-mile wind at 42 deg. below zero. When it was over Harry came into the house, tore off his gloves and almost embraced the stove.

"Is it safe to talk to you?" someone asked.

"Hardly," he said, and that was all.

BILL MYSTERIOUS

As may be assumed from the temperature of that flight it was made several weeks ago. Bill, or "Cyclone," as he is known down here, had been mysterious about his kites for some time. Harrison had built a snow hut well away from the radio towers where the big box kites were assembled and an outboard motor-boat motor had been fitted with gears so that it might be used to pull the kites down.

"When are you going to fly those kites?" was everyone's inquiry.

Bill smiled, but like Brer Rabbit he wasn't saying anything.

One evening the kites appeared high up over the barrier in a stiff breeze. There they were. They flew, and they flew, high and straight in a line extending up into the sky, the wire taut under the pull of the wind. After a few hours Bill decided to take them down, and then the fun began. It has been mentioned that it was cold and that there was a vicious wind blowing. Wind at 40 to 45 deg. below zero goes through anything. The wind was cold and the motor wouldn't start. Bill got a blow torch to heat it up. Still it wouldn't start. Others came along full of advice, but not a sputter out of the congealed motor. Harrison cranked and cranked and cranked. So did others till their arms and backs ached. Not a cough from the motor. More men went out and offered advice until Bill roared with range. Hands got frostbitten, cheeks were frozen and thawed again. Once the starting cord slapped back against a man's face and in an instant it froze in a thin white mark which began to spread. So Bill gave it up for the night.

FLY ALL NIGHT

"I thought we were going to put something over on you scoffers," he grumbled coming in. "But I guess I didn't."

"Better put a red light on them, Bill," he was advised. "They are an obstruction to navigation."

"Huh," was all that Bill said, and crawled wearily into bed. Harrison was beyond words.

During the night the wind died down a little and we thought the kites would be lying on the barrier. Not so.

The kites were still up, flying merrily, almost overhead, for evidently the wind aloft was still strong. Arnold Clark came dancing into the mess hall in mock excitement.

"Kites, kites," he yelled pointing to the roof. "Up, up."

A withering look from Bill.

After breakfast, meteorologists, mechanics, pilots and just plain spectators gathered in the freezing wind to watch the kites come in. The blow torch was again put in action and after a time the carburetor caught fire and blazed merrily. "Let it burn," said June, "that probably will do the trick." It did. The motor heated up enough after the gas had burned out of the carbureter so that it finally started and in came the kites, although the motor stopped now and then just to make matters more interesting. But Bill was kidded about that kite flight for a week and the bulletin board was decorated with announcements of his long-distance flight made by refueling while in the air.

PULLED IN BY HAND

A shelter of canvas was built before the next flight and it helped a lot. But the improvised bearing surfaces used with the motor gave way after three runs and since then the kites have been hauled by hand. The pull on the wire has averaged 100 pounds and at times has run up to 200 pounds. A man could not turn the crank more than two minutes at a time before petering out.

"I never saw anything like how busy all you fellows get when there's a kite coming down," said Bill. "I can't find anyone anywhere."

"I got so I sneak out the back way and wriggle home like an Indian," said one of Bill's victims. But he managed to get a squad together each time and Clark, who has been helping Taffy Davies on his magnetic work, became permanently attached to the kite reel also and has developed muscles he did not know he had.

The wind is fickle here and not the least interesting thing about the kite flights was wondering when they would come down and where. The flights have generally been made on cloudy days also and the kites and wire became coated with rime until the weight of ice forced them down.

WEARY PURSUIT

They have come down in all directions and at distances up to three miles from camp. Then Harrison or Bill Haines have had to enlist helpers and go out after them. Stumbling through soft snow over the barrier to the east or southeast or over the pressure ice on the bay they have lugged the clumsy contrivances back, cussing every step of the way. Sometimes they could use dog teams but not always. One day Bill disappeared for hours and was found down the bay wearily dragging himself home with a kite and only too glad to get a dog team.

The day they broke loose they were flying to the south. They had been reeled in until one kite had been reached and taken off the wire. A glove caught under the wire and kinked it, the wire broke and two kites were sailing into the south. For days Harrison searched for them, traveling twelve or fifteen miles at a time on skis, well beyond Framheim and even up to the barrier at the southern end of the bay. But not a sign of them could he find and as a blizzard has been blowing for several days and snow is drifting it is unlikely that the kites will be seen again. The meteorologists' chief regret is that their instruments vanished also. They have another two or three kites but they are for use in heavy winds. They feel that they have obtained some good records, however, but their opinion of kite flying in the Antarctic is not fit to print and Bill long ago decided that Tom Sawyer was a genius.

HE SAYS HEAVYWEIGHT WIFE SCARED HIM AWAY

HOUSTON (Tex.) Jan. 7. (AP)—J. P. Tobias, whose wife outweighs him by 101 pounds, was convicted today of wife desertion, although he had testified that occasionally she thrashed him soundly. He was given a suspended sentence.

Mrs. Tobias said her husband quit her many months ago and refused to support her and her son, although the court had ordered him to pay them $10 a week.

Tobias insisted he didn't desert her, but that she snapped a pistol at him and he left to keep from getting hurt. He testified that he habitually slept with a pistol under his pillow to match the butcher knife his wife kept under hers.

The weights were given in the testimony as Tobias, 130; Mrs. Tobias, 231.

Coast-to-Coast Highway Group Forming Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—Representative Carter, Republican, California, proposed in a resolution today the creation of a transcontinental-highway commission, to be composed of the Secretaries of Agriculture, War, Commerce and Treasury and the Postmaster-General, to study the most desirable route over which to establish three hard-surfaced transcontinental highways.

The commmission would report to Congress within one year its opinion as to the best route for the three highways, one across the central portion of the United States, one across the southern portion and the third across a northern portion. The resolution would authorize appropriation of $100,000 to carry out the investigation.

Mexican Slays Border Official

CORPUS CHRISTI (Tex.) Jan. 7. (AP)—William D. McCalib of Laredo, border patrol inspector stationed at Alice, was shot and killed today by an unidentified Mexican, who was shot and critically wounded by other officers.

The shooting occurred in front of a cafe where McCalib and Buck West, senior patrol officer, stopped for breakfast after arresting the Mexican for illegally entering the United States.

The Mexican, although wounded, was arrested.

FAST RECOVERY PROMISED TAFT

Chief Justice Cheerful as He Enters Hospital

Improvement in His Health Sure Within Week

Jurist to Divorce Himself Entirely from Work

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—William Howard Taft, formerly the President and now the Chief Justice of the United States, slept tonight on a hospital bed happy in the assurance of physicians that the ailment from which he is suffering would respond to treatment within a week.

Recurring bladder trouble necessitated his entrance into the hospital. For several years the condition has disturbed him. After his present stay at Garfield Hospital, Mr. Taft plans to go to Asheville, N. C., for several weeks of rest.

The Chief Justice was in a cheerful mood today, his decision to drop the exacting court work for a time having restored his customary chuckle. He transacted business for several hours with his secretary and law clerk before going to the hospital, the last he will do for several weeks. He then walked to his automobile for the ride to the hospital with Mrs. Taft. Arriving there he made cheerful inquiry for his room.

On the advice of his physicians, the Chief Justice will completely divorce himself from all work for several weeks. He took with him to the hospital a collection of books and will receive others from time to time, but will give no attention whatever to his correspondence or judicial duties.

While he is in the South resting, the same rule prohibiting work of any kind will be observed. Although the Chief Justice will be permitted to read books of his own selection, he will be required to take a complete rest. Mrs. Taft will not accompany him South.

Violators would be liable to imprisonment of not less than one and not more than ten years.

Supreme Court Arguments in Water Fight Heard

City's Views on Enjoining of Wells Presented

Decision Not to be Given Before Ten Days

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—Efforts of Owens Valley ranchers to prevent the city of Los Angeles from drilling wells and tapping the underground water supply of the Tinemaha district of Inyo county will be a matter for the State Supreme Court to rule upon in another ten days. The court today heard arguments, allotted the city five days in which to file briefs and another five days for the ranchers to reply. The matter then will be taken under submission, Chief Justice Waste announced.

The specific action involved is a writ of supersedeas sought by the city to prevent enforcement of a permanent injunction which the ranchers obtained in Superior Court, the injunction restraining the city from drilling more wells or diverting the water supply.

ARGUMENT OFFERED

Assemblyman Walter Little of Santa Monica and Attorney Alfred D. Bartlett, representing seventeen ranchers in an action led by Christiana and G. T. Edwards, told the court the city has filed notice of an appeal in the Superior Court injunction matter and has gone ahead with the operation of its wells in defiance of the injunction. That action, they contended, constitutes contempt of court but they have not pushed the asserted contempt proceedings because they felt sure the merits of the case would be upheld in the Appeal Court.

Because the cases have the status of appeal pending Little and Bartlett asserted the Supreme Court does not have jurisdiction in the cases in any form until such time as the appeal has been acted upon. Numerous authorities in assertedly parallel cases were cited for the court's consideration and contention made no such writ a, that sought by the city of Los Angeles ever has been granted by the Supreme Court and cannot be granted in the premises.

CITY'S ARGUMENTS

Evidence of the importance attaching to the cases was given in the fact the entire court sat enbanc for the hearing of arguments. The final arguments made were on behalf of four ranchers, Karl P. Keough, P. W. Smith, Roy Journigan and W. R. McCarthy, and arguments consumed all but the final hour of an all-day session.

Evidence was submitted showing 263 wells in the district, forty-one of which are not affected. Diversion of the water from the others, the ranchers declare, deprives them of proper irrigation facilities for crops, sufficient water supply for stock, and renders their lands worthless.

Appearing for the city of Los Angeles were Chief Counsel W. B. Matthews of the Department of Water and power and Attorneys Clarence Hill and George T. Warren.

In asking the court to grant the writ of supersedeas, which would set aside the operation of the ranchers' injunction, they asserted the issuance of the injunction was and is illegal because the water being obtained from the wells is being dedicated to the public service.

Attorneys for the ranchers countered with the declaration the water was not being dedicated to the public service at the time the ranchers filed the damage claims out of which the seventeen months of subsequent litigation arose.

Revolutionary Mexican Party Bans Seventeen

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 7. (AP)—Nine Senators and eight Deputies, members of the permanent Congressional commission, which acts in the place of Congress during its recess, were expelled today from the National Revolutionary party by action of the executive committee.

Charges of disloyalty and undiscipline were made against the seventeen men. All were members of the so-called white group on the commission.

The charges grew out of a surprise meeting of the commission yesterday afternoon at which the white group, with a quorum present, proceeded to make several important changes in Congressional posts.

Preliminary plans provide for simultaneous parades in many cities and the depicting of episodes attributed to the enforcement of the dry laws.

THE SON OF TARZAN

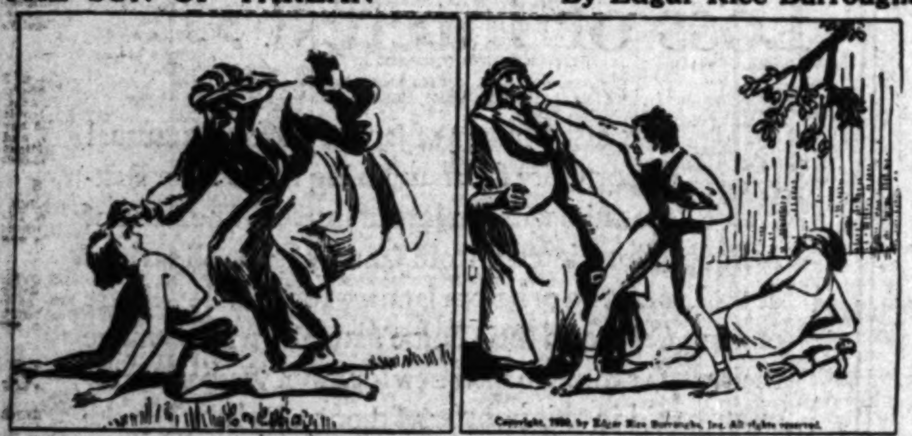
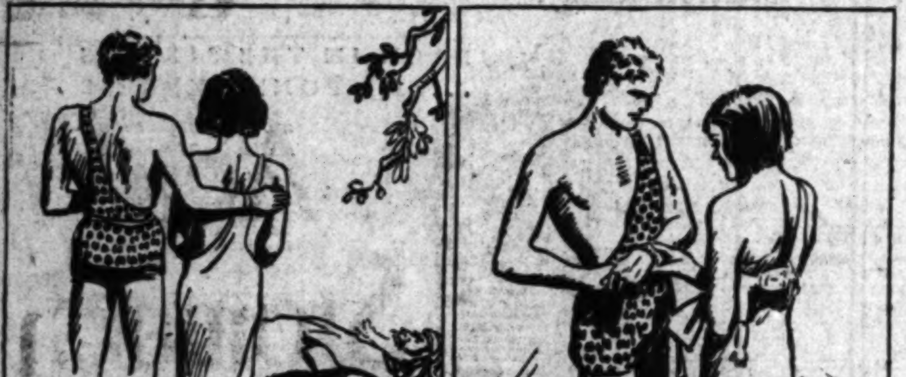
By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Korak sighed, thinking of his own father and mother in far-away London, as he waited for the glad reunion of father and daughter. The Arab was striding softly toward the girl; now he stood directly behind her. With a start the child glanced quickly up. Korak, amazed, saw her great, dark eyes fill with terror, saw her try to crawl away, and saw the Arab's cruel lips curl in a grim smile as he kicked and struck her brutally.

Above them, in the tree, a beast crouched where a moment before there had been a boy—a beast with dilated nostrils and bared fang—a beast that trembled with rage. The Sheik was stooping again to reach for the girl when the Killer dropped to the ground at his side. Astonished by this sudden apparition out of the clear air, he took a backward step. Korak's clenched fist, backed by terrific power, landed full on his face.



Bleeding and senseless the Sheik sank to the earth. Korak turned to the girl, standing wide-eyed and frightened. In an involuntary gesture of protection the Killer threw an arm about her shoulders and waited for the Sheik to regain consciousness. He spoke to her in English, then in the ape's language. She did not answer. Instead she made some motions. Korak understood her. She meant the Sheik would kill her for this.

Then she came to his side again and stood trembling. She did not fear him. Had he not saved her from a terrific beating? Never, in her memory, had another so befriended her. She looked into his face. It was a boyish, handsome face, nut-brown like her own. She admired the spotted leopard skin that circled his lithe body from one shoulder to his knees; envied him the metal ornaments he wore. And Korak looked at the girl!

Luke Dillon Spent Most of Life Fighting for Cause

Fourteen Years Served in Prison for Canal Blast

Philadelphian Never in Land for Which He Battled

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7. (AP)—Luke Dillon, 80 years of age, long a resident of Philadelphia, but who spent much of his life in advancing the cause of a free Ireland, died at his home here today surrounded by members of his family. He had been ill for about six weeks. Even in his last illness he talked of the cause that led him to prison, and only last Sunday he received a visit from Eamonn De Valera, former head of the Irish Republic.

Although he is said never to have set foot in Ireland, he was extremely active in this country in the Irish cause. He was born in Leeds, Eng., of Irish parents and was brought to this country when a child.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mary Dillon, four sons, Joseph, William, Luke and Anthony, and a daughter, Mary.

One of the leading incidents in the life of Dillon was the dynamiting of the Welland Canal in Canada in 1900 to prevent the shipment of supplies to the British army that was fighting the Boers in South Africa. For this he and two companions were arrested in Canada and sent to prison for life. Dillon served fourteen years and in 1914 was released and returned to his home in Philadelphia.

He renewed his efforts in behalf of Irish freedom and became prominent in the affairs of the Irish-American Club here. In 1922 fearing that civil war might result from dissension among Irish groups, he issued an appeal to De Valera and Michael Collins to confer in an attempt to avert armed strife.

Young to Name Adviser on Dam

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7. (AP)—Gov. Young announced today that while he is in Los Angeles next week he probably will name California's adviser to the Boulder Dam conference to be held in Phoenix the 20th inst. by the commissions of California, Arizona and Nevada.

It has been suggested that each of the States have an adviser at the conference in addition to commission members. The Governor said he wants to select a person well acquainted with all phases of the water and power allocation problem on which the three States conferred until Arizona withdrew several months ago. He said he planned to discuss the matter with members of the California commission before making his final selection.

Chicago Fraud Victim Murdered

CHICAGO, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—Jean B. Hassewer, cabinet maker, who was victimized by a "money machine" fraud two months ago, was shot to death tonight.

Hassewer had complained of the fraud to the State's Attorney's office and the asserted principals, including a police sergeant, had been trapped.

Hassewer, who was 55 years of age, was killed on the steps of his apartment above his cabinet shop. The scene of the murder is two blocks from the Hyde Park Police Station.

Coroner Bundensen and Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the State's Attorney's staff assumed charge of the investigation. The Coroner said there is little question but that Hassewer paid with his life for exposing the fraud scheme.

MEXICO CITY PRISON PROVES POPULAR

Inmates Can Have Baths and Learn Their A B C's

This is the fourth of a series of articles describing Mexico as it is today and picturing the changes going on in that rapidly developing country. Other articles will be published from time to time.

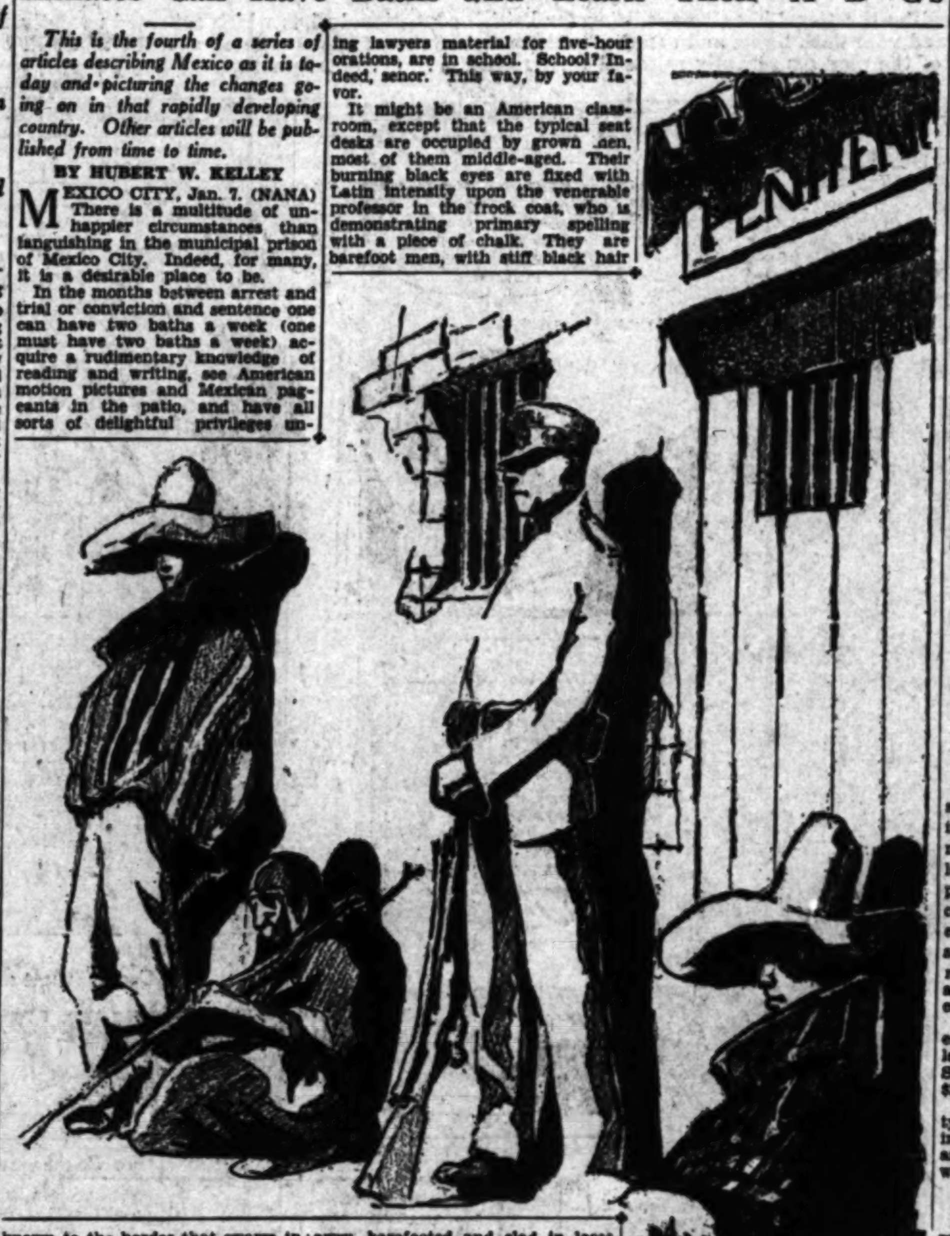
BY HUBERT W. KELLEY

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 7. (NANA) There is a multitude of unhappier circumstances than languishing in the municipal prison of Mexico City. Indeed, for many, it is a desirable place to be.

In the months between arrest and trial or conviction and sentence one can have two baths a week (one must have two baths a week) acquire a rudimentary knowledge of reading and writing, see American motion pictures and Mexican pageants in the patio, and have all sorts of delightful privileges unknown to the hordes that swarm in the filth of the slums.



Better or Worse?

"If one were not in prison, one might be sleeping in the gutter."

If one were not in the prison one might be sleeping in the gutter, matted head cushioned upon debris, feeding one's starved body with a handful of beans or corn a day, finding one's only escape in the mouth organ solo of a blind beggar in the market place.

THEY HATE TO LEAVE

And so those who find the municipal prison an escape from the unspeakable misery that was their daily environment beg the chief for one more month of celestial imprisonment, when the time comes for leave.

The municipal prison, where prisoners await trial and sentence, is one of the many reforms instituted by the progressive administrations of Obregon and Calles. In its methods it is comparable, even superior in many respects, to the average American short-term penal institutions.

It was not always so. Established in a huge crumbling convent in the late days of Diaz it was known as a house of horror. The cells were narrow dark dungeons with doors of oak and iron. Now the cells are empty; their doors creak in the wind. It is a prison without cells.

Enter, senor, and let us experience for an hour the excruciating courtesy of conducting you through the mysteries of the Palacio de Justicia del Ramo Penal.

GUARDS IMPROVE

Permit yourself the utter inconvenience of stepping into the cold, gloomy cell there, the dove's cage, one for violent murderers, while the excellent guards pass in dark blue uniforms, rifles oiled and shined, and leather trappings polished glacially. An excellent guard indeed, considerably different from the comic opera police of other years.

There at the little wooden booth in the damp corridor through ancient masonry divest yourself of all keys, knives, saws, screw drivers, pistols and dynamite. Nobody, except the very well recommended visitor, is permitted to pass without search. Whether he is subjected to the necessary ordeal or not he nevertheless receives a poker chip bearing a number, his passport out.

Some visitors cling to that poker chip desperately, fearing imprisonment. But one would suffer no more inconvenience from a sojourn in that prison than from a short-term enlistment in the United States Army, except for association with criminals.

LAWYERS PRESENT

The corridor opens to a vast patio, an ancient courtyard, clean and bleached, its flagstones swept daily by the prisoners. Several hundred dark Mexicans, most of them in overalls, many of them barefoot or shod in wooden soles bound on with leather thongs, stand there in the pale sunshine, some merely taking the air, most of them talking with very fluent lawyers. The patio is the conference room for lawyers and prisoners. There is a commissary there, too, where one may buy cheap cigarettes, candy or fruit.

And now, senor, observe this vista of unlimited comfort, the men's dormitory! The little cots, each gaudy with clean Mexican blankets, stand row on row, the occupant's personal possessions arranged neatly at the foot, apparently for inspection. At the rear of the hall is a small ikon for the religious ones the eternal flame of peanut oil burning in the ruby cup.

Conspicuously posted on a pillar is a placard:

"Order and cleanliness reveal character."

SOME IN SCHOOL

Only one prisoner is in the dormitory. He is a white man with an intellectual bush of black hair. He sits at a rude table at the foot of his cot, writing diligently on his typewriter. He is permitted to continue his business while he is in prison. And the others? Those who are not in the courtyard, giving lawyers material for five-hour orations, are in school. School? Indeed, senor. This way, by your favor.

It might be an American classroom, except that the typical seat desks are occupied by grown men, most of them middle-aged. Their burning black eyes are fixed with Latin intensity upon the venerable professor in the frock coat, who is demonstrating primary spelling with a piece of chalk. They are barefoot men, with stiff black hair awry, barefooted and clad in loose cotton shirts and overalls.

"Some of them," observed a friend, "may be awaiting sentences of death or life sentence to hard labor in the penal islands. But, before they pass on the government gives them a glimmer, at least, of enlightenment."

OTHERS WRITE

In the next room a more advanced class applies itself sedulously to a copy-book lesson. Thick, calloused hands that had known the feel of the machete, of the pick and the tug of the great burdens of the cargadore, hold the stub of a pencil and write—yes, write, as the grand senors wrote in the old and elegant days. Those men glance up at the visitor, their eyes still burning with the ferocity of their concentration. Then they smile sheepishly with great white teeth.

This vast hall of stained plaster, senor, is the infirmary. An aged Indian sits up in his hospital cot and knits, holding the edge of the dainty fabric between his teeth. His beard is gray, his eyes are dull. He learned that art in the prison. He never before knew any art, except the quaint pictures on the plaster of the cantina wall and the symmetry and color of wares in the teeming market. It is a delight, senor, to be in jail.

CHILDREN THERE, TOO

And here is the women's patio, garden of heaven, with palms and flowers, little gravel walks and an ancient Spanish fountain under a canopy. The women prisoners, somber in their black mantillas, wash pink and green clothes in the cold water of the fountain basin, while their children play around them.

If mamma must go to the municipal prison her children may go with her. Perhaps there will be instruction for them if mamma is confined long enough. Mamma, herself, learns to read and write by the grace of a grand lady, no different in any respect but nationality from a middle-aged American school teacher.

In a near-by room other women sew at machines or make lace. They are instructed by rudimentary domestic science and manual art, if they are ignorant of these.

And the baths! It is with profound pleasure, senor, that we permit ourselves the honor of asking you to peep in at the baths, where every prisoner is scrubbed, whether or no, after he is booked and measured. He must take, thereafter, two baths a week, and many of the prisoners until their advent in prison never knew any ablution except that of the rain.

In the receiving room the prisoner is stripped, fingerprinted, photographed and then subjected to the most minute measurements—the width of his hand, the length of his forearm, the width of his head, and so on.

About 700 prisoners are confined in the building, a seventeenth century structure. Much of the interior has been replastered and some of the crumbling walls restored. This work is done by prisoners themselves, provided they are willing to work. The chief pays what he conceives to be just remuneration. The money usually is spent for extra comforts.

The meals do not compare with the penal diet of the United States. The prisoners are content with beans, corn, tortillas, fruit and coffee, a more elaborate diet than that to which they are accustomed in daily life.

Inheritance Tax Leading Source of Remittances; Los Angeles at Top

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7. (AP)—The sum of $7,805,622.27 has been paid into the State Treasury by California counties as settlement on collections covering inheritance-tax payments, for paid inmates in State correctional institutions, and interest, principal and penalties on school lands, State Controller Riley reported today. These payments are for the seven-month period ending December 1, last.

Los Angeles county paid the largest amount of inheritance-tax collections, totaling $3,353,404.39, and San Francisco county paid the State $2,099,547.72, rating second.

Riley reported settlements by fifty-seven counties, Alpine county being the exception because the amount due from it is so small it was deferred.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—The place of Mrs. Herbert Hoover beside the President at the dinner at which the Vice-President customarily entertains once yearly was given tonight to Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, ranking Cabinet lady present in the capital, because the President's wife was kept at the White House by a severe cold.

Mrs. Hurley was the only Cabinet lady present, as no members of the Cabinet are invited to this annual function. Later in the evening President Hoover followed a custom broken by Calvin Coolidge by attending a reception given by the Congressional Club for about 500 guests.

Mrs. Stimson, the ranking lady of the Cabinet, was absent from the city.

Vice-President Curtis and his sister, Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, welcomed the guests in their suite in a hotel. Among them were Senators and their wives. In flower-decked rooms Mrs. Gann presided for the first time at a dinner for the President.

Listerine Tooth Paste is its name—made by the makers of Listerine. There can be no question of its quality.

Note how quickly it removes tartar and discoloration from dull, off-color teeth. Note how their natural whiteness becomes apparent. See how it makes them glisten—a brilliant luster such as nature intended.

Observe how it penetrates tiny between-the-teeth crevices and washes out matter that causes decay.

And then—note the wonderful, fresh, clean feeling it imparts to the mouth, that sense of invigoration you associate with Listerine itself. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

The seven exchange sales representatives are those chosen for the annual coveted trip to California. With Los Angeles Sunkist officials and local O.K. ## Traffic Toll Four Killed in New Year

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 7.—San Diego's 1930 traffic death toll mounted to four today when Mrs. Harry Schlein, 53 years of age, of Huntington Park, who was injured in an automobile collision Sunday afternoon, died at the County Hospital, Coroner Schuyler C. Kelly reports.

Mrs. Schlein was riding in a car driven by Elmer C. Hanson, 26, Huntington Park, and the other machine was driven by Theodore Devereaux, 34, who gave his address as the San Diego Athletic Club. An inquest will be held later, Kelly said.

Police and the Coroner's office are continuing an investigation.

Auto Driver Asks Probation

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 7.—Probation hearing for Ralph N. Post was set for the 21st inst. when he appeared in Superior Court today and pleaded guilty to manslaughter for the death by drowning of Parthenay K. Simpson. The woman was a passenger in his automobile when he drove off Broadway pier into the bay the evening of April 8, 1928.

The pleading came as a surprise. Post, accused of murder, was tried in Superior Court two years ago and was convicted of manslaughter. He was sentenced to San Quentin State prison for an indeterminate term as provided by law and there applied for parole. Meantime, Mrs. Post, from her home in Long Beach, appealed the case and obtained an order from Supreme Court granting a retrial.

Post was returned to County Jail here, provided bond for his release pending trial and it had been expected that the trial would take place this month. Necessity for trial was averted when he appeared with his counsel and pleaded guilty. For purposes of making the plea Judge C. N. Andrews allowed Post to withdraw his previous plea of not guilty to the original charge of murder.

Post remained on bail pending his probation hearing before Judge Andrews.

REMNANT OF OUR VANISHING ARMY

Malvern Hill Post, Grand Army of the Republic, of Anaheim, was once a populous post, but there now remains but five members, each of whom fills one of the offices of the organization. The five met yesterday at Fullerton for the annual installation of officers where they were assisted by members of the Woman's Relief Corps, which now has the privilege of voting and holding office in the G.A.R.

Officers of Realty Board Are Installed

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 7.—With representatives of five realty boards of neighboring cities in attendance and with William Daum, new president of the California Real Estate Association, as principal speaker, new officers of the Alhambra District Realty Board were installed following a banquet at the Alhambra Athletic Club Monday night.

More than 200 real estate men and their wives were present. Mr. Daum stressed the need for paying closer attention to already established industry and to aiding local manufacturing concerns whenever possible. Glenn D. Willaman, State secretary, told of the strides made by the organization during the past year. The speakers all sounded a note of optimism for the real estate business during 1930.

The new president of the local board is Floyd Covey, who succeeds E. V. Latham. Other officers installed were R. H. French, first vice-president; J. B. Blue, second vice-president; R. Thornton Smith, secretary; C. A. Rosell, treasurer; B. R. Ivins, John L. Mills, W. E. Miller and George R. Bradbury, directors.

SANTA MONICA BUS IN FREAK ACCIDENT

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 7.—Reversing its direction on the wet pavement and knocking over an ornamental lamp post at Santa Monica Boulevard and Sixteenth street last night, a heavy bus of the Bay Cities Transit Company figured in a freak accident after being struck by a light car driven by John M. Raymond, 1133 Third street, police reported. William Bartlett of the Soldiers' Home, a bus passenger, sustained a bruised head, and was taken to the Santa Monica Hospital. R. De Smidt, 1342 Franklin avenue, bus driver, reported Raymond's machine had failed to make a boulevard stop. The bus, headed east when it was struck by the little car, literally turned around and headed west.

In another accident, F. Shell, 39 years of age, of 12308 Darlington avenue, West Los Angeles, was picked up in a dazed condition and taken to the hospital after his machine ran into a parked car headed into the curb at an angle on Wilshire Boulevard near Fifteenth street. He received a badly cut chin.

SHERIFF'S DEPUTY ACCUSED OF ASSAULT

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 7.—Frank W. (Spike) Modie, Los Angeles county deputy sheriff, attached to the homicide squad, will be tried by Judge William M. Northrup on the 20th inst. on a charge of assault and battery. He appeared before Judge Northrup this morning, pleaded not guilty and asked for a court trial on the charges preferred by his wife, Mrs. Louella Modie. The officer is at liberty on his own recognizance.

Modie was named in a complaint filed by Mrs. Modie Monday. She declared that her husband came home drunk early Monday morning and ordered her out of the house, tearing her nightgown almost to shreds. She asserted that she grabbed her husband's overcoat and ran out on the street, where her calls for help attracted a neighbor. She stayed the rest of the night with a friend, she asserted.

The Modies live at 12 South Primrose avenue.

SUPERVISORS APPOINT JUSTICES OF THE PEACE

VENTURA, Jan. 7.—E. C. Graham of Moorpark and H. L. Miller of Camarillo today were appointed by the Board of Supervisors to fill the offices of justice of the peace at Moorpark and Camarillo, respectively.

Graham's appointment fills the vacancy made by the recent resignation of C. E. Colston, who died a week ago following his resignation. Miller takes the place vacated by E. L. Newkirk.

Colston and Newkirk resigned when the 1929 county grand jury criticised the methods by which they conducted their offices.

CITY STARTS BIG PROJECT

Railroad Commission Gives Pasadena Permission to Proceed With Giant Water Scheme

PASADENA, Jan. 7.—With the granting by the California Railroad Commission today of an order authorizing the Southern California Edison Company to give this city an option to purchase 1000 acres of land and the company's Azusa hydroelectric plant in San Gabriel Canyon, the first essential move toward realization of Pasadena's $10,000,000 water project has been taken, according to Samuel B. Morris, chief engineer of the water department.

"As soon as the Edison company and Board of City Directors sign this option, providing for a payment of $25,000 of the total purchase price of $783,494, we plan to put a crew of men to work to clear off the land and complete tests and plans for Pasadena's water storage dam at the Pine Canyon site in San Gabriel Canyon," Morris asserted.

This city's San Gabriel water project calls for construction of a concrete gravity dam in the main channel of the San Gabriel River, about four miles above Azusa and six miles below the site at which the Los Angeles County Flood-Control District stopped work recently on a $25,000,000 dam because of inadequate rock foundations.

Pasadena's dam, to be erected at a site designated "Pine Canyon" dam site, would rise 295 feet above streambed and 375 feet above lowest foundation. It would create a reservoir storing 64,200 acre-feet of water.

Through a seventeen-mile conduit, this city has been empowered by the State Division of Water Rights to divert to Pasadena from the reservoir a maximum average of 30,000 acre-feet of water a year in any five-year period.

"The project," said Morris, "is expected to furnish an annual yield of 25,700 acre-feet, and combined with Pasadena's local supply, a safe yield of 34,300 acre-feet of water per annum — sufficient for the city's estimated needs until 1949."

After obtaining the water rights, local taxpayers voted $10,000,000 in bonds to finance the project, and completion of the option authorized by the Railroad Commission will assure title to the site and other property which would be affected by construction of the dam.

The price of $783,494 for "all of the Edison lands, Azusa hydroelectric plant, appurtenances and all rights in San Gabriel Canyon," has been agreed upon only after months of negotiation, according to Morris. The valuation of the land was prepared by Harry G. Holabird, appraisal expert, and the valuation of the electric plant was based upon historical cost less depreciation.

Terms of the purchase agreement provide that all power produced by the plant, which has an average annual production of 10,000,000 kilowatt hours, shall, after acquirement by Pasadena, be turned over at Azusa to the Edison company and transmitted by that concern to Pasadena. This city will be permitted to draw the total kilowatts and will pay transmission charges to the Edison company of $.002 per kilowatt hour. This price is in excess of transmission cost but enables Pasadena to obtain extra power in emergencies.

The average annual production of the Azusa hydroelectric plant amounts to about 18 per cent of last year's production of the Pasadena Municipal Light and Power Department.

The first actual work on the dam will consist in driving a main outlet tunnel, 1000 feet long and seven and one-half feet in diameter, through the axis of the west abutment of the site. Although this tunnel will be part of the permanent construction, it will serve also as a final test of geological conditions

MINISTER AND WIFE MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 7.—Rev. and Mrs. M. E. Bridges, Dorothy street, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary this week. A. C. Bridges, a son, was the only immediate relative present for the occasion, an invalid son in the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home and several sons and daughters living in the East being unable to attend.

Fifty friends gathered and entertained the honored couple with the singing of old-time songs and readings.

Rev. and Mrs. Bridges moved to Garden Grove a year ago from Boulevard Gardens.

Name Change is Adopted

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 7.—Ending a controversy that has engaged the attention of citizens for more than a year the City Commission today adopted an ordinance changing the name of Wilson avenue to Atlantic Boulevard. Wilson avenue is the Alhambra link in the new through highway extending from Pasadena to Long Beach. Other communities along the route have already abandoned their local street designations in favor of the new name.

When the question of changing the name was first discussed a storm of protest arose. Representatives of the D.A.R. and the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West appeared before the City Planning Commission and the City Commission, offering sentimental reasons for retaining the name of Wilson. It was pointed out that the street was named after Ben D. Wilson, one of the revered pioneers of the San Gabriel Valley, and that it should be retained as having more significance in this district than any other.

The result of questionnaires recently sent out by the city to property owners on Wilson avenue showed a majority sentiment in favor of the change.

SHOES CONSIDERED AS IMPORTANT EVIDENCE

ONTARIO, Jan. 7.—The kind of shoes worn by Grant Goodwin, Ontario youth, the night of November 25, may decide whether he goes to jail or is granted liberty.

Goodwin was arrested with Julian Hacker and both were charged jointly with robbing a Shell Oil Company safe from the station at Narod. Footprints discovered near the oil company office and then discovered in a wash near Claremont where the safe had been broken open and rifled, are said by police to correspond.

The State seeks to prove they were the footprints of Goodwin. Hacker entered a plea of guilty in Superior Court and sought to take full responsibility for the robbery. He will be sentenced tomorrow morning.

INJURED STUDENT IS MUCH IMPROVED

POMONA, Jan. 7. — Theodore Weekly, 25 years of age, Ames (Iowa) student of Iowa State College, who was badly injured in an automobile crash on Pomona Boulevard Sunday night when an overhanging branch of a roadside tree demolished the machine in which he was riding, regained consciousness today at the Pomona Community Hospital and was reported as being considerably improved.

Weekly suffered a fractured skull and brain injuries when the projecting limb struck him as he was adjusting a robe in the back seat of a machine driven by Herbert Swain of Pasadena. A heavy fog was blamed for the accident, Swain having driven off the highway and into the projecting branch unawares of the mistake.

CAR TAKES DIVE INTO OPEN DITCH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 7.—Diving head first into an irrigation ditch last night, Mr. and Mrs. George Carter were thrown against the front of the car and received body and head bruises.

They were driving on Huntington Beach Boulevard when the car skidded on the wet pavement, crossed the street and plunged into the five-foot ditch. Mrs. Carter's glasses were broken and the car was badly damaged.

SANTA CRUZ LOCATION FOR CINEMA

Author Visits Mysterious Island to Get Material for Story

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 7.—Santa Cruz Island, the foreboding and uninhabited stretch of land in the Pacific off the Northern California coast, is to be exploited through the medium of the motion-picture screen if, after due inspection, the task proves feasible. Reaves and Walter Eason, well-known Los Angeles motion-picture directors, will leave this city tomorrow in a small boat for a tour around the bleak isle following which they will spend a week exploring the mysterious land. If at the conclusion of their investigation it is found practical to film a sound production on the site, Reaves Eason will immediately begin work on a story, the plot of which he already has in mind, with all scenes laid in the wilds of Santa Cruz.

Eason is one of the few persons who has previously visited the island. A few years ago, in company with a small party of hunters, he shot wild hogs and goats there and it was the impression the natural beauty of the spot left on his memory that suggested Santa Cruz as the ideal locale for his original story.

Incidentally, while he is camping at Santa Cruz during the next few days, Reaves Eason will write a story for Hoot Gibson's next Universal picture. The writer-director has guided the western star through many of his outstanding pictures and will direct him in another, entitled, "Who—Me?" before "shooting" his island story. The Eason brothers expect to return to Los Angeles next week and hope to bring with them some excellent photographs of various scenic points of Santa Cruz as well as a map of the interior country of the island.

New Method of Fighting Cold

BRAWLEY, Jan. 7.—Rivalry between Imperial Valley melon growers who seek to reach the market with first cantaloupes each season resulted this year in the adoption by the S. A. Gerrard Company of this district of a new method of protecting the young vines against winter cold.

The method generally used by Imperial growers in the past was to cap each plant with a paper covering. The method being used by the Gerrard company on a small acreage this year consists of erecting a paper and brush shelter along the north side of each row of plants, leaving the young vines exposed to the sun on the south side.

This plan has been used successfully by ranchers in the Mt. Signal district near Calexico for several years and has given them the first matured melons for a number of seasons. The cost of the new type of covering is about $15 higher than for individual caps, it was stated by company officials.

FUNERAL OF PIONEER IS ANNOUNCED

PASADENA, Jan. 7.—Funeral services for Whittier Elliott, local pioneer who died last night in a Long Beach hospital, will be held tomorrow at 3:15 p.m. in the chapel of Reynolds and Salisbury Company, 41 North Garfield avenue. Rev. James H. Leishman, assistant pastor of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church, will conduct the service.

Mr. Elliott was the son of Dr. Thomas B. Elliott, who gave this city its present name when it was changed from the Indiana Colony, and the first postoffice was established.

As a boy, "Whit" Elliott lived in a frame house that was located on the site of the present Hotel Vista del Arroyo. He took part in the first Tournament of Roses and for more than fifty years was active in civic affairs.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Olive Valentine Elliott of Long Beach, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Georgia Ayres of Los Gatos, and two nephews, Ralph Bandini and Elliott Bandini, both of Los Angeles.

BUILDING ON BORDER CONFOUNDS OFFICIALS

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 7.—Peter M. Ross of 919 North Bushnell avenue has city officials hanging on the ropes, figuratively speaking.

The City Commissioners have before them a petition, circulated by Ross and signed by the required number of his neighbors, asking that he be allowed to operate a printing shop in his garage, which is in a residence district. The commissioners also have a petition protesting the proposed shop.

But the awkward feature of the matter is that the South Pasadena-Alhambra boundary line runs through the Ross garage. Only one foot of the front of the building extends into Alhambra territory. The remaining nineteen feet are in South Pasadena.

The city of Alhambra is wondering whether the one foot constitutes jurisdiction.

HUSBAND FOLLOWS HIS WIFE IN DEATH

NAROD, Jan. 7.—Grief-stricken at the death of his aged wife, John M. Fuqua, 76 years of age, one of the pioneers of Chino Valley, yielded to death and was buried in Pomona Cemetery today.

Death of Mr. Fuqua occurred twenty-four hours after that of his wife. They had been married more than fifty years and had lived in Chino Valley community a number of years. Mrs. Fuqua crossed the plains in a covered wagon when a small child. She and Mr. Fuqua were married at Downey. Mr. Fuqua was born in California.

BOXED EARS OF A BOXER

San Diego Policeman too Much for Pugilist Full of Fight

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 7.—Harry Fignelle of Los Angeles who said he is a boxer, met his match at the border in the person of State Traffic Officer Leslie Ford, it developed in Township Traffic Court today. Justice Arthur L. Mundo accordingly fined the loser $50 and added a parting admonition.

Fignelle was stopped for intoxication as he crossed from below the border.

"Say, listen, Bo," he told the wiry young officer, "you're just a copper, see? Well I'm a boxer. I'm from the best West Coast stable of plain and fancy ring men that's to be found. I could have been a cop like you, see? But I preferred to be what I am today."

He proffered Ford one of his business cards, and started to pass on. Ford detained him. Things happened. One result of what happened was that when Fignelle appeared in court his clothing was muddied. It rained down at the border, he explained to the judge.

Ventura Phone Company Makes Improvements

VENTURA, Jan. 7.—For the expansion of its facilities to handle growing telephone business in Ventura during 1930, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company will expend approximately $260,000, according to H. H. Newton, district manager. This expenditure has been decided upon to meet an anticipated growth of 650 telephones between now and the end of 1930, Newton said.

Included in the 1930 expenditures will be $25,000 for buildings; $52,000 for central office equipment; $1000 for instruments and other material to be placed on subscribers' premises, and $182,000 for outside plant construction and miscellaneous additions.

The telephone company has completed plans for the construction of a new garage and storeroom here and will start work in the near future.

Long-distance telephone equipment involving an expenditure of approximately $195,000 is to be installed in the Ventura central office building in connection with the Los Angeles-to-San Francisco circuits.

Work has been started on the installation of approximately 50,000 feet of telephone cable throughout the Ventura exchange.

New Inspector Appointed at Border Town

MEXICALI, Jan. 7.—Col. Francisco Peralta, inspector of police and chief of the rurales in Lower California, has been relieved of duty and Gen. J. Silva of Mexico City named in his place, according to announcement made today at the office of Gen. Jose M. Tapia, newly appointed governor of the territory. Tapia gave no reason for the change of inspectors, but it was stated unofficially by those close to the executive that the transfer is a part of Tapia's plan to wage a vigorous campaign against smuggling operations along the border. Peralta has served for six years under former Gov. Abelardo L. Rodriguez.

The appointment of Gen. Silva was the second change in personnel announced since Tapia took office last Friday, the first appointment being that of Alberto Garcia as Mayor of Tia Juana.

Dr. Carlos Davila was today named as sanitary inspector at Agua Caliente and will assume his new duties immediately.

NEW PEDESTRIAN SUBWAY

VENTURA, Jan. 7. — Bids on the pedestrian subway to be built under Ventura avenue in front of the new E. P. Foster school are to be opened February 4, it was decided by the Board of Supervisors today. County Engineer Charles Petit said that the bids call for only one subway at present, but if it proves to be successful another probably will be built next year. The cost of the one subway is estimated at between $5000 and $6000.

BANK OFFICIAL TO BE ARRESTED

Is Accused of Misuse of Large Sum of Money

Man Says Funds Were Taken to Aid Friend

Warrant Issued by United States District Attorney

PASADENA, Jan. 7.—Arthur B. Brownell of 2501 Jefferson Drive, assistant cashier and manager of the Lake-avenue branch of the Pasadena National Bank, is expected to be arraigned tomorrow on charges of misappropriating $11,000 of the bank's funds, it was revealed today when a warrant was issued from the United States District Attorney's office in Los Angeles. George Friend, Brownell's attorney, has arranged for the surrender of the suspect tomorrow morning.

According to Col. George S. Parker, executive vice-president of the bank, the shortage is between $11,000 and $12,000 and is entirely covered by a surety bond.

Brownell is reported to have admitted taking the money to "start a friend in business" and to have promised that he would make good the amount in a short time.

The suspect was suspended two months ago when the shortage was discovered, and Homer Partsch, a teller from the Fair Oaks branch, took his place in the Lake-avenue institution.

The investigation, which culminated today in the issuance of the warrant, was conducted by C. H. McLain, national bank examiner, and the United States Marshal's office in Los Angeles.

Brownell came to the local bank four years ago after serving at several Los Angeles banks for various periods.

Three years ago he was struck on the head with a piece of pipe while resisting bank robbers. The injury was not reported to have been serious at that time.

Company Seeks to Annex Land to Glendale

GLENDALE, Jan. 7.—Annexation to Glendale of a tract of land adjacent to the Grand Central Air Terminal is sought in a request presented to the City Planning Commission by representatives of Curtiss Airports Corporation.

The portion that it is sought to annex is the company's holdings that lie in Los Angeles county, as well as approximately 100 lots joining the city and the airport on the west side. The request came before the commission last night when the Curtiss interests, through Spencer Webb, of Taggart & Webb, presented a tentative map which would convert a city lot subdivision to revert to acreage.

This land is now owned by the applicant, but is not included in the airport. Part of the subdivision lies outside the city limits, and it is argued that this portion should be brought within the city before the map is approved by the commission. The attitude of the few residents of the district in question is yet to be determined.

The commission instructed the City Attorney to investigate the legal phase of acquiring the property owned by the Curtiss organization as well as other property.

Woman Wins Suit at Law

REDLANDS, Jan. 7.—Mrs. Catherine C. Tripp, wife of C. J. Tripp, City Treasurer, has been awarded judgment of $400 in a suit against Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Van Der Linda et al for the collection of two promissory notes. The judgment was awarded by Superior Judge F. A. Leonard on default.

The plaintiff asserted that she took the promissory note of the defendants, Mr. and Mrs. Van Der Linda, May 7, 1928, for $1000, due in one year, and a second note for $3000, due in three years.

The notes were secured by a mortgage on property in the Redlands Heights district and ten shares of stock in the Redlands Heights Water Company, it was alleged. It was also alleged that the property was later conveyed to the defendants, Mr. and Mrs. Hunt and R. E. Sprich, and that the other defendants entered in the action.

Because payment on the $1000 note was defaulted May 7 of this year the plaintiff elected to declare both notes due, the complaint asserted. Additional judgment of $332.98 for taxes on the mortgaged property and $250 attorney's fees was awarded by the court.

POLICE SEEK RUNAWAY GIRL

Foster-daughter of Glendale Physician and Wife Leaves Home Presumably to Look for Work

GLENDALE, Jan. 7.—After luring her mother away from home to the residence of a neighbor last night by an asserted fake telephone call, Nina Pierce, 19 years of age, a student in the Glendale Junior College, rushed into her home at 606-A East Palmer street, hastily assembled some of her clothes and other belongings and vanished.

Mrs. Mary Burtch, foster-mother of the girl, told Detective Sergeant V. B. Browne and Detective S. L. Woodward that she believes the girl's reason for disappearing is that she has lost interest in her studies and has been making poor grades in her classes, and that she has therefore decided to seek employment somewhere.

The detectives, who were summoned late last night, at first worked on the theory that she might have eloped, but this angle was abandoned when a young man with whom she had been on terms of close friendship was found at his place of employment and professed ignorance of the girl's whereabouts.

Miss Pierce was adopted by Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Burtch eleven years ago, in Kansas City, after her own parents, who were unable to care for her, had placed her in care of the Home Finders' Association of the city.

Dr. Burtch, who is now in Kansas City, was in communication with his wife here today and instructed her to use every effort to discover the girl.

Committee Places Stir Fight Among Republicans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—Factional differences among Republican Senators flared up today when the regulars launched a determined effort to prevent Senator Robert M. La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, from obtaining a place on the Senate Finance Committee.

The Republican Committee on Committees voted 4 to 4 on a motion by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, to assign Senators Goff, Republican, West Virginia, and Thomas, Republican, Idaho, to the Edge and Sackett vacancies on the Finance Committee.

Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, chairman of the Finance Committee and a member of the Committee on Committees, withheld his vote.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (Exclusive) When Harry Harrison, Broadway music publisher, wrote effulgent love missives to 17-year-old Ina Carpenter, unsophisticated Kansas City lass, he always postscripted: "Be sure and tear up these letters."

She always obeyed. But she saved the pieces.

That is why she has a neatly pasted collection of letters to use against Harrison, 45, general manager of Shapiro, Bernstein & Co., music publishers, in her $10,000 breach of promise action.

Jack Maulie, a mountaineer, and John D. Buckman, resort owner, who attempted a rescue, were stalled in their automobile by heavy drifts eighteen miles from the cabin.

Since their first startling introduction of Vitaphone Warner Bros. have gradually massed wonder upon wonder—the first all-talking picture, the first singing and dancing picture, the first talking color film, and finally the first all-color picture—until it seemed that talking picture progress had surely reached its peak.

But now suddenly at a single stride Vitaphone comes forward with an achievement so immeasurably superior to any that have gone before, that the history of screen development must be completely rewritten and revised.

"THE SHOW OF SHOWS" is a connoisseur's collection of the supreme examples of almost every form of stage and screen entertainment, each elaborated beyond the wildest dreams of Broadway or Hollywood.

Only such popularity as Vitaphone has attained could provide the resources for assembling the names of John Barrymore, Richard Barthelmess, Beatrice Lillie, Ted Lewis, Georges Carpentier, Irene Bordoni, Dolores Costello, and enough more for 20 average pictures, all on one prodigious program. And you'll remember as long as you live such sensational features as the Military Number with 200 lovely girls and a bugle and drum corps of fifty in intricate dance formations on a mammoth stairway—the Floradora Sextet composed of headline screen stars—the Sister Number with eight sets of celebrated screen-star sisters—the stupendous Lady Luck finale with a chorus of 300 and fifteen specialty "acts"—the Star Curtain on which all the famous favorites in the cast appear simultaneously, framed in one vast fabric!

If you could see only one motion picture this season, that picture should be "The Show of Shows". Don't dare miss it—for you may never look upon its like again!

BANK HOLDING UNIT REPORTS

Transamerica Earnings More Than $90,000,000

Resources Show Gain in Year of $83,000,000

Investments Have Valuation of $1,155,660,856

Transamerica Corporation for the full year 1929 will show profits of more than $90,000,000 after deduction of all charges but before a portion of the taxes, depreciation and the compensation plan, it was estimated by A. P. Giannini, president, in a preliminary statement on the year's operations which was issued yesterday.

"We have not received complete reports from some of our eastern subsidiaries and in consequence cannot include them," said Mr. Giannini. "However, we can conservatively estimate a profit in excess of $90,000,000 on the basis of what has already been reported."

The balance sheet as of December 31, last, revealed total assets of $1,176,512,041, a gain of more than $83,000,000 during the past year. More than a 100 per cent ratio of surplus and undivided profits to capital was shown.

Investments have grown to $1,155,-660,856, as compared with $1,081,-000,000 at the end of 1928, while cash and dividends receivable amount to $20,251,784.94, as against $1,942,030 a year ago.

In the liability account there were no bills or accounts payable, while capital stock outstanding was shown at $585,648,700, and surplus and undivided profits at $590,863,-947.11.

Profits of $90,000,000 would be equivalent to $3.84 a share on 23,-425,948 capital shares of $25 par value outstanding at the close of the year, or about $4.50 a share on the estimated average of 20,000,000 shares outstanding during the period. For the first half of 1929 earnings were reported at $49,136,-173. Earnings of the corporation in 1928 through its various subsidiaries then owned, but exclusive of Bank of America, New York, and Bancamerica-Blair group, amounted to over $97,372,000, or $11.12 a share on the 8,747,396 shares then outstanding, according to a recent analysis of the corporation.

The corporation paid a 150 per cent stock dividend October 25, last. Previous to this dividends were paid at $4 in cash and 4 per cent in stock and since at the rate of $1.60 in cash and 4 per cent in stock.

The number of stockholders at the close of the year was estimated at 175,000, as compared to 136,-000 last June.

State Reports Gain in Return on Truck Crops

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7. (AP)—Total value of the 1929 vegetable crop in the State was estimated at $80,400,-000, an increase of $5,541,000 over 1928, in the annual truck crop report of the California co-operative crop reporting service, released here today.

Lettuce brought the farmers approximately $22,000,000, more than the returns from any other one crop. Cantaloupes were second with $13,-242,000; asparagus third with $8,778,-000, and peas fourth with $5,100,000.

Acreages were greatly increased, the report said, 402,700 in 1929, compared with 356,800 in 1928, an increase of 45,900 acres. Yields as a rule were lower than in the previous year, the crop reports showed, due, it was explained, to the long cold spring and the dry summer. However, the general increase in acreage kept the total production in almost all crops above that of 1928.

MAJOR POWER TRADE DUE

Pacific Gas Reported in Deal for Great Western and San Joaquin Utility Properties

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Another shifting in the control of hydroelectric properties in California that will rank the Pacific Gas and Electric Company as the largest water power company in the United States is scheduled to take place soon. From eastern sources it is reported that negotiations are virtually completed for the sale by the North American Company of Great Western Power and San Joaquin Power to the Pacific Gas interests.

Terms, it is understood, involve the exchange of Pacific Gas common stock for the North American's properties in California. A similar trade was made in 1927 when Pacific Gas traded common stock and cash to the Byllesby group for Western States Gas and Electric, Coast Valleys Gas and Electric and Sierra and San Francisco power companies.

CONTROL DIVIDED

If this deal goes through as reported, Pacific Gas and Electric will number among its stockholders three of the largest utility holding companies in the United States. The Standard Gas and Electric, or Byllesby group, owns about 11 per cent of Pacific Gas, and the Pacific Lighting Corporation holds a substantial block. North American Company, the prospective stockholder, controls an extensive chain of utility properties throughout the country.

In generating capacity, the addition of the foregoing properties to the Pacific Gas and Electric system would rank the California company first in the United States, passing the Niagara Falls Power Company, now the leading hydroelectric company, with approximately 700,000 horsepower rating. The Great Western Power and San Joaquin Light and Power will raise Pacific Gas generating capacity to about 900,000 horsepower.

From an operating point of view the Great Western and San Joaquin systems naturally tie into the Pacific Gas lines. Great Western serves Central California, including San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Berkeley, Napa, Petaluma, etc. San Joaquin Light and Power serves the growing San Joaquin Valley, including the cities of Fresno, Bakersfield, etc. Since the two properties were acquired by the North American Company the transmission lines have been interconnected.

FOUNDED HERE

Control of San Joaquin Light and Power has changed hands several times in the last few years. Originally the company was owned and developed by Los Angeles interests, headed by the late W. G. Kerckhoff, Allan C. Balch and Ben R. Meyer. In 1925 control was transferred to the Western Power Corporation of New York, a holding company owning the Great Western Power Company of California. San Francisco interests were the original developers of Great Western Power.

In September, 1925, the Western Power Corporation was acquired by the North American Company, a holding company for utilities operating in Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Michigan, District of Columbia, etc.

Since the two California properties of North American are not contiguous to the main system at any point, there has not been an opportunity to work out the operating economies generally aimed at by most holding organizations. Presumably this situation would influence the North American management if an advantageous offer to buy were submitted.

Midland Counties Public Service Corporation, control of which was acquired by North American through ownership of San Joaquin Light and Power, would also be included in the reported trade with Pacific Gas and Electric, according to the current conjecture. This company serves a small territory in the Coalinga district and parts of San Luis Obispo, Monterey and Santa Barbara counties.

JOHN R. THOMPSON NET INCOME HIGHER

CHICAGO, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—Net income of the John R. Thompson & Co. for 1929 will be equal to at least $5.50 a share on its 300,000 capital shares after all charges, John R. Thompson, president, stated here today. In 1928 the company earned $4.80 a share on 240,000 shares.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE SEAT PRICES LOWER

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (AP)—A spurt of buying, influenced by relatively steady Liverpool cables and the statement of the Federal Farm Board with references to its attitude toward cotton acreage, was reflected by an early advance in the cotton market here today. This was checked by realizing and hedge selling and was not fully maintained, but the midafternoon market was quiet and steady, with active months ruling about 2 to 3 points net higher.

New Financing Plan of Edison Gets Approval

Approval by the California State Railroad Commission of the application from the Southern California Edison Company to issue rights to original preferred and common stockholders to purchase new common stock, was announced yesterday by John B. Miller, chairman. The rights provide for the offering of approximately $7,000,000 par value of common to stockholders of record February 28, next.

Holders of the original preferred and common will be given the right to purchase the new stock at par in the ratio of one new share for each ten owned. Warrants representing the right to purchase will be mailed March 20, next, and the offering will extend from March 25 to April 21, next, inclusive.

"There is every indication that this year will be one of outstanding substantial progress for the Southern California Edison Company and Southern California generally," said Mr. Miller. "The coming of the rain to end the prolonged drought in this section of the State was accompanied by a generous snowfall in the high Sierra Mountains, where our company's water storage reservoirs are situated, assuring the replenishment of our water supplies for hydroelectric generation. Our steam plant construction program is advancing on schedule and by about March 1 a new steam generating unit of 134,000 horsepower capacity will be placed in service at our Long Beach plant."

Coast Counties Gas Income Up

November net operating income of the Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company increased $36,268, or 80 per cent over the income for November, 1928, and reached a total of $81,418, according to a statement issued yesterday by the company.

The net income for the twelve months closed November 30, last, amounted to $796,333, an increase over the preceding similar period of $153,906, or about 24 per cent. Gross operating revenues aggregated $2,087,940, against $1,880,357 in the former period.

FINANCE IDEA BORN IN PANIC

First Investors Syndicate Formed in Hard Times of 1894 Huge Success After Long Struggle

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—John L. Tappen, 30 years of age, young Minneapolis lawyer, conceived the idea in the hard times times of 1894 that money could be loaned to home owners, paid back on the installment plan, and certificates loaned against the mortgages on the basis of $110 of mortgage for every $100 certificate issued. Just an idea, but Tappen couldn't get rid of it. So he organized "The Investors' Syndicate" to try it out.

During the first fifteen years he drew no salary—for the first ten years he even paid the rent of the tiny office of the company personally.

Then it caught on. He expanded and developed it until 1927, when John R. Ridgeway, then an executive of the Western Bond & Mortgage Company of Portland, Or., became president of the Investors' Syndicate. That year $30,000,000 of the syndicate's 5½ per cent certificates were sold while $104,000,000 were sold in 1929.

These certificates are purchased by investors for three distinct purposes: (1) To provide children's college funds; (2) old - age retirement; (3) business reserve funds.

"Our program for 1930 calls for a sale of $150,000,000 of these certificates. No, the stock market did not hurt our sales. In fact, the week of the stock market break was the best week we ever had in our business," said Mr. Ridgeway.

"Just how do you make your loans," I asked this quiet - talking westerner, who was born in Columbia, Mo., forty-four years ago.

"We have loan offices in twenty cities of the United States. The men who originate our loans are on a salary basis. Our 4000 agents, who sell the certificates, are all on commission basis. A man will protect his home above everything else. That's why, in spite of the fact that we require monthly payments on all our loans, we have less than 3 per cent delinquent."

I was interested particularly in the thousands of people who have bought these certificates, timing them to mature when their children enter college. I asked Mr. Ridgeway what per cent of the certificates were "educational."

"About 20 per cent," he replied. "We estimate that of our 165,000 investors, nearly 50,000 are buying certificates with which to send children through college. Today more than 10,000 young people are in universities on funds provided by our certificates started ten or more years ago."

The Investors Syndicate is now the largest of its kind in the United States.

When Sir Henry Thornton accepted the job of hammering a smooth railroad unit, the six railroad properties that went into what was called the Canadian National Railways, he said, almost from the

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (AP)—Mixed price movements in today's curb market reflected the play of opposing speculative forces, final quotations showing a slight preponderance of net declines. Trading showed a further falling off, the day's sales aggregating only 883,100 shares. Commission house business was negligible. Both bull and bear traders appear to be waiting for some piece of news to take the market out of the narrow trading area within which it has been fluctuating for nearly a month.

Electric Bond & Share sold off 1⅛ points while Associated Gas & Electric A ran up 6 points and lost half its gain. American & Foreign Power warrants dropped 2¼ points and American Light & Traction rallied 2. American Superpower yielded fractionally while Cities Service showed a slight gain.

Franklin Manufacturing dropped 3 points to a new low at 20 on the omission of the quarterly dividend, and Cord Corporation yielded 1⅛, while Ford of Canada jumped 6¼ points on a few odd-lot sales. A flurry of buying in a few aviation stocks lifted Aviation Corporation of the Americas about 3 points and Western Air Express 2. Investment trust and trading corporation shares were mixed. Goldman-Sachs, Niagara Shares and Ungerleider Financial losing ground, while the Blue Ridge and Shenandoah preferred issued showed a slightly firmer undertone.

New low records for a year or more were established by American Laundry Machinery, Godchaux Sugar, Grand Rapids Varnish, Knott Company, Welch Grape Juice and a few others. Deere & Co. rallied 14¼ points on a few sales, while Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea dropped 5 and Celanese preferred 4.

A 7% completely tax exempt investment backed by real estate security five times greater than the average local first mortgage bond. It doesn't sound reasonable we know, but here are the facts and figures that prove it. Taking assessed valuation as a non-biased yardstick of security value, we have compared three highly popular types of investment as follows:

1.—*Three of best known Wilshire apartment houses.

| Bonds outstanding | $3,475,000.00 |
| Assessed value of real estate and improvements | 1,325,790.00 |

2.—*Three leasehold issues secured by well-known buildings in the heart of the downtown retail district.

| Bonds outstanding | $2,450,000.00 |
| Assessed value of real estate and improvements | 1,033,280.00 |
| Ratio of bonds to assessed value | 237% |

3.—*Two Acquisition and Improvement Act Bonds issued and secured by tax liens on assessment districts.

|---|---|
| Bonds outstanding | $148,000.64 |
| Assessed value of property | 310,351.00 |
| Ratio of bonds to assessed value | 47% |

*Names furnished on request.

Naturally you will think that the higher security value offered by the District Bonds would carry a materially lower rate of interest; but such is not the case. In fact, the yield on the District Bonds is 7%, completely tax exempt, as compared to a yield of 6½% subject to Income Tax from the real estate bonds.

Let us tell you more about these issues. Circulars descriptive of the District Bonds used in the above comparison will be gladly furnished on request. Send name and address below.

FINANCE IDEA BORN IN PANIC

beginning, that the properties were overloaded with capital and that some day the painful process of squeezing out the water would be necessary.

Word has just come from Ottawa that this pressing "squeezing matter" in all probability will be taken up at the next session of Parliament. It means the writing off of about $830,000,000 and reducing the obligations to around $1,600,000,000.

Since Sir Henry took charge in 1924, the mileage has been shortened and the net earnings have risen from $3,000,000 to more than $60,000,000 annually.

The present capitalization of the Canadian National Railways (in mileage—the world's largest) is $2,555,000,000. Of this, $977,889,000 is owing to the public. So the carrying charge on the debt to the public is $41,000,000 annually.

But the huge debt to the Dominion, now standing at $1,577,000,000, would disappear as an item upon which interest payments would have to be made. Of this $830,000,000 would be written off completely, and the balance turned into income bonds, bearing 4 per cent, when the income was available.

Based on the 1928 earnings, the company would have been able to pay the interest on such a bonded debt to the government.

In other words, the Canadian government—the people—are the losers . . . real cash losers. No such fantastic amount has ever been written off before for such a purpose in any country. But the Canadian National structure is financially top-heavy and Canada will have to face the issue sooner or later.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Security Prices Hold Even Keel on Light Turnover; California Bank and Emsco Advance

Irregular narrow fluctuations marked yesterday's trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange as the volume of business continued to run on meager levels. Edison, Transamerica, Union Associates and Richfield accounted for the bulk of the activity while California Bank and Emsco Derrick featured with sharp advances.

California Bank, on light sales, made a sudden spurt of 5 points to 119. The stock has held within a 1-point range for some time. Emsco Derrick and Equipment was the other strong spot of the session with an advance of 1 1-8 points to 19 1-8 on a turnover of 300 shares. Goodyear Textile preferred, an inactive issue, up 1 point to 95, was the only other stock on the board to register more than a fractional change in price.

Transamerica Corporation sold off ⅛ point to 43 and International Re-Insurance reacted ½ to 42½. No other losses were recorded in excess of this amount. While common stock of the Southern California Edison Company traded to the extent of 1500 shares the price after ranging within 1-8 point closed unchanged at 57. The rights, however, fell off 5 cents to 2.85. Transameirca rights were steady at 7 cents.

Sales totaled 35,929 shares valued at $468,461; previous day, 33,560 shares valued at $381,871.

LOS ANGELES CURB

In common with trading on the parent board nothing more than small fractional changes ruled on yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Curb Exchange. No definite price trend was established on the light volume of operations with the number of losses about equaling the gains at the closing bell.

Claude Neon Lights of New York dropped down a point to 11 7-8 while the Delaware company stock held steady at 30½. Fractional gains were recorded for Hancock Oil, Fokker, Cities Service and Pacific Associates while small losses were marked down for Consolidated Steel preferred, District Bond, Detroit Airports, Gladding McBean and Intercoast Trading.

Kemper Radio, among the penny stocks, rallied sharply with an advance of 15 cents to 2.60 while Marbelite slumped 20 cents to 3.05. There were no other changes of importance.

Sales amounted to 54,840 shares valued at $100,176; previous day, 15,433 shares valued at $58,810.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7. (AP)—Speculators found little in today's trading in western stocks to stir their enthusiasm as prices of the majority of stocks failed to hold their modest gains of yesterday. Investment house advisers regarded the slowing down of trading as a favorable indication, although some continued to advocate a policy of caution pending the steadying of business and until influences of gold export become more apparent. Sales here increased somewhat compared with yesterday, contrasting with a decrease in Wall street.

Total turnover today was 39,992 shares, sold for $980,331. The sale of several thousand Transamerica rights increased the share total without materially showing in the cash column. The rights continued to sell for 6 and 7 cents, while the stock lost ¼ to close at 42⅞.

Utilities slumped slightly, although there was considerable turnover in Pacific Gas, both common and preferred. The former lost ⅛, and the latter ⅛. Officials again denied knowledge of any merger plans involving other California utilities. Great Western preferred 7s had another erratic day, selling down a point, then moving up to show a ½-point gain at the close. Pacific Public Service was up fractionally as Standard Oil announced a new managerial company had been formed to direct the utility subsidiary.

Gains and losses in the oil group precisely balanced, Sutro & Co's. averages showed. Richfield preferred moved up ⅛, and the common ⅛ on relief from recent pressure. Tidewater also gained ⅛, and Union Associates ⅛, while Honolulu, Shell and Union of California showed fractional setbacks.

Several industrial stocks ordinarily inactive took rather severe losses. Borden Company on a single sale fell 3 points and Fireman's Fund dropped 4, while Langendorf A lost 1¼. Smaller declines were shown by Caterpillar, Langendorf B, Byron Jackson and Douglas Aircraft. Magnavox failed to hold its gain of yesterday, losing ⅛-point.

Advances scored by industrials included a 1-point gain by Hawaiian Pineapple and fractional improvement by Golden State Milk, Emporium Capwell, Hale Brothers, Investors Association and Oliver Filters B. Industrial analyses put out by a national statistical company were believed to have improved sentiment toward stores, and may have caused some buying.

EASE IN MONEY FAILS AS SPUR

is renewed talk of a further reduction in the New York Reserve Bank rate.

NEWS BEARISH

The business and industrial news was in general not of a character to enliven the bull crowd. Copper buying quieted down after the recent revival. Automotive news was disappointing. Studebaker earned its dividend by a rather narrow margin in the last fiscal year, and Franklin omitted the common dividend due. Early estimates of last week's crude oil production indicated a large upturn, more than canceling the previous week's curtailment, although opening of wells in Oklahoma for prorating purposes was held partly responsible. Steel mill operations were reported at about 60 per cent of capacity, having quickened only to the rate of mid-December, and most steel trade reports indicated that further acceleration would be gradual.

A strong and active feature was Radio-Keith, which was bid up more than 2 points. Keith-Albee preferred jumped 11. Sponsors of the stocks feel that the organization is in a position to show substantial earnings during the coming year. Although the reports were denied in authoritative quarters, it was rumored that Radio-Keith might acquire Loews, as part of the reorganization of the Fox companies. Another strong spot was Wabash preferred B, which mounted 7½ points. Failure of the Class A stockholders to win their suit for back dividends clears the way for resumption of payments on the B stock. The American Woolen shares rose about 3 points. A pool is understood to have been formed in these shares, and merger rumors have been circulated.

COMMUNICATIONS SOFT

Communications mergers received no encouragement from Newcomb Carlton, president of Western Union, in his testimony in Washington. Radio Corporation and International Telephone sagged moderately, American Telephone lost 2 points and Western Union, a more volatile issue, sold off nearly 8 points. In other shares lows of 2 to 5 points appeared in Air Reduction, American Water Works, American Tobacco, Auburn Auto, Bordens, Atchison, Chesapeake & Ohio, General Electric, Hudson, Johns-Manville, Nash, National Biscuit, Simmons and Underwood-Elliott. Union Tank Car dropped 10.

Commodity markets were inclined to sag. Wheat futures lost about 1½ cents on reports of large Russian offerings and in response to weakness at Liverpool. Corn sagged about ½ cent and cotton closed fractionally unchanged.

Foreign exchanges continued to decline, reflecting rumors of an early reduction of the Bank of England rate. Sterling sagged close to par. Cables were quoted at $4.87 3-16, off 3-16. The French franc slipped well below the outgoing gold point.

Wheat Market Nervous and Off at Close

CHICAGO, Jan. 7. (AP)—Despite assertions that menace from Russian exports is a myth circulated to obtain North American wheat cheap, the bugbear led to fresh price breaks today. Unexpected severe setbacks in Liverpool wheat quotations preceded downturns here, and the effect of the drop in values abroad was sharpened by indications that export business from North America was virtually at a standstill. Comment that the United States wheat visible supply is 100,000,000 bushels in excess of the average of the last five years acted as a weight on the market.

Chicago closing prices for wheat were nervous, 1⅛ to 1⅜c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅜ to ½@⅝c down, oats unchanged to ⅛c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

Although something of a rally in Chicago wheat prices took place near the end of the day, sellers were yet in a majority at the finish. Late buying, however, was reported as being largely on the basis that sellers had over-reached themselves, and that recoveries were in order. Meanwhile the market here, overwhelmed by a rush of selling from future delivery holders and from speculators, dropped to the lowest level reached since before the Christmas holidays.

Accelerating the downward momentum of the wheat market here were predictions current that Europe would not in the near future take a great deal more wheat from world's markets than at present.

Corn and oats were easier mainly as a result of wheat weakness.

Provisions averaged lower most of the time with grain and hogs, but responded well to scattered buying at the last.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: Iron and steel demand is showing moderate improvement although still characterized as slow. Optimism is teeming on the outlook for the spring months. Quotations, while little changed, however, lack strength, although iron and steel scrap is turning upward.

Releases on automotive steel are more numerous than in a number of weeks but tonnages involved are not large. Automobile producers want quick delivery and apparently are awaiting the verdict of the January shows before laying down high production schedules. Automotive demand is far below the level of one year ago. Autobody sheets appear to be settling to $3.80, Pittsburgh, on sales of large tonnages although $4 still holds on.

Steel mill operating rates are being boosted in the various producing districts.

London spot closed dull and 3-16d lower at 7 9-16d, while the spot position in Singapore rose ⅛d to 7⅝d. Outside spot in the local market here declined ⅛c to 15⅝c.

CONTINENTAL ILLINOIS COMPANY . CAPITAL $20,000,000

The capital stock of this Company is owned by the stockholders of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company

How will you Invest your money... in 1930?

Will you be able to make the most of the opportunities that exist now . . . today?

AFTER a long period of strongly advancing prices, attractive common stock investments became increasingly scarce. The October collapse changed the situation, and again opportunities are present. Money will be made by investors, however, to just the degree that they are able to pick out the securities of progressing companies in progressing industries.

Upgrade companies for 1930 investments

American prosperity will never be shared by all equally or be consistently distributed. What are the industries that will offer the most attractive investments from now on? Radio? Aviation? Motion Pictures? or what?

Probably you will buy securities not many days or weeks from now. How will you select them? How will you know that your money will be bringing in as high an income as you can get without in any way sacrificing safety?

Opportunities exist, but they are usually hard to discover sufficiently far in advance to make the most of them. It is particularly hard for an individual, who does not have the time to sift out from the hundreds of possibilities, the much smaller number of probabilities. This sifting out of desirable investment opportunities is our sole business and has been for a quarter of a century.

Before any conclusions are reached, experience, time, statistical information, forward-looking group judgment are called on. Does it not seem reasonable that decisions arrived at on such a basis can help to make your investments successful?

THE PURPOSE OF BROOKMIRE SERVICE
(1) to eliminate doubtful and precarious securities from consideration—
(2) to analyze thoroughly sound investment possibilities—
(3) to select from these a still smaller number that seem to possess outstanding merit—
(4) to recommend the purchase of a still smaller number that the most thorough investigation indicates are the most attractive.

An Investment Forecast for 1930

We have just published a special report that looks ahead into the next six months. It outlines the probable trend of American business, discusses the investment outlook, comments on individual industries and securities of companies in those industries. Most important, it states clearly, what, in our judgment, should be the policy of the investor who intends to take full advantage of the opportunities that exist today.

We will be glad to send a complimentary copy at your request. Mail the coupon and it will be forwarded to you by return mail.

He will talk on the manuscripts and folios he has gathered together since he took up his hobby.

MARRIAGES INCREASE DURING PAST YEAR

SANTA ANA, Jan. 7.—As a matrimonial year, 1929 forged ahead of 1928 and regained some of the ground lost by the marriage law of 1927, which sent some of the couples out of the State to wed rather than wait three days for their marriage license, it was shown, today when County Clerk J. M. Backs reported 3869 marriage licenses issued in 1929, as compared with 3548 in 1928. The increase was 321.

The month of December, 1929, had 310 as compared with 292 for 1928.

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

The possibility of deep production from the Rosecrans field was emphasized yesterday when the Barnsdall Oil Company drilled out the cement plug and made a water shut-off test in its Trust No. 1 well, west of the O'Dea lease.

While the swab was being run the well built up considerable gas pressure and threatened for a time to get beyond control. The fluid was full of oil and indications generally hinted of substantial production. It was reported last night that a satisfactory water shut-off had been secured, and that the well will drill ahead.

It is expected that if the gas pressure can be held down the company will proceed into the oil sand for some little distance before attempting to put the well on production. The test is interesting for the reason that another company drilled the lease for shallower production and finally quitclaimed it.

Yesterday Barnsdall reported having cleaned out the sand from its Hazelton No. 1 well on Maricopa [illegible], since when the well has been flowing at the rate of 2400 barrels per day. Rig is ready for Hazelton No. 2.

Deeper Flank Well

That the south flank of the Ventura-avenue field will have a test drilled to a depth of perhaps 8000 feet in an effort to develop profitable production is indicated by the report that the Penn-Kan Oil Company is going back into its Foster No. 1, most southerly project in the field, and carry it down from 7125 feet.

This well, which always has been considered rather far out, is said to have developed some promising showings below 5000 feet. Two or three formations were picked up which seemed to indicate success, but as the hole progressed to 7125 feet, then it developed water troubles that have resisted all efforts at correction.

Within the past few days, according to field reports, the company has made an arrangement with a new drilling organization to redrill the last few hundred feet of hole and set larger casing in the last 600 feet of hole. It is the intention to drill much deeper than the present depth of the hole.

Old Field Activity

Drilling activities are reviving somewhat in the old Huntington Beach field. The Richfield Oil Company has just spudded in two new wells there, on the Heaston and Arnold holdings. The latter is on the Dieter-Colby lease, where the company recently completed at [illegible] feet its Dieter-Colby No. 1, pumping 165 barrels. The new Heaston well offsets the Dieter-Colby producer.

Pumping eight hours a day, Richfield's Bordeen well is putting out [illegible] barrels, while its Paige well at Garfield and Westmoreland avenues, recently brought in on the [illegible], is flowing slowly and eliminating sand from its output.

The Rex Oil Company is rigging up with heavy drilling equipment its Field No. 2. If a satisfactory well is not developed in the Ashton sand at 5180 feet, Rex intends to go to a deeper sand. Rex now has twelve wells pumping from the [illegible] Ashton sands in the Garfield [illegible].

The Standard Oil Company had [illegible] job in Thompson No. 11, on the east side of the field near [illegible] and Quincy streets, and is [illegible] the hole.

Activity Near Goleta

The General Petroleum Corporation is drilling five wells on the beach in front of the John F. More ranch, six miles west of Santa Barbara, while More No. 2, the tideland well directly back from the beach, on the bluff, is going ahead slowly, with heavy mud to control the tremendous gas pressure which was found in the More No. 1.

On three permits adjoining the General Petroleum holdings, the Elwood Exploration Company, which has one well producing on the tideland at Elwood, is drilling three other beach projects, known as State Permits No. 141, No. 142 and No. 143, held, respectively, by Dorothy Vaughn Main, J. C. Main and [illegible] Bishop.

In Goleta slough, which lies just to the north, the Macmillan interests are preparing to spud in a tideland well. Two other tideland operators are building derrick west of the Elwood Exploration Company's permits.

On the mainland leases just back from the slough, the Storke No. 1, being drilled by L. B. Tannehill, is being cemented at 3500 feet, while the Bishop No. 1 of the Petroleum Securities Company, west of the slough, on Goleta point, is drilling ahead below 4300 feet. Activity in the Elwood coastal field is almost at a standstill, more than [illegible] workmen having been laid off by the major companies during the last ten days.

[illegible] Strings Busy

The Shell Oil Company has fourteen strings of tools at work in the Ventura-avenue field. It has just completed the Taylor No. 43 well, on the west side of the river, for a daily output of 1500 barrels, at [illegible] feet.

One of the interesting wells now drilling is the Taylor-Lloyd No. 1 in the northwest corner of the field. This is a semiwildcat, west of the river and diagonally northwest from the [illegible] Chica leases. It is now down [illegible] feet and is said to have developed absolutely nothing.

There is strong probability that the company will not take the hole much farther, although it is said that it might ultimately pick up the lower sand of the field at considerable depth. On the north flank the dip of the structure shows a plunge of at least 45 deg., so the well might have to go 8000 to 9000 feet to find oil sand, if the formation extends out that far.

Yesterday Shell completed its G. H. B. No. 20 well at Santa Fe Springs, for an output of 800 barrels, at [illegible] feet. This project is on the north side of the field and on the northeast corner of the property. New wells on the north rim are apparently not so productive as those in other parts of the field.

Stepping Up Delivery

The Milham Exploration Company is this week stepping up its delivery of gas from the Buttonwillow Ridge field to a point between [illegible] and 20,000,000 cubic feet a day, as against 7,000,000 cubic feet a day delivered since the 2nd inst.

The company is also delivering somewhere near 10,000,000 cubic feet a day from its Elliott No. 1 well at Kettleman Hills. The supply from both fields goes to the Pacific Gas and Electric Company for delivery at San Jose. The company is now taking approximately 60,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day through its sixteen-inch line that taps Kettleman Hills and Buttonwillow Ridge. Part of its supply is taken from other operating companies at Kettleman Hills.

Seacliff Recompletion

By deepening an old well a matter of 250 feet the General Petroleum Corporation yesterday recompleted its Tomson No. 2 at Seacliff for 900 barrels a day.

This well was a fair pumper at 2900 to 3000 feet, but was playing out, so the company took it down to 3267 feet, where it began flowing yesterday. It is situated on the east side of the Southern Pacific right of way and up toward the hills.

General completed two wells at Santa Fe Springs yesterday, which added about 6600 barrels to its daily output. The E. G. B. No. 101-C up in the townlot area was finished at 8078 feet, where it began yielding at the rate of 4100 barrels. The Hill-Midway No. 104 at the corner of Butler Road and Clark street, was finished at 8050 feet for a daily output of 2135 barrels, with a cut of 1 per cent.

Swabbing for Production

The possibility of a new well today or tomorrow in the Ventura-avenue field was indicated by the fact that the Pacific Western Oil Company yesterday was swabbing for production in its Espee-Willett No. 1, at 6468 feet.

This well was drilled on a combination of Willett property and Southern Pacific right of way, on the southern flank of the field, directly east of the old Orton lease which Pacific Western acquired, along with the Willett lease, when it took over a group of properties which originally were developed by the Doheny interests.

Marloth has devoted three years to the study of citrus in California, working principally from the Riverside Citrus Experiment Station. Marloth was sent to the United States by his home government. On his return he will be employed in citriculture work for South Africa for two years.

BURGLARS VISIT HOME OF RANCHER

TUSTIN, Jan. 7.—Gaining entrance to the W. S. Thompson home last night burglars stole a cameo stickpin worth $100, a red fox fur valued at $150 and a pistol. The Sheriff's office is today making an investigation of the case.

Thompson, wealthy orange grower, reported that the thieves entered by means of a pass key while members of the family were away from home.

GREAT COMMANDERS WERE POOR SHOTS

The great Napoleon, being economically minded, would have been gratified to know that his "fowling piece" brought $1900 second-hand at a recent sale in Paris.

Bonaparte, educated as an artilleryman, was a "big gun" man in his military attitude, and depended largely on his artillery and cavalry sabres to win glory. As a handler of small arms he was a true artilleryman.

The Little Corporal was a poor shot and sport did not appeal to him, perhaps for that reason. Students of the intimate details of his life recall that on one of the few occasions he went gunning for game his entire bag consisted of his favorite dog.

His great adversary, the Duke of Wellington, was no better. Lady Shelley, in her memoirs, describing a hunting with him, says:

"The hero of Waterloo was a very wild shot. After wounding a retriever and peppering a keeper's gaiters, he sprinkled the bare arms of an old woman washing clothes at her cottage window."

According to physicians she will recover.

NEGRO WIFE BEGINS SUIT AGAINST KIP

She Declares Divorce Given Rhinelander in Reno Not Binding

WHITE PLAINS (N. Y.) Jan. 7. (AP)—The first legal step in the renewed effort of Alice Jones Rhinelander, daughter of a negro cab driver, to obtain a separation in New York State from Leonard Kip Rhinelander, member of an old Knickerbocker family, was taken tonight.

Mrs. Rhinelander's attorney, W. D. Cunningham, mailed an application to Justice Morschauser of the State Supreme Court for permission to serve Rhinelander, by letter and publication, with notice of the suit.

Rhinelander, who is reported to be now in Las Vegas, Nev., obtained a divorce there from Mrs. Rhinelander on December 27. Her counsel contends this divorce is not legal in New York.

Mrs. Rhinelander placed papers in a separation suit in the hands of the Sheriff here in December, 1927, but the suit was postponed, her attorney said, because Rhinelander had voluntarily increased his wife's allowance from $300 to $400 a month.

Phoenix Holds Murder Suspect from Arkansas

PHOENIX, Jan. 7. (AP)—Phoenix police tonight believe they have solved the mystery surrounding the death December 11 of Miss Lena Waugh at Little Rock, Ark., in the arrest here of William D. Walker, 32-year-old Wynne (Ark.) clerk.

Walker has waived extradition and is being held here awaiting the arrival of Little Rock officers. He was held for investigation after he had attempted to dispose of a late model automobile, said to have belonged to Miss Waugh, to an automobile dealer here for $100.

Miss Waugh's body, bearing three bullet wounds and with the head badly beaten, was positively identified the 5th inst. by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Waugh of Batesville, Ark. Prior to that time the body had been identified erroneously three times and two arrests made, both men later being released.

Althougt Walker admitted he had been with Miss Waugh a short time before her disappearance he stoutly denied any knowledge of her murder. He said Miss Waugh had turned the automobile over to him, saying she was unable to keep up the payments.

Public Lands Laws Revision to Be Speeded

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—Representative Englebright of Nevada City, Cal., member of the House Committee on Public Lands, was appointed a member of a subcommittee formed today to work out a program of weeding out obsolete public land laws and revising others. Other members of the committee are: Representatives Colton of Utah, chairman, and Hooper, of Michigan, Republicans, and Hare of South Carolina, and Fuller of Arkansas, Democrats.

Although the House committee on the revision of law is charged with working out an up-to-date system of public land laws the public lands committee is not satisfied in its own mind on the jurisdiction of the revision committee and is in a manner of speaking, "beating the latter to the draw."

Cubans Award Medal to Byrd

HAVANA, Jan. 7. (AP)—Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd has been selected by the Cuban National Geographic Society as the outstanding figure in scientific geographic achievements last year and has been granted the grand medal of the society.

Radio advices to this effect were sent Rear-Admiral Byrd today.

KING TAKES CHARGE OF HEN QUESTION

"What's up, what's up?" demanded the wisest of kings, as he sat upon his throne to administer the morning's justice.

"The windows are up, your majesty, but—" began the court bouncer.

"No levity, jackal," rebuked the king, adjusting his crown and tilting it slightly over his right eye. "What's the matter?" For of a truth, there was a grievous commotion in and about the prisoners' stall, two old men tearing at each other's beard and hair.

"Most wisest of kings," began the tall, skinny one, "this shriveled-up, withered, leathern-visaged piece of pickled tripe named Tish hath stolen my hen—my hard-working hen, who doth lay me four eggs a day and sometimes when I place a torch in her coop at night, five; eggs of a goodly size and brown, and here I was saving up the eggs to dye for Easter;" he wailed, with shoulders shaking in sinile sobs.

"She's my hen!" shrieked the other old man, "and that wrinkled old whelp of a—"

"Bring forth the hen! I'll see who she belongs to," promised the king.

The hen was brought in and behold, three eggs lay in the nest.

"Both you old geezers go home and I'll decide which of us the hen be—"

"Us???" they both cried, aloud.

But court had adjourned and it hath been said by the chief butler of the palace that the king from that time on had freshly laid eggs for breakfast for many a year, and that the eggs were of a goodly size, and brown.—[Detroit Free Press.

SPEEDIER CARGO HANDLING PENDS

New Quarantine Regulation Movement Afoot

Night Inspection of Foreign Vessels Planned

Immigration Staff Increase Also on Calendar

BY WALDO DRAKE

Night quarantine inspection of vessels at Los Angeles Harbor will be asked of the United States Public Health Service by port shipping interests following a conference today by the executive committee of the Marine Service Bureau, it was announced yesterday by Edwin Nichols, manager.

The extended service is being requested as a measure of speeding up cargo handling and turn-around of all vessels calling here in foreign trade. It would provide for inspection of all vessels arriving from foreign ports until 11 p.m. each day as against a closing hour of sunset for regular boarding at present, extended to 8 p.m. in special instances.

Under the present system vessels arriving from foreign ports during the night must wait until sunrise before being inspected, causing costly delay and overtaxing the facilities of the present quarantine staff.

Local shipping interests likewise fail to derive full benefit from the recent reciprocal agreement exempting foreign-trade vessels arriving from Canadian ports from quarantine provided they have already passed an American inspection. This is because immigration officials do not board vessels under this special category after 8 p.m., present deadline for Public Health Service inspection.

A movement is also under way in the local shipping industry to have the United States Department of Labor designate a commissioner of immigration as essential at Los Angeles Harbor. Shipping leaders declared yesterday that the increasing number of ship lines in foreign trade calling here, with resultant growth of immigration details, soon will require a material increase in immigration personnel.

HAMBURG CARRIER SETS SAILING MARK

Hamburg-American Line's motorship Portland came in from Hamburg yesterday after having established a new speed record for the European-Pacific trade. With Capt. Heinrich Kilp in command, the Portland negotiated the 2930 miles from Balboa to Los Angeles Harbor in eight days and eight hours, an average of 14.25 knots.

The Portland had nineteen cabin passengers for this port, including Count Dr. Stefan Von Lichtenhof, judge of the High Court of Hungary; Dr. Robert Majer of Berlin, and Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Barker, completing a lengthy European tour. For local discharge the Portland brought in 9600 stems of bananas from the canal and 2800 tons of chemicals, fruits and glass from Hamburg and Antwerp.

Winona, the veteran 160-foot steel steam yacht recently purchased by H. W. Goodall from the Navy Department, is in the final stage of her $110,000 reconditioning at the William Muller shipyards, Wilmington. The Winona, which sank a German submarine in the Mediterranean during the World War as a naval auxiliary, is being shifted from coal to oil-burning and all decks and interior fittings are being replaced.

The United States Lighthouse Service has asked for bids for establishment of a light on Anacapa Island, long considered a menace to coastwise navigation in thick weather.

New directors were elected yesterday at the annual stockholders' meeting of the H-10 Water Taxi Company. They are John W. Carrigan, chairman; Robert W. Benson, Ernest W. Bartell, William J. Truscott and George W. Sands. The company, now operating a uniform fleet of eighteen fast boats, did a gross business of approximately $200,000 during 1929. Company officers will be named at the directors' meeting to be held on February 5.

The British Molasses Company tanker Athelqueen sailed yesterday for the Orient with a crude-oil cargo on the first lap of her around-the-world cruise. From the Chinese oil port she goes in ballast to Java, loads molasses for England, back to Java in ballast, loads molasses for New Orleans, then comes back here to load petroleum again for the Orient.

Thirty-five hundred roller canaries and love birds came in from Germany on the North German Lloyd motorship Havel yesterday, consigned to the J. C. Edwards bird store in Los Angeles. The vessel is discharging 2400 tons of pipe and general of 5000 tons for the coast; also disembarking two of her nine passengers. Capt. Kampen reported encountering hurricane weather in the English Channel, scores of vessels being in distress. A sister ship of the Havel, the Trave, now plying between Germany and the Orient, will arrive here March 3, to give the line six vessels in the Pacific-European run.

Pacific Shipper publishes a report that Knohr and Burchard, shipowners of Hamburg, have advised the Vancouver Board of Trade that they are considering the establishment of a service between the Pacific Coast of United States and Central America, South America and the West Indies, operating four steamers of 4400 tons deadweight each. The report was declared unconfirmed.

Risk Declared Too Great as Combers Continue

Heavy seas running before a [illegible] northwest wind, which at times sent thirty-foot combers along the ocean surface halted the search yesterday for five bodies in the two wrecked Fox Film motion-picture planes off Point Vicente.

Search on the ocean floor for the remaining members of a party of eight film employees and two pilots who were dashed to their death in a mid-air collision last Thursday will be resumed when the storm abates.

Decision to delay the search was made yesterday morning when Robert E. Gardner, chief salvage master for the Merritt, Chapman Scott Corporation, visited the spot 100 yards off-shore where the fuselage of one of the planes is lying in sixty feet of water.

DANGEROUS TASK

"Attempts to raise the wreckage and to recover the missing bodies will not be resumed until the weather moderates," Gardner said. "It may be as late as Friday before we consider it safe to send divers along the bottom to attach lines. Our diver, Smale, who found the bodies of Kenneth Hawks and Thomas Harris after battling the seas Monday, risked his life in the effort. If the weather clears and the storm abates we will go out Wednesday. Our future activities depend entirely on the condition of the sea as we will not endanger again the lives of our men."

The heavy running seas may prevent the finding of the five bodies, and also the raising of the second plane, according to the expressed belief of the salvage corporation officials. A stationary buoy marks the spot where the second plane was located by mine sweepers two days ago, but the heavy undertow in the 300-foot water may have moved the wreckage and carried it farther out in deeper water. The movement of the battered fuselage also may have released the bodies of Ben Cooke, pilot, and Henry Johannes, property man.

PLANE DISCLOSED

The work of raising the wreckage of the plane near the shore will be completed before attempts are made to salvage the one in deeper water, according to Gardner.

The bodies of George Eastman, cameraman, Hallock Rouse, pilot, and Otto Jordan, cameraman, are believed in the wreckage examined Monday by Diver Smale. Smale was unable to definitely determine the whereabouts of additional bodies after he sent to the surface Hawks and Harris. He holds the belief, however, that there may be other bodies in the mangled plane.

A coroner's inquest will be conducted by Coroner Nance today at 9:30 a.m., it is announced. None of the bodies are held at the County Morgue and the main witnesses to be heard are officials of the Fox Film Studio, relatives of the dead, and investigating authorities.

TWO FUNERALS TODAY

Private funeral service for Kenneth Hawks, director, will be conducted today noon at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Cemetery. The body was taken to the Turner & Stevens funeral parlors in Pasadena from the Venice Morgue. Funeral and burial arrangements were under the supervision of William and Howard Hawks, brothers of the dead film director.

Funeral service for Thomas Harris, property man, will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. today at the W. M. Strother funeral chapel, 6240 Hollywood Boulevard. The body will be shipped to Oklahoma City, Okla., the home of the deceased, for interment.

Ben Cooke does not leave a widow, as previously announced, it was made known by Fox officials. He was unmarried, and his mother, Mrs. [illegible] Cooke, resides at 337 [illegible] Drive, Beverly Hills. Other survivors are a brother, Clinton, and two sisters, Mrs. Cornelia Brady and Mrs. [illegible] Cohn, all of Los Angeles.

British Colonel, Visitor Here, Denounces Methods at Ellis Island

American immigration methods are sorely in need of revision, according to Col. H. Constable Hall, retired British Army officer, who was in port yesterday on his way around the world aboard the Dollar liner President Harrison. Col. Hall recounted an experience at Ellis Island.

COL. H. CONSTABLE HALL

"Your immigration officials, it appears to me, should be schooled in the fact that the human element enters into all lines of endeavor," said Col. Hall. "At New York I was detained over the week-end, given no opportunity to explain my status or even to telephone the British Consul, simply because the American Consul in London had told me that a vise on my passport was unnecessary for a passenger in transit. It was only through the splendid efforts of the Dollar Line that I was permitted to resume my voyage."

Col. Hall has had a long and distinguished record in the British Army.

Increase Shown in City's Funds

City Controller Myers yesterday submitted to the City Council a detailed statement of the moneys accruing to the city from taxes and minor funds for the fiscal years 1928-29 and 1929-30.

The total for 1929-30 is $16,492,213.85, and for 1928-29 is $16,070,364.39, showing an advance during the year of $421,849.46.

STOP PLANNED BY ORTIZ RUBIO

President-elect Will Reach Here Saturday Morning

Less Than Two Hours to be Spent in This City

Mexican Party Then Will Go Direct to San Diego

President-elect Pascual Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, who will take office next spring, will arrive in Los Angeles Saturday at 7:45 a.m., via the Santa Fe Railroad. He will leave at 9:30 a.m. by the same line for San Diego.

President Crandall of the Chamber of Commerce and Mexican Consul Pesqueira will lead a delegation of Angelenos who will meet the Mexican official at the train and entertain him until his departure, one hour and forty-five minutes later.

DESIRES TO BE RESPECTED

Clarence H. Matson, of the chamber's foreign trade department, who is making arrangements for the reception, has telegraphed to the coming party to learn the wishes or Senor Ortiz Rubio concerning his brief stay here and will make arrangements accordingly.

It is believed the party includes Senor De Ortiz Rubio and three of their children who have been with the distinguished senor since the party left Mexico, December 3, last, for this country. Possibly the party includes Gen. Manuel Perez Trevino, former Governor of Coahuila, chief of staff under the late Gen. Obregon, and now head of the Revolutionary party inMexico. The general was in the party when it left Mexico.

FETED BY HOOVER

The President-elect visited Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, and took treatments there on the conclusion of his strenuous campaign. He visited Washington where he was entertained by President Hoover and many high national officials. His westward tour included Detroit, Chicago and Kansas City. He is coming here from the Grand Canyon.

If it may be arranged, Senor Ortiz Rubio will be entertained at breakfast while here.

ORTIZ RUBIO UNDISMAYED BY KANSAS CITY SLEET

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 7. (AP)—After a motor-car drive about Kansas City on streets covered with heavy sleet, President-elect Pascual Ortiz Rubio of Mexico today continued his tour of the United States by entraining with his party, for Los Angeles and San Diego. He seemed undismayed by the near-zero temperatures.

Although it was announced that few formal functions had been arranged here for the President-elect he was kept busy by luncheons, banquets, sight-seeing tours and a rally last night by Mexican residents.

The honored guest spoke briefly at the rally, bidding his audience to "come home."

"It is my hope," he said, "that you have not left forever. I know that many of you have been driven out by economic troubles and religious troubles, by war and oppression, but I come to tell you that that time is over.

"You who have learned trades and professions, who have gained knowledge of American farming and who have won the wherewithal to buy tools and implements, you, more than all, are valuable to Mexico," he said.

Shrine's Circus to Open Season

The opening of the Shrine hippodrome circus February 1 at the Shrine Civic Auditorium will mark the beginning of the new year's social, musical and dramatic season, according to a report made by Shrine officials yesterday.

Los Angeles has in the Shrine Civic Auditorium the largest theater in the world. It is estimated that 115,000 spectators will be accommodated during the circus season in the spacious building, owing to the fact that the auditorium has a seating capacity of 6500. Al Malaikah Temple is the fifth largest Shrine organization in the nation.

PRINTS WILL BE TOPIC

Mrs. Andrew Stewart Lobingier will lecture on old Japanese prints in the lecture room at the Central Public Library, 530 South Hope street today at 4 p.m. This lecture will be descriptive of the fine prints now on exhibit at the library. Mrs. Lobingier is a collector of prints.

CITRUS SMUDGE BURNERS FIRED

Temperatures Drop to Near Freezing Point

No Alarm Felt But Growers Take Precaution

Cool and Fair Weather in Forecast Today

Temperatures near the freezing point late last night and early this morning caused orchardists throughout the citrus sections of Southern California to gather all available help in an effort to prevent by smudging any damage to the fruit. There was no alarm as to the cold seriously injuring the oranges and lemons but strict precautionary measures were being taken.

Frost warnings had been sent out earlier by the Weather Bureau to all districts as Monday night's rainstorm moved inland over Arizona, taking with it apparently any further chance for more rain locally within the next few days.

SMUDGING BEGINS

Smudging for the first time this year was started shortly before midnight in the Santa Ana district. It was explained as a precautionary measure as the temperature at midnight was 34 deg. Tustin reported 35 deg., Garden Grove, 36, and West Orange 34 at midnight. Ranchers expected the coldest morning of the year just before dawn today and were anticipating a low of 28 deg.

Somewhat colder readings were reported at midnight from the Riverside section. At Riverside 32 deg. was announced. Moreno, fifteen miles east, reported a reading of 28 deg. before midnight and requested that additional oil be hurried to the ranches, where pots were glowing. Sunrise was the coldest spot early in the night, with a temperature of 25 deg., with firing under way.

Growers in this district, however, were not apprehensive of any freeze, and said that the fruit is so well matured at this season that it can stand a two-hour temperature of 26 deg. without damage.

WET GROUND PROTECTS

The Pomona district was somewhat warmer, reporting 34 deg. at midnight, with indications of no lighting of heaters unless for a very short time just before daylight. The wet ground was given by some ranchers as forming a protection from the expected cold. Tonight will be the dangerous period in the Pomona section, according to the ranchers.

The thermometer stood at 30 deg. in San Bernardino at midnight, at Redlands, 30 deg. and Rialto, 29 deg. Dr. A. W. Cook, government frost expert, reported that he expected a low of 27 to 28 deg. early this morning. All plans have been made to warn growers should a sudden drop occur, and preliminary instructions have been issued to fire the smudge pots at 27 deg.

DROP ANTICIPATED

At midnight E. S. Ellison, government frost expert at Santa Paula, said that the temperature at that hour through Santa Clara Valley was generally at 29 deg. He said the growers were anticipating a further drop during the morning hours and believed that the smudge pots will be in action at daylight today.

F. D. Young, Federal frost expert at Pomona, announced that temperatures as low as 25 and 26 deg. might be expected in some of the sections of the citrus districts during the early morning hours.

SMUDGING TO BE GENERAL

"There will be some firing over the entire district around 3 a.m.," Young said last night. "The average temperature both on the high and low grounds will be approximately 27 deg. In some places it may go as low as 25 or 26. Smudges will be started in both lemon and orange groves. The low temperature seems to be rather general over the entire citrus area, but it is nothing unusual. The condition is just the nominal one anticipated every year, and the weather is nothing out of the ordinary for this period. Heaters are usually not started until the temperature drops to 26 deg."

Growers in the Whittier district, where a temperature of 32 deg. was reported at 10 p.m. last night, with a forecast for 28 deg. before daylight and colder tonight, were prepared to start firing when the early morning hours brought the lowering temperature.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

VAUDEVILLE is spitting back at the movies by hiring James Gleason and fras away from the studio—"at one of the highest salaries ever paid."

If vaudeville had hired a few Gleasons during the past few years they would not now be compelled to throw out life lines in the way "of the highest salaries ever paid."

The iron-faced women, dating back to prehistoric times; common vulgarians among the men—ham actors, screeching soubrettes; subnormal half-wits doing "repartee;" the beefy athletes who—to everyone's disappointment—never got killed; "girl acts," recruited from the New York East Side—vaudeville got to be a painful experience.

It will require heroic treatment to restore its breathing apparatus.

DRESSING THEM UP

An Associated Press writer wise cracks to the effect that Gen. Summerall thinks that soldiers cannot fight unless they are dressed up. It wasn't such a funny crack, and it shows that the writer knows less than nothing about troops.

It is absolutely necessary for the pride and elan of an army that it be dressed up. If you reduce soldiering to a simple matter of business, then you are lost before you start—because it isn't a good business. There is nothing "practical" about the idea of getting killed in battle.

On account of the shabby, dull uniforms they wear, ours is virtually an army in overalls. See them at a formal dinner and our army officers make a moth-like showing compared with the splendor of the Marine Corps uniforms.

BUNKING THE PUBLIC

The wife of Mickey Walker, the boxer, wants a divorce because, in a drunken frenzy, her husband tore the door off the ice box. The next time Mickey has a prize fight I would like to trade my ringside seat for a ticket which would entitle me to see him tear the door off the ice box. Certainly his fights in the ring show about as much frenzy as a sick kitten. After the miserable farce that he and Ace Hudkins put on, Mickey could permanently be excused from fighting again in California.

IS SHE KIDDING US?

"In a remote future she (Hon. Mrs. Alfred Lyttleton) felt that some of the great English-speaking dominions will become as powerful as America today."

Is the Hon. Mrs. Lyttleton just kidding us—or herself? Or as British delegate to the Institute of Pacific Relations does she have to hand a little taffy to the sovereign voter at home?

She is a brilliant and justly honored woman; but her remarks printed in The Times sounded like a Congressman's speeches in the Congressional Record.

Which one of the British dominions does she see as the giant which is to overtower the United States—Africa, with its ticks and frightful climate; Australia with its deserts, or Canada? Perhaps she is thinking of the British island of Nassau, where they find sponges and bootleggers.

CAR LINE TO RAISE WAGES

Annual Increase of $500,000 and Ordering of Many New Vehicles to Follow Fare Victory

A $500,000-a-year wage increase for employees of the Los Angeles Street Railway Corporation probably will be the first step taken by the corporation to improve its condition now that litigation over its new 7-cent carfare is at an end, it was learned yesterday from Vice-President Crowe. Capital outlay this year for additions and betterments, he said, will amount to about $1,500,000 under a program being formulated.

"We have been in conference all day," Crowe said, "working out the wage increases and will continue the work today and until we have finished. That will be the first thing.

NEW CARS PLANNED

"We are preparing to call within a few days for bids on new cars to be provided in twenty-five and fifty-car lots. It will take nearly eleven months to get them. Meanwhile we will take up with the Board of Public Utilities extensions of lines and services and work out that program wtih city officials."

The 7-cent fare, it has been estimated in a preliminary way, is expected to yield the company approximately $2,000,000 or more this year above what it would have obtained under the old 5-cent fare. Extensions of lines and services, new cars and busses and other improvements are contemplated.

LAST REPORT CITED

The railway's last official report to the State Railroad Commission shows 4552 employees of whom 2536, mostly conductors and motormen, are in the transportation division. Wages aggregated in the twelve months $6,965,856. In that period, operating revenue amounted to $13,175,162, operating expenses $11,002,-

FEDERATION PICKS DENMAN

Civic Leader Chosen Head of Better America Unit; Reports Reveal Progress of Work

A. C. Denman, Jr., steel manufacturer and civic leader in Los Angeles for nearly twenty years, yesterday was elected president of the Los Angeles county unit of the Better America Federation.

Denman succeeds Harry M. Haldeman, one of the founders of the federation and elected its president for the past ten years. Haldeman is known throughout Southern California for his interest in public welfare.

A. C. Denman, Jr.

The new president, in addition to other activities, has been a member of the manufacturers' committee of the Chamber of Commerce for the past seventeen years. During 1920-1921 he served as a city Fire Commissioner. He was first vice-president of the Better America Federation last year and was considered the logical man to carry on that organization's program of promoting better citizenship.

OTHERS ELECTED

The election of Denman took place at a meeting of the board of directors in its downtown offices. In addition to a president, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

S. Hazard Halsted, Pasadena business man, first vice-president; Brook Hawkins, vice-president and treasurer of the Winter Construction Company, second vice-president, and F. O. Johnson, capitalist, treasurer.

Directors elected are A. V. Andrews, William R. Baker, Warren B. Bovard, Chester W. Brown, E.

COUNCIL TO SEE BELL AREA

Trip This Afternoon Will be Prelude to Hearing Set for Tomorrow on Quarry Scheme

Members of the City Council this afternoon will visit the residential territory adjacent to the site of Alphonzo Bell's proposed cement rock quarry and slurry mill in the Santa Monica Mountains. Tomorrow Council will take up the Bell application at a public hearing which will be limited as to time of argument. The City Planning Commission already has voted by a 3-to-2 count to grant the permit.

The Councilmen will be the guests of the Pacific Palisades Protective Committee, which vigorously has opposed Bell's scheme to establish a heavy manufacturing business in the heart of one of the most beautiful residential sections of Southern California. A bus will leave the City Hall at 1 p.m. and will visit various sections of West Los Angeles, particularly spots adjacent to Santa Ynez Canyon where the Bell site is located.

There will be no horseback riding or walking and it is understood that no effort will be made to inspect the Bell tract. Castellammare, the Miramar Estates, the Pacific Palisades and other high-class residential sections, including parts of Westwood will be visited in order to give the Councilmen an idea of the territory and class of homes that surround the proposed quarry site.

The case has been before the City Planning Commission and now the Council for a period of almost eleven months. The hearing before the City Planning Commission lasted nearly nine months. The Councilmen will consider two reports, the minority made by President Baker and Commissioner Miller of the City Planning Commission and the majority report signed by Commissioners Thomas, Danbirg and Farwell.

POWER BATTLE STARTED AGAIN

City Seeking Injunction to Restrain Corporation

Use of Certain Streets For Equipment Fought

Franchise Asserted to Have Expired in 1916

Efforts made by the city of Los Angeles to obtain a permanent injunction to restrain the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation from using certain streets for its equipment used to furnish power other than light to consumers were resumed yesterday before Superior Judge Collier. The hearing was begun last June. It was continued until yesterday, however, when Judge Collier was assigned to hear a water case at Santa Barbara.

According to the complaint of the city, the company's franchise permitting it to furnish power other than that for lighting purposes expired in 1916 and never was regranted. The city contends that the company now is using the streets unlawfully for its equipment.

The company, in its defense, contends that even though the franchise has expired the city had full knowledge of the fact and slept on its rights and that it now is estopped from defending any right it might have had in 1916 when the franchise expired.

The company holds that the city is estopped from taking any action for the reason that it has stood by since 1916 and silently acquiesced to affirmative acts of the light corporation. It holds that since the expiration of the franchise the power company has been compelled to furnish power to city governmental departments and to various of its consumers, also that it was forced to participate in a pole agreement between the city and the company.

The electric company also asserts that it has expended millions of dollars since 1916 for improvements and for extension of its service; that such improvements were made when the city had full knowledge of them and knew that they were being made to furnish power.

There are two phases to the action. One is the request of the city for an injunction to restrain the company from using the streets and the other is a plea for damages. It is the injunction feature that now is being presented. The damage phase will be heard later.

STATE HEARING ON GAS RATES GOES OVER

Determined to reach a conclusion in the State Railroad Commission's investigation into the rates and practices of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, hearings will be conducted every two weeks, beginning February 13, next, it was announced yesterday by Commissioner Carr. June 30 was set as a final dead line for submitting the case which the utility company's attorneys expect to present in refutation of commission engineers' charges that the utility's earnings in its gas department are excessive.

The adjourned hearing, set for yesterday, was continued by Commissioner Carr to the February date, following a conference between the commissioner, commission engineers and attorneys for the company.

It was announced that by that date the company will be in a position to present actual figures covering property valuation, operating costs, net earnings and other factors of its gas department for 1929. These figures, Herman Phleger, special counsel for the utility declared, will refute assertions of the commission's engineers that the company's earnings were excessive last year.

It was indicated by the company attorneys at that time, however, that no reduction in gas rates was contemplated by the utility and that, on the contrary, every effort would be made by its attorneys to combat the commission engineers' attempts to prove that its gas earnings are greatly in excess of the 7.50 per cent return on the investment which the commission regards as a fair earning for utilities of this class.

Addison B. Day, president of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation was present when yesterday's hearing was called by Commissioner Carr. It was indicated that, had the company's request for a continuance been denied, Mr. Day would have been placed on the stand to testify as to his company's earnings.

Pity the Poor Judge

SEVENTEEN flapper-type motion-picture actresses swarmed into Superior Judge McComb's courtroom yesterday and quite overwhelmed the good judge with what is sometimes known as pulchritude.

The girls were produced by the attorneys of the Fox Film Corporation, who were desirous of having the court approve their contracts, which they can not sign, being under 18 years of age.

According to the Fox representatives, the film corporation is increasing its chorus because of larger screens being used in the films, and of the sixty-four new girls being hired, seventeen of them were under 18 years of age.

WINE MAN HUNT SPURRED

Arrest at Plant Leads to Finding of Secret Door, Intensifying Baumgarteker Mystery

A secret sliding panel between the brandy and wine storerooms of the Western Grape Products Company, 278 North Avenue 19, yesterday supplied a new and puzzling element of mystery to the disappearance of Frank Baumgartcker, wealthy proprietor of the concern, who dropped from sight more than six weeks ago, and for whom a strenuous but unsuccessful search has been made since.

The panel hitherto unknown to Federal authorities or the police searching for the missing proprietor, was discovered when prohibition agents arrested Sam Demende, also known as Jack Demende, who is asserted to have been leaving the storehouse with 150 gallons of brandy on a truck.

Immediately on the arrest of Demende, Federal Prohibition Administrator Woods ordered the Baumgarteker winery seized for investigation, and the secret sliding panel came to light. The panel, according to the investigators, was used in transferring brandy to the wine rooms, so that it might be placed on trucks for distribution.

WINERY TO BE SEARCHED

As result of the disclosure of the unusual door, Administrator Woods has ordered a complete check on a Cucamonga winery in which Baumgarteker was interested with others. Police seeking the whereabouts of the wealthy wine maker have renewed interest in their search in the belief that other concealed rooms may be found to aid in locating the missing man.

As result of the arrest of Demende complaints were filed yesterday before United States Commissioner Head against Robert A. Demateis, Sam Demende, Joe Williams, Ambrogio Zaro and Alonzo Bertolino, charging conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. Demateis, a partner of Baumgarteker, appeared before Commissioner Head and supplied bail of $5000 and the remaining four gave bail of $1000 each for appearance to enter pleas on the 31st inst.

Coincident with the taking over of the Cucamonga winery by the Federal authorities, Mrs. Mary A. Baumgarteker, wife of the missing vineyardist, made application for a permit to operate the business in her own name.

LOAN RECOVERY SOUGHT

The formal application, which now is being considered by Administrator Wood, was made through Attorney S. S. Hahn, who is representing Mrs. Baumgarteker in legal matters incident to the disappearance of her husband. This includes a suit to recover approximately $80,000 loaned the company on notes.

It also was announced that the audit of the business affairs of Baumgarteker has been completed. It shows, according to Hahn, that the missing wine merchant has assets of $780,000, with outstanding liabilities of only $80,000.

In order to throw additional forces into the search Mrs. Baumgarteker will make formal demand on insurance companies for the payment of approximately $500,000 in life policies carried by her husband. The wife has not entirely given up hope of finding her husband alive, but feels that investigators for the insurance companies will become active in the hunt on her request for payments under the existing policies.

Two Policemen Reinstated and Another Ousted

Everett S. Gowling, who resigned from the police department five years ago following an argument with his division commander as to whether he was intoxicated while driving a police car, yesterday was restored to the police eligible list by the Police Commission at his request, following a hearing.

Attorney Paul Taylor produced evidence to show that Gowling is an efficient officer.

Eloy H. Segura, removed on the ground that he had failed to protect the property of a prisoner, consisting of two suitcases of clothing, was restored to duty and fined one month's pay.

The commission sustained the department's dismissal of Officer Carl W. Broyles after hearing testimony that he had made overtures to two women and that he had been drinking.

SCREEN COWBOY ON TRIAL TODAY

Art Acord Denies That He Attempted Escape

Bail Bondsmen Return Him from Arizona

ART ACORD

Art Acord, film cowboy, had no intention of evading trial when he left the city, he told Presiding Judge Turney of the Municipal Court yesterday, to whom he was surrendered by bail bondsmen who returned him from Nogales, Ariz., where they recently arrested him.

"I was broke and had a chance to make some money showing one of my films in Mexico," Acord told the court. "The bail bondsmen told me it would be all right to go to Mexico if I kept in touch with them and with the court."

Claire Eberhard, chief trial deputy city prosecutor, told the court that he believes Acord had no real intention of jumping his bail but was the victim of "some very bad legal advice." Judge Turney set aside the forfeiture of the actor's $500 bail and ordered him to appear before Municipal Judge Bogue today for trial on the liquor charges. He also instructed Eberhard to obtain affidavits from Acord and from August Nardoni, the bail bondsman, regarding the facts of the actor's departure from Los Angeles in order to determine whether contempt proceedings should be instituted.

Acord was arrested with Mrs. Marian Morrell in her apartment at 652 North Vermont avenue after Milton Moore, taxicab driver, complained that he had been thrown out of the apartment when he attempted to collect fare from them. The officers reported finding Acord with a bottle in each hand and several more in the apartment, according to Eberhard. Acord appeared for arraignment in Municipal Court, but was not in court at the time set for his trial.

Mrs. Morrell, recently convicted of liquor possession, appeared in Municipal Judge MacCoy's court yesterday for sentence, which was set over until the 13th inst. for hearing on her application for probation.

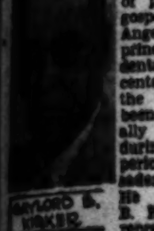
Growth of Exports by City Swelling, He Declares

BY CHARLES C. COHAN

From Tokio to Dairen, from Mukden to Hongkong and from Shanghai to Manila, throughout a far-reaching quarter of the world inhabited by teeming millions of people, the gospel of Los Angeles as the principal occidental export center for all the Orient has been energetically preached during a long period by a crusader of trade. He is Gaylord B. Kirker, trade representative of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, who has returned from a trade study in Japan, Manchuria, China and the Philippine Islands.



GAYLORD B. KIRKER

Mr. Kirker has brought back with him a fund of information of much value in the effort to further this city's export significance in trans-Pacific trade. He is the first to make such a wide swing around the Orient in behalf of the local organization's campaign.

In many sections of the Orient that he visited Mr Kirker found knowledge existing of this city's agriculture and horticultural importance, but lack of information as to its enormous importance as a manufacturing and shipping metropolis. These localities afforded the city's opportunity for valuable trade missionary work. He looks for an enormous expansion in our trade with the Orient, especially if continued progress is made in establishing contacts with that side of the Pacific.

EXTENSIVE FIELD

The possibilities of this port's export trade with the Orient are emphasized by the remarkable growth in the last three years of such trade with the countries visited by Mr. Kirker. The tonnage to Japan in the fiscal year ending in 1927 was 764,-[illegible] tons valued at $14,854,696. It increased in the next year to 1,164,-[illegible] tons valued at $16,808,411, and in the fiscal year ending in 1929 it was [illegible] tons valued at $21,994,157. The constantly increasing valuation in proportion of tonnage indicates a decided increase in the shipment from Los Angeles of manufactured products in proportion to shipments of petroleum products. For the other countries the climb in these same successive years was:

China, 88,878 tons valued at [illegible]; 370,843 tons, $10,348,850; [illegible] tons; $15,072,580; Manchuria, [illegible] tons, $40,251; 5847 tons, [illegible]; 20,[illegible] tons, $610,456; Philippine Islands, 188,029 tons, $2,969,069; [illegible] tons, $3,280,447; 148,577 tons, [illegible].

While this growth emphasizes the [illegible] of Los Angeles as one of the world's foremost export centers it not only is indicative of what is in store for it in this connection but presages that in the ensuing twenty-five years the Pacific will surpass the Atlantic as the world's trade center, Mr. Kirker believes.

JAPAN ADVANCING

Leaving here in February, 1928, Mr. Kirker went to Yokohama and [illegible] studied conditions in various parts of Japan. That country, foremost of our oriental customers, he [illegible] well along on the path of prosperity. The gold embargo there is to be lifted early this year and [illegible] may be a decided stimulus to [illegible], he says. Through Korea his journey led to Harbin, thence to Mukden, to Dairen and to Shanghai and other Chinese cities, and to the Philippines. He stopped in Japan en route home.

Governmental stabilization in China will be of enormous importance to this country's trade with the Orient, Mr. Kirker reports. The [illegible] government is esteemed the [illegible] since the revolution there and [illegible] the closest to unifying the [illegible], he says. It is in national [illegible] that China's best hope [illegible], he believes.

Conditions in the Philippines [illegible] be much improved, says Mr. [illegible], if there were a definite [illegible] laid down regarding American [illegible] for a future span of [illegible]. He does not consider the [illegible] ready for independence and does not believe that many of the [illegible] natives want it. Much [illegible] would be invested there if the agitation for independence were out of the way, he [illegible].

Everywhere Mr. Kirker was asked what Los Angeles can supply in [illegible] and what its shipping facilities are.

"One of the largest British shipping [illegible] in Hongkong had no idea of what we can supply and how we can ship it," said Mr. Kirker, "but it knows now."

[illegible] oil well machinery is going to the East Indies from here, he [illegible]. Auto parts, small machinery, [illegible] supplies and old newspapers in large amounts are among the [illegible] going to China. Japan takes a large assortment of [illegible]. The Chinese and [illegible] trade, he thinks, should be considered as one.

In Manila the styles from Los Angeles are featured with those from Paris and are as prominently [illegible].

Mr. Kirker will detail his findings in the Orient to the Foreign Trade Club of Southern California tomorrow.

MAGICIANS' SOCIETY RE-ELECTS OFFICERS

[illegible] officers of the Los Angeles Society of Magicians have been re-elected for the ensuing year, it was announced yesterday by [illegible] Valli, secretary. They are [illegible] to Valli, Frank Fewins, [illegible] and Lord High Hocus [illegible]; William H. Brown, vice-[illegible] and Grand Exalted Con[illegible], and Alex T. Williams, [illegible] and Grand Wizard of [illegible]. The organization, having a membership of sixty-five, meets the last Tuesday of each month at [illegible].

ATHLETE TO BE MARRIED IN FEBRUARY

Jack Williams, Formerly of U.S.C., Will Take as Bride Miss Maxine Hooker

Formal announcement was made yesterday by Mrs. Noel M. Hooker of 516 North Maple Drive, Beverly Hills, of the engagement of her daughter, Miss Maxine Hooker, to Jack Williams, University of Southern California athlete and son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Williams of Inglewood. The wedding will occur some time in February, although no definite date yet has been chosen.

JACK WILLIAMS

News of the betrothal first was revealed to twenty intimate friends Saturday in the Hollywood Country Club, where Mrs. Hooker entertained in honor of her daughter. Miss Hooker since has returned to Oakland, where she is a student at Mills College, and where Mr. Williams has been in business since his graduation last year from the university. During his collegiate days he won many points as pole-vault champion, tying for first place in the 1929 California intercollegiate track meet.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Williams will reside in Oakland.

Grand Theft of Funds Charged to E. F. Scott

E. Fletcher Scott of 2445 North Commonwealth Boulevard, former secretary and general manager of the Travelers' Investment Company, is charged with three counts of grand theft of funds from that concern in a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Scott.

The complaint specifically charges that Scott took $4445 of the company funds on February 15, 1927, $600 on February 18, 1927, and $350 on April 25, 1927.

According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Scott, the defendant obtained blank checks from the treasurer of the company and used them to divert funds to his own use.

Hearing in Fraud Case Continued

Preliminary hearing of four men and two women accused of embezzling $14,000 from Mrs. A. J. Fleckenstein, 1303 South Gramercy Place, in land deals, was continued yesterday by Municipal Judge Ambrose until the 14th inst., when George W. Densley, real estate dealer, the sixth defendant, appeared in court and surrendered himself. The delay was granted over the protest of the defendants, who declared they are prepared to establish at the hearing that the charges are false.

Mrs. Fleckenstein charges that the defendants, Bruno DuBain, Beverly Hills real estate dealer, his wife, Elaine DuBain, Dr. Maurice Zimmerman, dentist, Gerard Remington, attorney and his wife, Grace Remington, and Densley, gave her fraudulent deeds to Arizona land in return for $14,000 paid them at various times.

YOUTH SUCCUMBS TO AUTOMOBILE INJURY

With the death last Monday night of Harold Jaffe, 13 years of age, as the result of injuries in an automobile accident at La Crescenta last Sunday an inquest has been ordered for tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the Coroner's office. The youth, according to a Sheriff's office report, suffered a fractured skull when an automobile driven by Gilbert Lalevier, 14, of Los Angeles, in which he was riding, collided with one driven by Sam Nutsford of Tujunga at the intersection of Honolulu and Pennsylvania streets, La Crescenta. Jaffe was removed to the Burbank Hospital, where he died.

"PLEASE REMIT," SAYS PLEA

A plea to all residents of the city who have received Christmas health seals from the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association to remit at once was made yesterday by Miss Sidney Maguire, executive secretary. The association is now conducting a clean-up campaign to enable all who have received seals but have neglected to remit to do so.

Today's Bible Text

When the Comforter is come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he shall testify of me: And ye also shall bear witness, because ye have been with me from the beginning.—John xv:26, 27.

TIME TO LAUGH

The world won't laugh with you unless the joke is a new one. It is too busy to waste time on chestnuts.

MEAN THING

Another mean thing was the burglar who broke into an Illinois home and carried off the complete trousseau of a girl who was to be married the next day. That's almost as tough as a groom not showing up.

SURPLUSAGE

Henry Ford receives a legacy of $100 under the will of an aged spinster neighbor. Ordinarily this would be a nice first payment on a new car. Let's see what Henry does with this unexpected benefaction. Them as has gets.

THE BIG BUSINESS

It is admitted by economic writers of all lands that the makers of motor cars are in the biggest business the world has known. And this immense structure is all the creation of the last thirty years. It is just the idea of going somewhere and getting there in a hurry. That catches the crowd. The wheel was the first approach to industry.

TURN TO ICE

A French scientist asserts that our northern hemisphere will continue to grow steadily colder for the next 10,000 years and that ultimately another ice age will prevail. At the same time Antarctica will be growing hotter. Possibly it would be well for Admiral Byrd to foreclose the mortgage he holds on that section. We may wish to move down there and start a summer colony some day.

BOOZE IN BRITAIN

Said that the cause of temperance is gaining in England and that there is a lessening of the number of public houses. It is also shown that during 1927 there was a falling off of more than 65,000 arrests for drunkenness as measured against the figures for 1913. It is conceded by travelers that although the British still cling to their beer they are not lapping up the strong stuff. They drink, but they avoid getting soused. This at least is progress.

KINGS IN EXILE

King Amanullah left his throne in Afghanistan with surprising readiness. He claims to be a direct descendant of King Solomon and he had wisdom enough to take his roll with him when he traveled. Now that he has achieved a magnificent home on the Italian Riviera is it found that he has some $50,000,000 still intact while the wife possesses jewels valued at $12,000,000. As Amanullah wishes to keep at the front in the march of world progress he is having a lot more fun than if he had kept on kinging it at home. He can mark Kabul off his itinerary with a smiling face.

SUN SPOTS

The sun spot is said by Father Ricard to be responsible for the weather and to indicate dry or wet spells. What confuses the layman is, how can sun spots so far away be so selective?

And how can the playful sun freckles affect the nose of the sun and make it turn up at the Pacific Coast and simultaneously produce snow in the East along the same latitudes? How do sun spots become so full of pranks in America and almost wash England off the map by big storms?

We are not questioning the honor or reliability of the sun spot. Its gentle influences were very kindly toward us on New Year's Day. Then we humbly acknowledge considerable ignorance in these affairs of spots. But the eternal question comes up: How can spots affect us so in spots?

Perchance the spots and the weather do not always click together! Or can it be that where there are so many sunshiny days, the sun spots are at a disadvantage! And yet uncovered by cloud, they would seem to have a better opportunity.

BETTER SERVICE NOW DUE

The question as to the rate of fare of the Los Angeles Railway has been settled, at least until experience with the 7-cent, or four fares for a quarter, rate has shown whether or not it is excessive. The Supreme Court, as was expected, has denied a rehearing of the city's appeal from the decision of the United States District Court granting the fare increase, and that decision now stands fully affirmed. It is settled law (a) that the franchises which the city has granted to the Los Angeles Railway Company are not valid contracts in so far as they fix the rates to be charged and (b) that the 5-cent fare formerly charged was not compensatory. Further discussion of these questions would be futile. Only a change of conditions can restore the nickel rate from which the city benefited for many years. The receipt slips which the company issued to its patrons are finally made waste paper.

But now that the Los Angeles Railway has its increase it remains to be seen what it will do with it. At the time the District Court acted, the company promised better service, which was delayed, however, by the city's appeal on the ground that the company could not spend money which it might have to return. This, of course, was a perfectly good reason, but it is a reason which is now wiped out. Not only does the company keep all the additional money it has collected, but it is spared the expense of issuing any more receipt slips and of segregating funds. It is now time for it to really spend for more and better cars, for wage increases, for speedier service, for track extensions and for various other betterments.

It is time to end the sardine-like packing of cars during rush hours, the long waits in non-rush hours, the dawdling of cars that happen to be a bit ahead of schedule. It would also be a public boon if some of the noise of street-car operation could be curtailed. Street cars are still the same old clanking things they were a generation ago, and while automotive engineers have done much to minimize vibration, the trolley cars still shake as much as ever. Incidentally, it is not necessary to ring gongs either with the vehemence or the frequency that is common practice in this city. Again, conductors should be provided with enough tokens so that those who wish to buy, say $1 worth at a time, may do so.

A few cars of so-called improved type have been put in service since the Supreme Court first spoke several weeks ago, but the public has a right to expect something even better. And especially it has a right to expect more of it.

It is fair to say that a program already announced by President Kuhrts probably will meet these expectations. Within three years, the company's chief executive says, $5,100,000 of new capital expenditures will provide new cars, conversions of old cars, more powerful motors, improved power-houses, new motor coaches and new miles of track. In addition wages of employees will be raised $500,000 a year. The total of expenditures for the three-year-period is estimated at $41,600,000, which includes operating expenses; $22,000,000 of the amount is for wages.

It is questionable if the fare basis now established by the court is likely to be permanent. There has been no doubt that the old fare rate did not give the Los Angeles Railway as much profit as it was legitimately entitled to—even the city conceded as much when it appeared in the Supreme Court, and the last word of the State Railroad Commission was advice to the company to cut expenses by curtailing service. The experience of the Railroad Commission in other cities and with the Pacific Electric lines here seems to indicate that a zone fare solves the problem better than a flat rate with no limitation as to distance. So far the Los Angeles Railway has found that, on the average, it has to haul each passenger farther, the profitable short-ride patrons having deserted it to a large extent.

On the other hand, zone fares discriminate against the outlying sections and tend to congest population, which is generally conceded to be undesirable.

But whatever fare scheme is finally fixed upon, it will not be seriously objected to by the public if a really good transportation service is provided by the company. The company should be fairly compensated, but it owes the public full value for its money.

TRAFFIC TRAGEDIES GROW

Harvard University has a bureau of street-traffic research. Its director has just issued a review of the development of traffic control in this country during the year recently closed. While there have been decided improvements in parking and a few other traffic features, the report states that there has been no progress whatever in pedestrian control and that Los Angeles still remains the best example of a large city which has successfully endeavored to control this important source of accidents and congestion.

Doubtless our city's system of street-crossing signals, with policemen in many places to see that they are observed, has kept down the number of traffic fatalities. How great that number might have been in 1929 without this system is indicated by the terrible total of traffic deaths, reaching 494 as against 345 in 1928—an increase of 149.

In the county of Los Angeles there was an increase in traffic fatalities amounting to 212, the number for 1928 being 647, while that for 1929 was 859. It might easily have reached 1000 had it not been for the stop-and-go systems of this and other cities in the county. Of the total of 859 fatalities 792 are reported to have been caused by automobiles.

In Los Angeles county outside the city the traffic deaths were sixty-three more than in 1928, an increase of 20 per cent, while in the city alone the increase was 43 per cent. This appalling condition could not possibly have been due to a corresponding increase in the number of motor vehicles, as no such great accession of cars has been reported.

This shameful record probably has been the result of more carelessness and greater speed. In a city which has more cars per capita than any other in the country here are two factors into which careful research should be made. It is horrifying to think of an increase of 43 per cent in fatal traffic accidents in a single year. The record calls for prompt action on the part of our city officials. Causes should be painstakingly investigated and such a system of regulation adopted as will prevent a recurrence of such awful slaughter during the present year.

TO REST AND RECUPERATE

Our people in general have heard with sympathy and regret that Chief Justice Taft's physical condition calls for an enforced rest from his arduous duties. The whole nation prays for his speedy restoration of the strength he has overtaxed in making a record for the volume of business transacted by the Supreme Court during the last two years.

No public servant has ever more conscientiously carried out the dictum of King Solomon, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." In his seventy-third year the Chief Justice is performing prodigious tasks, tasks which would tax the endurance of hard-working men still in the prime of life. That he does so with apparent ease in spite of his years is due to a lifelong training of his faculties and a steady concentration on the details of every case with which he has to deal.

As first civil Governor of the Philippines, as Secretary of War, as President of the United States, as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, he has displayed the steady, quiet devotion to the work he was set to carry out. Thus his trained intellect has grown in power and efficiency and in his age has provided him with a spirit too active for a body that must of necessity feel the wear and tear of time.

It is well that Chief Justice Taft has listened to the advice of his friends and associates and reluctantly consented to take the rest his physical condition requires. He fills a position of hardly less consequence to the nation than that of the Presidency itself and he fills it with credit to himself and the Supreme Court and to the satisfaction of the American people. We hope to see him spared to us for more useful years after he has recuperated from the strain of his excessive late exertions.

The LEE SIDE o' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

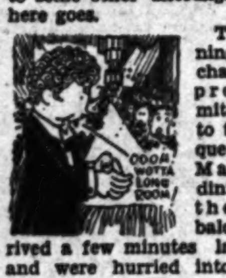
WE DON'T suppose it could happen to any but a very nearsighted man, but the story may be a warning to some other shortsighted chap, so here goes.



OOOH, WOTTA LONG ROOM!

The other evening the reckless chairman of the program committee invited us to talk at a banquet in the Hotel Mayfair, in a dining-room off the mezzanine balcony. We arrived a few minutes late, as usual, and were hurried into the private dining-room. We were surprised to find such a crowd, the tables appearing to be very long, with the speaker's table at one end.

It made us a little nervous, as we sat there toying with our food, to gaze down those long, long lines of diners, apparently fading away into the distance. That is, we suppose we were toying with our food, for we were destroying it and our observation is that that's just what happens to toys. We noticed that the toastmaster, in introducing us, did not raise his voice, and wondered if those far-off folks could hear him. We know that nothing is more annoying than to only half-hear a speaker. And so when we were introduced we filled our lungs and let out noises like those emitted by a cheer leader.

Striving For Distance

We noticed that people sitting close to us leaned away and tried covertly to stop their ears. But we fixed our eyes on those farthest away and, though we could not distinguish their expressions, felt we were doing our best for their benefit.

When it was all over it seemed that only a handful of people were present. We wondered if some had walked out on us.

"How the crowd has dwindled," we remarked to the toastmaster.

"Why, not at all," he assured us. Then understanding flashed into his eyes. "Is it possible," he asked, "that you were deceived by those mirrors? You see, one end of this dining-room is all mirrors, so it makes the rows of diners look just twice as long as they really are."

Every Knock a Boost

Easterners are fond of joking Californians about asserted extravagant statements. But L. J. Karnsey of De Luz, who has been around long enough to be called an old-timer, recalls that nowadays they aren't nearly as harsh as they used to be. "One of the jokes popular in the East in the eighties," he writes, "was the assertion that out here we had to bury people standing up, because that was the only way to keep us from lying. Another was the explanation of why there were few cherry trees here—they said our realtors feared the effects of any reminders of the George Washington incident. They ought to see the cherry trees around Beaumont now. Another was the yarn about the Missouri River catfish which somehow got into one of our famous no-fishing streams and soon became a goldfish. And there were many versions of the one about the lecturer, sent to induce colonization, who pointed to a map and started to tell the audience in an eastern town, 'As you all know, California lies—' and got no further. In the old days, as many jokes were current on California as are current now on Fords—and they have held California back just about as much."

Only Reason, in Some Cases

B. F. O. thinks he has discovered the reason for so many attempts at ousters in Washington, Los Angeles and elsewhere. He says some folks think they ought to have ousters in every month which has an "r" in it.

Paged But Found Wanting

We wonder if some of the big hotels, clubs and restaurants of Los Angeles couldn't profitably adapt an idea from the luncheon clubs which make their members wear badges displaying their names in large letters.

We thought of that yesterday while lunching at the University Club. Hardly had we taken our seat in the dining-room when a purposeful-looking young man walked briskly up to us, leaned over suddenly as if about to bite us, and exclaimed interrogatively:

"Mr. Barrons?"

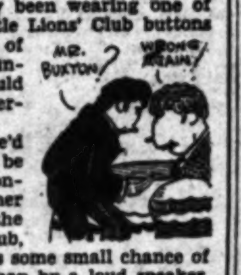
We realised then that Mr. Barrons was being paged. Seeing that we were not Mr. Barrons, the young man turned swiftly and threatened to take a bite out of the diners at the next table.

Five minutes later he started for us again. Naturally, we grew hopeful. As we do not belong to the University Club, but were permitted there only as a guest, we thought it would be rather nice to be paged there—would sort of give us prominence and distinction. Again the young man bent at the waist and showed his teeth. "Mr. Buxton?" he demanded.

Our heart sank. Try as we would, we couldn't be Mr. Buxton.

But he continued to give us other chances. We certainly can't accuse him of overlooking us. In the course of that luncheon he gave us first chance of being Mr. Wallace, Mr. Brown, Mr. Chelsa, Mr. Oppenstein and Mr. Czarnelski. But we couldn't make the grade on any one of them. So finally he gave us up as hopeless. We fear he was greatly disappointed in us.

Had we only been wearing one of those neat little Lions' Club buttons about the size of a Kansas sunflower all would have been different.



MR. BUXTON?
WRONG AGAIN!

At that, we'd much rather be paged in the confidential manner in vogue at the University Club, even if there is some small chance of being bitten, than by a loud speaker.

WHEN FAME WAS EASY

By James J. Montague

Captain Kidd was a widely known pirate,
But his ill reputation was made
In the dull days of yore, which was some time before
The rise of the high-jacker trade.
Time was when the mariner shuddered
At the sound of the freebooter's name,
But a piker was Kidd, and the deeds that he did
At present would earn him small fame.
Today in the rivers and harbors lie hid
Whole squadrons of pirates as daring as Kidd.

Jesse James was a world-famous bandit,
Who held up express trains and banks
And kept the wild west in tumultuous unrest
By the practice of criminal pranks.
Your grandfather doubtless will tell you
That before his career was cut short,
While this master of crime was as yet in his prime,
That James was a pretty bad sort.
But, we'd look on him now in a tolerant way,
He'd be only a "gangster and gunman" today.

Thus with most of the historic rascals,
Whose memory still is kept green
And who fared in pursuit of their ill-gotten loot
Before competition was keen.
They figure in song and in story
And are put on the screen and the stage;
But desperate men were not plentiful then:
There were only a few in each age.
Today there's an overabundance of such,
And the scoundrels of history wouldn't be much.

Going Far Afield

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The engineers' report on the proposed routes for bringing Colorado River water to Southern California is gravely disappointing. If their decision against a gravity system is upheld it will result in bequeathing to the present and future generations the great cost of pumping. While the bonds for this gigantic undertaking can in time be retired and interest stopped, either of the tentatively approved routes involves a large irreducible overhead. No public enterprise which must incur a timeless burden should be indorsed until every possible alternative has been analyzed and found wanting. Long before Colorado River can be tapped Los Angeles will require much more water. Is there a better and cheaper source from which it can be obtained to precede, safeguard and supplement the greater project?

On the western slope of the Coast Mountains in Oregon the annual rainfall is reported at 70 to 138 inches. Thousands of acre feet of the purest water are wasted into the sea. If permission were granted by Oregon to Los Angeles (and for a reasonable compensation why should it not?) to store and withdraw a portion of that wasted water (say enough to equal the Owens River supply) the project would be feasible.

Assuming the source basins could be at no greater elevation than 1200 feet, nature has provided a gravity route with the aid of less than forty miles of tunnel right into the San Fernando reservoir. To prevent evaporation and contamination a closed conduit would be necessary. Surface construction only would be required from the source to near the mouth of the Klamath River; also in following the course of the Klamath and Trinity rivers to the barrier between the latter and the canyon of the Sacramento which would be pierced by a short tunnel; thence along the Sacramento Canyon until it merges into the alluvial plain of the San Joaquin Valley. To negotiate the mountains between the south end of the valley and the city involves simple engineering.

Although the distance is great, 750 to 800 miles, the natural advantages indicated would permit cheap and rapid construction. And with this Oregon water come no salt, no silt, no pumping.

"Among the Married"

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Admittedly I am an enthusiastic admirer of Edward Everett Horton and his accomplishments in the dramatic field of this city, but, in my opinion, he fell short of the standard he has set in the selection of the play, "Among the Married."

In the first place, the theme is concerned with the moral frailties of a very small percentage of the married population. In addition, however, to presenting a distorted view of so-called modern marriage, the drama is decidedly risque not only in certain lines, but in the whole tone of it.

Surely the discriminating playgoers will agree with me that the excellence and stability of American drama cannot depend upon the exploitation of the moral turpitude of a few.

Must Start Right

BALBOA, Jan. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The large number of failures of pupils to finish the high school course is something to be concerned about and it is well for Mr. Vierling Kersey to study the situation. It certainly is not encouraging to young people in making a start in life. But the root of the trouble lies in the fact that they are not sufficiently prepared in the start. My experience has taught me that too many children do not learn to read in the lower grades. I hope Mr. Kersey will begin at the very beginning, the first day the children enter school and see that they are better prepared and go slow on enriching the curriculum.

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We now know that Nebraska, Mongolia, the Gobi Desert and Lower Africa, Egypt and Mesopotamia are all the original homes of man, because distinguished scientists have so asserted within the past twelve months.

The weakness of "science" so called lies in its utter inability to collaborate or speak with any semblance of authority. Hypotheses and theories crowd possibilities with such inconsistent speed as to demonstrate the impossibility of most of them.

Many of us regret that scientists are losing all sense of proportion and bearing of dignity in their utterances.

SAVING THE SCENERY

BY EUGENE BROWN

Most of us don't believe in signs to the extent we used to.

Maybe if a Boy Scout craved inspiration for his daily good deed he might grab his trusty ax and cut down one of these gaudy billboards that now and then affront the vision of the tourist as he rolls along one of our otherwise sweet-faced highways.

It could be counted to his credit.

But in any event a fairly organized campaign is on to save some of our matchless scenery from becoming a mere parking place for arrogant advertising.

The firms who indulge in this form of publicity are well-intended. They have splendid merchandise and they feel that it is only right that the world should know all about it. Therefore they throw up a vast wooden screen on the rugged face of Mt. Baldy whereon the adventurous artist paints a spreading sign presenting the virtues of canned beans.

Of course the traveler cannot see Old Baldy and its majesty is lost to his eyes forever. But he will know beans.

Possibly another voluptuous advertiser glides into this setting. He beholds this glowing expanse of beans and he purposes to create one of his own as a hectic barker for coughless cigaroots. And so it goes. The rivalry for the possession of choice vistas is on and presently the scenic gifts of nature and of nature's god are lost behind this puissant panorama of publicity.

Wouldn't it stun you

But things are going to be different now.

Nearly 30,000 persons have submitted suggestions to the Standard Oil Company toward the ultimate purpose of restoring the scenery to the citizen. Big prizes were offered for the most practical ideas for correcting what was becoming a national evil. Many plans were offered. Many photographs of "horrible examples" were supplied. Many slogans were tendered. All were very much to the point. Co-operation of the critics is essential and this is provided for in various ways. Public sentiment is being turned into corrective channels. The advertisers themselves are awakening to a consciousness of their sins. Their future offenses will be less flagrant.

It will be remembered that there was a day when the Standard Oil people were themselves among the most glaring offenders. Whenever any of the Rockefeller representatives saw a nice green hill or a noble scenic setting they would promptly set it off with a huge red crown. The eye that craved the relaxation of a vista of beauty and peace was suddenly startled by a gaudy gasoline sign.

Then one night John D. or somebody had a dream. The next day it came into action. The word went forth up and down the coast that this was a democracy of the people and that red crowns were out. And they were. All the Standard billboards up and down the State were called in and destroyed at one swoop. It was called a $100,000 bonfire, but it was really the beacon fire of liberty. It meant that God's scenery was to be freed to the vision of man. It would take time for this achievement, but here was the impulse and inspiration, and the minds and hearts of the best citizens are linked in this corrective movement.

Laws and ordinances have been passed. Organizations have been formed. Crusaders have taken to the saddle—all committed to the same cause. They are determined to make our lovely lanes and scenic splendor free from arrogant advertising. No threats are made. There is little talk of boycott or the use of disciplinary measures, but the advertisers themselves are being gradually brought to a realization of their own wrongdoing. It is no longer considered smart to garb the brow of the community's greenest hill for the purpose of billboarding a patent garter.

Billboards have their mission, but it is not to substitute for the majesty of God's scenery. Neither can they be accepted as literary entertainment along our winding boulevards.

REST HOME COMPLAINTS AIRED AGAIN

Police Board Hearing on Minnie Barton Charity Minimizes Charges

Renewal of the complaint of Joseph Mesmer and other property owners against the location in Hansen Heights of the Minnie Barton Home for Unfortunate Women, on the ground that it should be located at some other point where it may not be opposed by neighbors, was heard by the Police Commission and taken under advisement yesterday.

The protestants asserted that police trucks, police officers and what they believed to be convicts were employed on the camp buildings, despite the order of the commission last summer that trusties must not be used in the work.

After hearing testimony from both sides the commission learned that one police truck, provided by the City Council, is being used to transport materials; that the materials are not city property but the portions of torn-down buildings from the city which otherwise would be burned up as valueless; that one police officer has assisted in the work, using much of his own time for the purpose, and that the other men are not prisoners but impoverished men sent out to work by Los Angeles missions.

The commission found that Mrs. Barton, who is chief woman probation officer for the city, had not violated its order against the use of trusties.

Mrs. Barton stated that for many years she has been engaged in the work of assisting unfortunate women who should be cared for by the city or county. In the absence of this assistance, she said, she was using the best means at her command because she is interested in the work.

"We have twenty-four women out there now and fifteen are mothers," said Mrs. Barton. "We have so many requests for such assistance that I don't know what we are going to do. We are trying to enlarge the place to care for more of them."

She said that the Community Chest allots a sum for feeding the women, but nothing for buildings. She declared that in the many years she has been in the work she has not taken one penny for herself and hopes the work may be so continued after she has gone.

Members of the commission commended her efforts.

BURNS GIVES DINNER FOR COLLEAGUES

Other Members of Council and Mayor Porter Guests; Bell-Issue Motif Denied

Thirteen of his colleagues in the City Council and Mayor Porter were the guests of Councilman Robert L. Burns at a dinner at his home at 673 South Hobart Boulevard last night. Others present in addition to the city officials were Mrs. Burns, the four sons of Councilman Burns and the wives of two of his sons. The only member of the Council who did not attend the dinner was Councilman Jacobson and his absence was said to be due to illness in his family.

For several days previous to the dinner there were rumors about the City Hall that it was being arranged with the purpose of serving as a secret caucus of the Council at which the Councilmen were to determine their stand on the Bell cement plant project, which comes before the Council for action tomorrow. The report was that after a poll at the dinner, the Councilmen were to vote unanimously either for or against Bell in accordance with the poll, thus keeping from the public the individual stand of each Councilman.

Vigorous denial was made by everyone present at last night's dinner that any such poll was made, or that there was serious discussion of the cement plant controversy or any other city business. The dinner was purely a social function, it was said by both the host and his guests.

The idea of holding the dinner was that of Mrs. Burns, Councilman Burns said. It was intended as a return social gesture for the dinner to which Mayor Porter invited the members of the Council to his home shortly before he assumed office. That it should have been held just two days before the Bell project was to come before the Council, Burns said, was due to the fact that last night was the only one in January, it was found, for which the Mayor had not already made a previous engagement.

Explorer Will Map New Road

With the object of mapping the 3400 remaining miles of a proposed 22,000-mile intercontinental highway connecting New York City with Rio de Janeiro, William J. Robinson, Bronx (N. Y.) explorer and adventurer, will leave for San Francisco today to sail for Callao, Peru.

Robinson plans to ride horseback from Callao to Nicaragua, plotting a route over which he and his twin brother, Earl Robinson, and a photographer, Christopher Bauer, expect to pilot a specially built automobile next year. The survey trip will take eight months, Robinson stated.

IMPROVEMENT CONFIRMED

Assessments were confirmed by the City Council yesterday for the improvement of Burton Way from La Cienega Boulevard to Robertson Boulevard.

JAIL BARRACKS FUNDS SOUGHT

Police Board Asks Council to Provide $13,000

Latter Body Also Receives Plan for First Unit

Williams Urges $300,000 be Voted Immediately

An appropriation of $13,000 to cover the cost of constructing barracks adjoining the Lincoln Heights jail for the accommodation of approximately 145 prisoners from the Central Jail, which has been condemned as a menace by the health department, is requested of the City Council in a resolution passed by the Police Commission yesterday.

At the same time that this resolution was being considered, Councilman Williams presented a resolution to the Council asking for the appropriation from the permanent improvement fund of $300,000 to construct the first unit of a permanent City Jail, and that the Board of Public Works and the Police Commission be instructed to present comprehensive plans for the unit. The resolution was referred to the Police and Fire Committee.

CONFERENCES EXPECTED

The Police Commission had no knowledge of the action taken by Councilman Williams, who is strong in his condemnation of the present Central Jail and headquarters as a disgrace to Los Angeles. It is expected that the Police and Fire Committee will confer with the commissioners on both resolutions before making its recommendation to the Council.

The commission's action in asking for $13,000 was after looking over a preliminary sketch of a barracks plan presented by Construction Superintendent Brittain. The plan calls for construction of a permanent high wall on one side of the Lincoln Heights property and constructing four barracks, with provision for thirty-six men in each, against the structure. It is contended this wall could be used as a portion of a permanent jail unit, while the barracks could be removed.

ONE PLAN REJECTED

The barracks plan was urged by President Thorpe in view of the crowded and unhealthy condition at the Central Jail on First street, where one prisoner died last week. The commission approved Thorpe's recommendation against the use of the health department's smallpox hospital in Chavez ravine for prisoners because the heating system would enable belligerent occupants to set the place afire in an effort to escape.

There was no discussion on the removal of prisoners held on felony charges or the shifting of the headquarters of the police department from the present condemned location at the Central Jail.

ALL SUBSTATIONS TO BE KNOWN AS CITY JAILS

All police stations and substations henceforth will be designated as City Jails, according to an ordinance adopted yesterday by the City Council. The ordinance was passed at the instance of the police department following the attempt of a woman to deliver a quart of gin to a prisoner in a substation.

When the case went to court it was found that the defendant could be accused of committing only a misdemeanor, while the State laws make it a felony to run liquor or narcotics into a city jail.

SAD PLIGHT OF HUNGARY STIRS COUNT

Visiting Jurist Declares Neighboring Nations Have Appropriated Territory

Hungary, reduced to a mere fraction of her former area by neighboring nations, today is a starving country, her commerce strangled by blockade of all exits, according to Count Dr. Stefan Petz von Lichtenhof, judge of the High Court of Hungary, who arrived yesterday from aboard the Hamburg-American liner Portland.

COUNT DR. STEFAN PETZ VON LICHTENHOF

"Conditions in my country today are so deplorable that even after we are given an opportunity to export our products, return to a sound economic basis will be a matter of years," declared Count von Lichtenhof. "Hungary's sixty-three provinces of prewar days have been reduced to a mere thirteen, the remainder all having been appropriated by Italy, Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia.

"Jugo-Slavia and Rumania have exiled summarily thousands of Hungarians to Brazil. We feel that the only hope for Hungary lies in united effort by France and Germany to guarantee Hungary's commercial security.

"Italy is unfriendly to us, as are all of the Balkan states. There is much international jealousy in the Balkans. Serious trouble is brewing there."

Count von Lichtenhof is a close friend of the Regent of Hungary, Admiral Horthy, who, he says, is making a sincere effort to aid a sorely distressed nation. Today he will call on Vilma Banky, screen star, whom he knew in Budapest.

The distinguished jurist will depart tomorrow for Vancouver.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

TRAINING A CHILD TO EAT VEGETABLES

The retraining of a child who wants to nibble on the desserts of life and let the plain foods go by is not by any means a path of roses. Undernourished children get into the habit of eating all-day suckers, cookies, pastries and other appetite destroyers and as a result they are often thin and scrawny, have poor teeth and large tonsils and really suffer in the end for their faulty way of helping themselves.

The wise mother realizes that a temporary crying spell is far less harmful than a permanently thin child. If the child really creates a scene and refuses to eat the nourishing food, then harden your heart and remove him until he is hungry enough to eat properly.

Children often do not like vegetables because they are prepared in a tasteless, sloppy form. Often raw carrots and turnips will be relished but when cooked they are refused.

In preparing food for the table the mother should avoid monotony in preparing it, but try to invent little surprises to improve its appearance and flavor. Remember that invention is the necessity of the mother.

Sometimes children can be taught to eat disliked vegetables by adding them to other foods or preparing them so that the flavor or appearance is altered. By experimenting with different ways of preparing these it is often possible to avoid many of the little unpleasant arguments which arise at the dinner table.

It is often a good plan to praise the child for eating the right foods rather than to scold him for eating the bad ones, since it seems to be a part of human nature to desire things which are forbidden. Do not neglect to pile on the praise when a child is trying to please, and continue to praise him each time he succeeds in doing right until he has formed a habit of doing so.

Our modern psychologists are pointing out that success in a big way is nothing more than success in lots of little things. Why not give your child the training in these little habits that are going to yield him praise in the outside world?

The child is at his happiest and most pleasing self when he feels he is putting himself over with you—the center of his universe. If crying doesn't do it, then he will speedily take up some other method that does.

A Bedtime Story

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

CHATTERER'S LITTLE JOKE

A harmless joke played now and then.
Is good for squirrels and for men.
—Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

Farmer Brown's Boy was both surprised and disappointed when he found that there was nothing in the trap he had set for Chatterer the Red Squirrel. That is, there was nothing in it but the nuts he had used for bait. The trap had been sprung and he had been sure that he had caught Chatterer. All the time Chatterer was hidden in the great pile of corn and was watching him, chuckling as he watched.

"I don't know how that little rascal sprung that trap without being caught," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "I'll try it again. He did it once, but I don't believe he can do it twice. He must have done it by accident."

So Farmer Brown's Boy once more set the boxtrap very carefully. As before, he baited it with nuts. He took great pains with the setting of it. You see, he meant to catch Chatterer if it were possible. The next morning when he looked at it, it was sprung again. As before, there was no one in it.

"You little scamp!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "It must be that you climb up on this trap and so trip the trigger. I've got to think of some way of fixing it so that you can't do that."

Farmer Brown's Boy took the trap away and worked over it. That afternoon, when he brought it back to set it, he had fixed it so that that little stick that Chatterer had touched was protected. Chatterer couldn't touch it now. "Now," said Farmer Brown's Boy, "we'll see if you'll spring this trap this time."

Of course, Chatterer knew nothing about this until very early the next morning when he visited the corncrib. The first thing he did was to look at that trap and, of course, he saw right away that he couldn't spring the trap as he had sprung it before. Chatterer sat down in front of that trap and studied it for a few minutes. Then he began to chuckle. If he couldn't spring that trap he could at least see to it that Farmer Brown's Boy should find something in it.

Chatterer picked up a bare corncob, one from which he had taken all the corn. He pushed it into the trap. Then he did the same thing with another. He hunted out a third and pushed [illegible] fourth one was [illegible] he pushed that in [illegible] trigger of the trap. Down [illegible] door! It gave Chatterer [illegible] Indeed, it came very [illegible] him on the head. [illegible] just in time. When he [illegible] ered from his fright [illegible] looked at the trap, he [illegible] than ever.

"He'll find something [illegible]" muttered Chatterer. [illegible] Brown's Boy will [illegible] time. It won't be what [illegible] is, and I guess he'll be [illegible] prised."

In this Chatterer [illegible] pointed. It was only [illegible] that Farmer Brown's [illegible] He looked at once at [illegible] course, he saw at once [illegible] was sprung. He [illegible]

"That's the time [illegible] fellow!" said he. [illegible] some places. [illegible] You've had the [illegible] times, but now [illegible]

He went over [illegible] trap. It was then [illegible] ered that the door [illegible] down. There was [illegible] corncob in the way. [illegible] saw that bit of [illegible] that once more [illegible] him after all. He [illegible] There lay the four [illegible] er Brown's Boy gave [illegible] whistle of surprise. These [illegible] letters pleased me a lot, [illegible] the articles they mention [illegible] the mothers who had found [illegible] the ideas in them coincided [illegible] their experiences.

Mrs. L. B. G. read the article [illegible] toys and was reminded of some [illegible] her early experiences. [illegible] "I had a method which solved [illegible] problems for me and thought [illegible] might be equally helpful to [illegible] mothers.

"HANDS OFF" METHOD [illegible] UNDESIRABLE RESULTS

"Your article about children get[illegible] ting away with murder in [illegible] interested and amused me," [illegible] Mrs. C. P. F., "for isn't it true that [illegible] the perfect little angels 'at home' [illegible] act like the worst imps away from [illegible] home?" This reader has something [illegible] of importance to say on another [illegible] subject relative to toys:

"We found with our four [illegible] letting them handle everything [illegible] sible and answering all questions [illegible] they asked about things, kept them [illegible] from wanting to upset a friend's [illegible] home when visiting. One of [illegible] our neighbors allows them to go [illegible] to her little girl's playroom and [illegible] closet, a privilege accorded no other [illegible] children. Incidentally these [illegible] are being reared by the 'hands [illegible] off' method at home.

"More power to your pen, [illegible] Eldred. I never miss one of your [illegible] articles and wish every mother and [illegible] father in the country could [illegible] them."

Value Placed on Thirteen Acres for San Gabriel Flood-Control Channel

Nine acres of property used as right of way for the flood-control channel of the San Gabriel River is worth $8100, according to the award of a jury in Superior Judge Fleming's court yesterday. This property was owned by George C. Buehn, whose witness testified it is worth from $1400 to $2000 an acre.

Four more acres, used as strawberry land by members of the Thompson family, who have owned it since 1868, was valued by the jury at $3200.

On the base of the above settlements, another tract of two acres, owned by Mrs. Jennie Daugherty, was purchased by the county for $900 an acre, including severance damages. ## MEMORIAL FOR PEACE PREPARED

W.C.T.U. Will Send Plea of American Women to Navy Conference, London

A memorial in the interest of international peace to the delegates to the London Conference on Naval Reduction has been sent to the State officers of the fifty-two Women's Christian Temperance Union organizations in the United States, according to Mrs. Eva Craven Wheeler, president of the W.C.T.U. of Southern California, who yesterday received a copy of the memorial. The memorial will be signed by the State officers and returned to national headquarters at Evanston, Ill., where they will be bound together and sent to the conference at London. The memorial follows.

> It is our firm belief that the majority of the population in the United States is in steadfast agreement with the Paris Pact renouncing war, and they are prepared to acclaim and support all acts of the conference, which meet with their expectations.
> We, therefore, entreat the honorable delegates not to stay their deliberations until effective means have been found. To relieve the citizens of the great powers from the enormous and burdensome cost of building and maintenance of naval armament, no longer required.
> To reduce naval armament among the great powers to a point so low that our own and other nations may feel secure against attack.
> To end forever the competition in naval building among the great powers, and thus to bring the relations of these powers into more genuine accord with the principles of the General Pact for the renunciation of war.

Mrs. Wheeler said the Japanese women, under auspices of the W.C.T.U., are sending a similar memorial signed by 100,000 women to the London conference.

TAYLOR MURDER ACTION HELD UP

Local Authorities Awaiting "New Evidence"

Ex-Convict Informer Sought for Breaking Parole

Tip Comes from East on Confidential Report

While Otis Hefner, ex-convict, who sought to reopen the William Desmond Taylor murder case, was being sought in San Francisco yesterday as a parole violator, Los Angeles authorities continued their policy of welcoming all information but declining action until new evidence is revealed.

Hefner stepped into the limelight in the northern city Monday when he told a newspaper man that he knew the slayer of the motion-picture director, who was killed in his home in 1922. It previously had been disclosed that he had been paroled from Folsom prison in 1926 by Gov. Richardson.

PEAVEY STORY RESTATED

Henry Peavey, Taylor negro valet, was the next character introduced into the case. He is asserted to have stated that he and Edward Sands, Taylor's former valet, stood outside the director's cottage and heard him quarreling with a woman shortly before the murder. Dist.-Atty. Fitts asserts that he expects to get in touch with Peavey and take his statement, which will be compared with his original statement to officers and at the Coroner's inquest.

The third character in the rejuvenated Taylor murder mystery is Vincent E. Clark, who identified himself as a Philadelphia newspaper man in a telegram to Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

Clark stated that Hefner's and Peavey's stories coincide with a confidential statement which he made to Dist.-Atty. Woolwine in 1922. Fitts was unable to find the statement in his files, but Robert Herron, stenographer, remembered taking and transcribing it.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts then telegraphed to Clark requesting him to make a new statement concerning the case and forward it to him at once.

FELLOWS VISITS CATO

Following the disclosure by deputy sheriffs that they had talked to Hefner and discredited his story before the man succeeded in obtaining his parole, it was announced at the District Attorney's office that no new and definite action will be taken in the Taylor case until new evidence has been obtained.

Ed King, veteran investigator formerly attached to the police department, is now investigating the Taylor case for the District Attorney. Every "tip" received is investigated and the stories of all new witnesses will be checked against the known facts, King stated.

Regarding reports that Captain of Detectives Cato had questioned several persons regarding latest developments in the Taylor murder, that official stated that Harry Fellows, who was assistant director under Taylor at the time of the murder, visited him at Central Police Station of his own accord yesterday morning to talk the matter over. Fellows had no information, Cato said, only to say that, despite new revelations, he still believes the apprehension of Sands will aid in solving the case. Fellows is now a real estate man, Cato said.

FATHER SEEKS SON

With the savings of ten years Nils Gillebo of Seattle yesterday arrived in Los Angeles to launch a search for his son Oscar, who, the father says, disappeared from the northern city in 1920, and has failed since then to communicate with him. The son, 29 years of age, is believed to be working as an orderly in one of the city's hospitals. He is described as 5 feet 10 inches in height, and weighing 170 pounds, with light brown hair and blue eyes. The elder Gillebo is living at 640 Towne avenue.

ONE BLOND HAIR ISN'T ENOUGH

At Least Wife Fails to Get Divorce Because She Found it in Car

Merely finding a blond hair and a woman's comb in her husband's automobile was not enough evidence to obtain a divorce for Mrs. Dorothy Robinson from Hubbell Robinson, in the opinion of Superior Judge Mahon, who yesterday denied the wife her decree.

Mrs. Robinson said that one morning when she opened the door of her husband's car she found a woman's comb in which was entwined a long blond hair. When she asked her husband about it he is asserted to have told her it was none of her business.

The wife further declared that while she was at home her husband went out with a show girl named Jacqueline.

This Plane May Break Speed Record

Final Inspection

The giant nose and 425-horsepower motor of her new $25,000 Lockheed-Vega monoplane undergo a final inspection by Miss Amelia Earhart before accepting delivery on the speedy craft.

AVIATRIX PLANS NEW FEAT

Miss Earhart Buys Fast Plane and May Try to Lower Coast-to-Coast Nonstop Mark

Amelia Earhart, first woman flyer to cross the Atlantic, and holder of the world's speed record of 184 miles an hour for women, intends to attempt a transcontinental nonstop speed flight in the new $25,000 Lockheed-Vega monoplane which was purchased here by her yesterday, it was reported from authoritative sources in local aviation circles last night.

"Present weather conditions would not permit a flight now, and I would have to install extra gasoline tanks in the fuselage for such a trip," was Miss Earhart's reply when queried on the reports.

MAY TRY IT IN SPRING

She did not deny that she will make the attempt, however, and it is understood here that her coast-to-coast flight plans will be executed next spring.

No woman has ever attempted to equal the feat of Capt. Frank Hawks in making the 2446-mile hop from here to New York, and it is reported authoritatively that Miss Earhart feels confident she can do it.

"I would not turn down an opportunity to make the flight," the noted aviatrix commented. "My plane at present carries only 150 gallons of gasoline and I would need around 500 gallons. I have purchased it for my business trips primarily."

FASTER THAN HAWKS'S

The plane, however, is several miles faster than the Lockheed-Air Express in which Capt. Hawks set his round-trip record of 36h. and 48m. The air-speed indicator on her plane, Miss Earhart said, registers top speed of 185 miles an hour—about ten miles an hour slower than her actual ground speed.

The new plane, a standard seven-place cabin job with a streamlined speed cowling over the 425-horsepower Wasp motor, is painted a brilliant red. It can cruise, flyers declare, faster than the average speed of 140 miles an hour made by Hawks on his trips.

Miss Earhart, who has been here for several weeks in the interests of T.A.T.-Maddux Airlines, of which she is an officer, plans to leave today or tomorrow in her new craft for New York.

ASSESSMENT DEFERRED

Confirmation of assessments for the opening of Flemish Village Lane from Serrano avenue to Western avenue were continued by the City Council yesterday for consideration on the 24th inst.

PILOT GOES TO GET NEW SKY GIANT

Western Air Express Soon to Have Thirty-Passenger Plane in Los Angeles

Silas A. Morehouse, chief pilot of Western Air Express, left here yesterday on his company's passenger plane to Kansas City, en route to New Jersey to bring to Los Angeles the first of a fleet of thirty-passenger, four-motor planes.

The giant liner, the largest land plane in the world, and costing $110,000, is practically completed, and Morehouse will be at the factory at Hasbrouck Heights for the trial flights. This will be Morehouse's twelfth transcontinental trip piloting planes from the east coast to Los Angeles.

Temporary plans call for departure from New York on Sunday, the 26th inst., and arrival in Los Angeles on Saturday, February 1. Although the mammoth ship, which has a wing spread of ninety-nine feet, could be flown across the continent in about twenty hours' flying time, almost a week will be occupied in order to give residents of various cities an opportunity to view the newest thing in airplane construction.

Among the cities to be visited are Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Denver. When the Leviathan of the air arrives at the Valley Boulevard terminal of West- later may make a tour of the State. ern Air Express it will be available for inspection by the public, and

WRECK PAIR EXONERATED

District Attorney to Ask Dismissal of Hall and Christopher in Saugus Train Derailing

Complaints against Percy Hall, 33 years of age, and Walter C. Christopher, 37, charging them with train wrecking and three counts of robbery in connection with the wrecking and robbing of the Southern Pacific's West Coast Limited near Saugus on November 10, last, were ordered dismissed yesterday by Wayne Jordan, assistant chief deputy District Attorney. No court action on dismissal of the complaints was taken.

In his order directing Dep. Dist.-Atty. Choate to apply for dismissal of the charges in Municipal Court, Jordan said investigation has disclosed that neither of the two men had anything to do with the crime.

NAMED BY VERNON

The complaints were issued, he said, at the instigation of investigating officers when Tom Vernon, whose true name is asserted to be Walter Brugier, named them as accomplices in the wrecking and robbing of the train.

Hall, according to Sheriff's office records, was brought here Monday morning from San Quentin, where he is serving a term for burglary on a recent conviction in Orange county. He was returned to the penitentiary yesterday. Christopher, according to the records, is an ex-convict awaiting trial in Orange county on the same burglary charge, having pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity. Christopher was brought to Los Angeles for questioning and returned, according to investigating officers.

STORY DISBELIEVED

Vernon, according to deputies, implicated five or six men as accomplices in the train wrecking and robbing. He is asserted to have told the officers that he and two of the men made a trip to Newhall on the Friday and Saturday preceding the wrecking and that on the night of the wrecking he and one of the men broke into a tool house and obtained implements necessary to loosen the railroad spikes. He is asserted also to have informed the officers that the gun used in the robbery was taken from him by one of the men shortly before the train was held up and not returned to him until midnight of the night of the wreck.

His entire story is a fabrication, the officers state, and an effort will be made to have the thirty-day stay of execution recently granted him annulled, following which he will be sent to Folsom immediately.

POLICE BRIBERY JURY LOCKED UP

Five-Hour Deliberation Fails to Bring Verdict

Brown Tried on Two Charges Brought by McDonald

Defense Attorney Blames Plot Against Officer

The jury deliberating on the extortion and bribery charges against Edward D. (Roughhouse) Brown, suspended detective lieutenant, was unable to reach an agreement last night after five hours of deliberation and was ordered locked up until this morning by Superior Judge Fricke. There are seven women and five men on the jury.

Brown is charged with demanding and receiving a bribe of $400 from Harry D. McDonald, reputed bootlegger and racketeer, to refrain from arresting McDonald on charges of receiving stolen property and vagrancy.

Judge Fricke instructed the jurors that they could not legally find Brown guilty on both counts; that a finding of guilt on either charge must necessarily be accompanied by an acquittal on the other count, as both charges as contained in the indictment against Brown referred to the same asserted offense.

McDonald, principal witness for the prosecution, testified he paid $400 to the police officer after the latter told him "I've got a lot on you," and demanded $750. According to McDonald, they compromised on the payment of $400.

Brown denied he ever received anything from McDonald and declared he had kept the latter under observation after receiving a tip that McDonald was contemplating organizing a "gang." Brown said he told McDonald, "The town won't be big enough for you if you try any heavy stuff."

Defense Attorney Nathan O. Freedman, argued to the jury that Brown was the victim of a plot to prevent him getting evidence against McDonald. The case was prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Dennison and McKay.

Two additional counts accusing Brown of taking a bribe of $13 from Tracey A. Tisdell were dismissed early in the trial when Tisdell failed to identify the accused officer in court.

ROMANCE BUDS FAR FROM HOME

Now Couple Faced by Long Separation

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coffey

THE world is a small place!

For eight years Fred Coffey, Los Angeles newspaper man, and Mrs. Bess Marrin were residents of the beach community between Venice and Santa Monica, the former attending practically every public event of any importance and trailing news as correspondent for The Times, and the latter as a real estate operator. In this time their paths never crossed.

Two years ago Coffey as a publicity man aboard the Panama-Pacific liner Belgenland on its annual world cruise, met Mrs. Marrin, a passenger, when they went ashore at Calcutta, India. Romance developed before they were aware of the fact that they were old neighbors.

Coffey made the cruise the following year and on his return to Los Angeles led Mrs. Marrin to the altar.

The bride was at the Belgenland to bid her husband good-by as he left on his third cruise.

"We had to go halfway around the world to get acquainted, so I guess he'll go clear around to get back to me," was Mrs. Coffey's comment as the liner pulled away from her berth.

SUIT IN JULIAN CASE DELAYED

Jacob Berman Reported as Too Ill to Appear

Trial Consequently Put Off Until Next Monday

Stockholders Seek Return of Lost $12,000,000

Jacob Berman, who with S. C. Lewis, formerly president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, was scheduled to appear in the court of Superior Judge Tappaan yesterday for hearing in the suit to recover $12,000,000 asserted to have been lost by investors following the Julian's stock overissue debacle, failed to appear because of illness. The trial consequently was put over until next Monday.

Berman, who was connected with the corporation's stock transactions [illegible] and known as the "boy" in the deals, was unable to be in court because of an attack of [illegible], attorneys said.

The suit was begun by Arthur M. [illegible], John E. Roberts, D. T. Reed and others, all stockholders in the [illegible] Pacific Oil Company, who [illegible] were stockholders in the Julian Petroleum Corporation. It is directed against Berman, Lewis and sixty-four other defendants, [illegible] brokers who handled the [illegible] stock.

The Los Angeles Stock Exchange is named in the action as a defendant, the plaintiffs contending that [illegible] is a voluntary organization [illegible] members are responsible for [illegible] sustained by Julian stockholders. They contend further that the Exchange had knowledge [illegible] overissue when the stock [illegible] on the market.

Both Berman and Lewis are under sentence of seven years' imprisonment each on conviction in Federal Court on mail fraud charges. Arguments on their appeals were made before the court [illegible] a month ago. The decision is expected within a few days.

Bandit Suspects to Be in Review Before Victims

A public "show-up" of more than [illegible] bandit suspects now in custody of police will be held at Central Police Station Friday at 1:15 p.m., it was announced last night by Detective Lieutenants [illegible] Leslie and Bergeron.

The "show-up" has been arranged for the purpose of giving holdup victims an opportunity to identify persons who have robbed them. Petting parties, service-station operators and grocers who have been victimized are requested particularly to attend, police records showing them to have been the most numerous among recent robbery victims.

Victims are instructed to present themselves at Room 3, Central Sta-

GUARDIAN CHARGES WASTAGE

Accuses Incompetent's Wife of Administering Estate Recklessly

Fraud in the administration of the $180,000 estate of Irving W. Powell, mentally incompetent, is asserted in an affidavit filed in Superior Judge Gates's court yesterday by William Eric Fowler, who recently was appointed in Probate Court as Powell's guardian.

Fowler appeared in Judge Gates's court yesterday asking for an order transferring assets from the possession of Mrs. Irene Powell, wife of the incompetent, and of Fred A. Beatchy, whom Mrs. Powell, waiving her rights, asked be appointed her husband's guardian. The court appointed Fowler, instead.

The plaintiff in yesterday's action asked specifically for the possession of an automobile worth $1200, and a $3000 diamond ring, which he asserted were in Beatchy's possession. Fowler also asserts that Mrs. Powell is "secreting herself" and avoiding service in the case. He declares that the estate of Powell is being "wasted and dissipated" by the actions of Mrs. Powell and Beatchy, and pleads that the property be turned over to him as Powell's guardian.

Judge Gates decided that the case should remain in statuo quo until after an order to show cause in the matter should be heard in Probate Court. This hearing is set for the 14th inst., so Judge Gates continued the action in his court until the

Rum Message in Radio Code Cited at Trial

Radio code messages, sent from a reported mother rum ship to other vessels along the Southern California coast, figured prominently yesterday in the hearing before United States Commissioner Head in a libel action by the government against the power boat Chiquita. The government is seeking, through radio messages, to establish that the Chiquita was in touch with rum headquarters at Vancouver, B. C., through the steamer Lillehorn, said to be the mother ship.

A complicated code message, said to have been sent to the rum runners, was said to have been: "Chiquita here today with order for 250 cases. As I have no release for this please immediately advise."

CIVIL WAR VETERAN BURIED

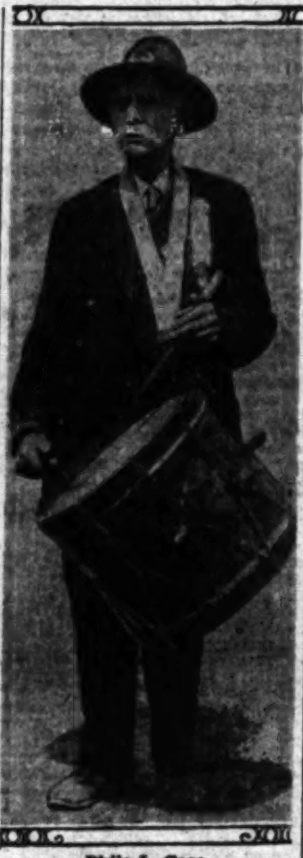
Philo L. Case, Drummer Whose Signal Started Battle of Shiloh, Mourned by Comrades

Philo L. Case, Civil War drummer, the man who sounded the long roll which started the Battle of Shiloh, April 6, 1862, was buried in Los Angeles yesterday. A member of the Second Iowa infantry on that fateful day, it was his signal that started the thunder of the guns from the Union batteries and sent the bayonets of the boys in blue slanting forward in the great conflict.



Philo L. Case

Yesterday afternoon a handful of his comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic gathered to do him last honors. The old songs were sung once more in quavering, broken voices.

"We Are Tenting Tonight, Tenting on the Old Camp Grounds," and then came mournful taps and gray-haired men taking a last look at their old comrade. The services were in charge of Stanton Post, Grand Army of the Republic, and were conducted at the Reed Brothers funeral parlors, 721 West Washington street. Burial was made in Rosedale Cemetery.

To this drummer came great drama but probably nothing in his life so spectacular as that of starting a great battle which raged for days and in which thousands perished. He survived this conflict and served three years and six months before being mustered out. His death occurred New Year's Day at the home of his son, L. D. Case of Glendale, at the age of almost 92 years, and was caused by ills incident to old age.

He had been a resident of Los Angeles for more than forty years. At many a G.A.R. reunion he drummed again for his comrades. He was active before he came to California in G.A.R. circles at his home town of Des Moines, Iowa, where he enlisted.

His wife preceded him in death in 1912. From Walla Walla, Wash., Livingston Case, a son, and Mrs. Electra Rogers, a daughter, came to attend the funeral, and from Altoona, Iowa, another daughter, Mrs. Nettie Saultite, made the long journey to do her father last honors. L. D. Case also was present. Mrs. Della Brown, another daughter of Phoenix, Ariz., was unable to be present.

PAIR CONNECTED WITH ROBBERIES

Couple Confessed Fully, Detectives Report

Fifteen Burglaries Believed Committed by Them

Large Supply of Household Goods Recovered

James R. Walton, 25 years of age, identified last week as one of six prisoners who escaped from the Jasper County Jail in Missouri last July, and his wife, Nona May, 21, were connected with fifteen local burglaries yesterday, according to Detective Lieutenants Eddins and Kull of the police burglary squad. Two trunks and a half-dozen suit cases containing about $5000 worth of miscellaneous household goods were recovered in a rear house at 958 East Fifty-third street, where the couple resided, the detectives reported.

Following recovery of the asserted stolen property Walton and his wife made complete confessions, the detectives said. Mrs. Walton, according to the detectives, declared she and her husband would drive about in an automobile with an Alabama license number until they found a house where the occupants were absent. She would then wait in the car while her husband prowled the dwelling, she said.

Later, because it was less suspicious for a woman to dispose of the goods, Mrs. Walton would peddle various articles in pawnshops and second-hand stores, the detectives said she admitted.

The car with the foreign license number is believed to have been stolen, the detectives said.

Walton first was taken into custody in a downtown pawnshop by Detective Lieutenant Kirk of the police pawnshop detail when he attempted, it was stated, to sell a suit of clothes. Mrs. Walton was arrested at their home.

Doheny Estate Claims Allowed for $1,618,299

Claims of $1,618,299.80 against the estate of E. L. Doheny, Jr., millionaire son of the oil magnate, were allowed yesterday by Superior Judge Crail in Probate Court. The claims are addressed to the widow, Lucy Smith Doheny, administratrix, and include a $1,000,000 promissory note and an open book account of $575,509, said to be due the corporation.

The note was held by the Petroleum Securities Corporation and the account by the Los Angeles First National Bank.

Doheny, who was killed by his secretary, who suddenly went insane, left an estate of more than $10,000,000.

RADIO HONORS PRESS OF CITY

Spirit of Co-operation Will Mark Special Event

Fourteen Stations to Carry Program Tomorrow

Breakfast Club to be Scene of Entertainment

> The Times Forum, KHJ, 10:30 a.m., Arthur Millier, art critic of The Times, discussing "The Necessity of Art."

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Establishing a spirit of co-operation and a precedent which breaks all western records, fourteen radio stations of Los Angeles county will simultaneously broadcast a program from the Breakfast Club from 8 to 10 tomorrow morning. The event is given by the Radio and Music Trades Association of Southern California, Ltd., in honor of the metropolitan daily newspapers of this city, and will present an all-star cast of entertainers never equalled on an early morning hour of radio broadcast.

ARTHUR MILLIER

Several hundred representatives of the radio and music trades will assemble for the occasion; the publishers of six local newspapers are to be guests of honor with managers and program directors of the participating broadcast stations present to unify an appreciation of the part which the press has played in the development of radio.

KFWB, Warner Brothers, the official station of the Breakfast Club, will broadcast the program and all other stations will handle it on a rebroadcast basis. Several weeks have been spent in the consummation of the big tie-in and for the preparation of the program which will present the following artists of the motion-picture and musical colonies: Eddie Quillan, Joe E. Brown, Polly Walker, Gary Cooper, James Hall, Harry Green, Jimmy Tolson and Marguerita Vadula. Max Fisher and his orchestra with Virginia Bruce will supply the instrumental background for the two-hour program which will be supervised and presented by Pierre Mellonino.

The serious side of the meeting will be given by Dr. Gordon S. Watkins, professor of economics at U.C.L.A., who will discuss "Business Outlook for 1930."

Fay Marbe, a recent addition to filmland, will make her radio debut.

The association, which recently consolidated the radio and music interests of Southern California, anticipates the biggest year in its history. Tomorrow's regular monthly meeting is an expression of their optimism as well as an appreciation of the co-operation given in the past by the newspapers.

KHJ, the Don Lee station, will feature every Wednesday afternoon from 3:30 to 4, a thirty-minute discussion of the latest books. Professional reviewers from the Los Angeles Public Library will be heard.

DR. GORDON S. WATKINS

Four great vocal artists, Adele Vasa, Helen Oelheim, Fred Daniels and Nathan Stewart will be heard over KHJ this afternoon from 5 to 5:30 in a program coming from New York. The operatic concert opens with a rendition of Wagner's Overture to "Tannhauser." The balance of the program includes operatic highlights from Mozart, Meyerbeer and others.

Polly Moran, Bessie Love and others will feature a Movie Club program over KHJ from 9 to 10 p.m. tonight. Three dialogue numbers are on the bill, which promises a riot of fun.

For the garden lover, KHJ will have Fred C. McNabb at 3 this afternoon.

ADVENTURE SERIES

KFI will present Col. Ed Bailey, explorer and scientist, in an adventure series at 5:30 tonight. At 8:45 p.m., James Burroughs and the Los Caballeros promise a real Spanish program of music and song. For the opera lover, Robert Hurd, Arthur Lang and orchestra will appear on KFI at 9:30 p.m. in a series of light opera compositions, to be followed at 10 p.m. by Noreen Dyer, contralto, with a concert orchestra in classical selections.

KNX promises a feast of beautiful music at 6 tonight when the KNX Ensemble will play excerpts from a number of pleasing compositions. A lot of fun is to be portrayed by Eddie Albright and Georgia Fifield at 7 p.m., when they present "Revolutionary Resolutions." Bridge lovers will turn to their cards at 9:30 tonight when Roy L. Sergeant plays a hand at contract and the same hand at auction bridge.

GEMS FROM CLSSICS

KMTR from 8 to 9:30 this evening will indulge in a "Musical Appreciation," consisting of fourteen instrumental, vocal and orchestral classics. For this entire period the air will be graced with the gems of Handel, Gentry-Mottl, Massenet and others. 'Cello, song and piano solos will be featured. From 9:30 to 10 p.m., Happy Harry will do his best to make you smile.

KFWB will start the day off right at 8, when the Los Angeles Breakfast Club program will be broadcast. Glenn Edmunds's Orchestra, the Whittier College Men's Glee Club, Dr. Walter Dexter, and Fay Marbe, the artist guest of honor, will entertain. Band music, an organ recital and a mystery serial will greet KFWB guests tonight. At 7 a dance orchestra; at 8 an episode of "Who Is Marion;" at 9:30, a strong quintet.

The University of Southern California announces a new evening college course in radio communication, to open tonight at 7 p.m. at Science Hall, Thirty-seventh street and University avenue.

Council Unanimous in Its Action After Being Told His Acts Will be Legal

The City Council yesterday unanimously confirmed Mayor Porter's nomination of Edgar A. Elkins to the Board of Public Works to the vacancy created by the ousting of E. J. Delorey. The confirmation came after the reading of an opinion written by Deputy City Attorney Neal that Elkins's acts as an officer de facto will be considered valid even if Delorey is able to upset the removal in one of the State's higher courts.

Neal pointed out that the Superior Court already has sustained the removal, and it will be months, in all probability, before a final determination of the action may be had. Meanwhile, Neal contends, the actions of Elkins will be deemed valid. Elkins was confirmed in office Monday, but the action was reconsidered pending a legal opinion.

AUTHORITY ON BRIDGE TO LECTURE AT STORE

Spencer S. Kapp, pupil of R. F. Foster, internationally famous authority on bridge, comes to Barker Brothers Saturday for an indefinite stay. He has just returned from a world tour where he acquired the latest conventions in bidding and methods of play in the world's centers. Starting at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Mr. Kapp will lecture on "Auction and Contract Bridge" in Barker Brothers' Auditorium. He will be introduced by Mr. Foster, his former teacher.

"PROBLEMS OF INDIA" WILL BE DISCUSSED

Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, secretary of the World Conference for International Peace Through Religion, will give an address on "The Problems of India" at 11 a.m. today before students of Occidental College at the college chapel. At noon he will discuss "The Attitude of Gandhi, Tagore and Other Asiatic Leaders Toward World Peace" at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Biltmore Hotel. Dr. W. B. Stevens, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Los Angeles, will be chairman of the day and introduce the speaker.

JOAN BENNETT HAS FOX LEAD

"In Love With Love" Picked for Young Actress

Fay Wray Will Play Opposite Gary Cooper

Louise Dresser to Appear in New Fox Film

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

When Vincent Lawrence's charming play, "In Love With Love," in which the late Margaret Lawrence, if our memory serves, starred here at the Majestic, goes into production at Fox studios as a talking picture it will have a splendid cast. Joan Bennett has been borrowed from United Artists for the leading role, while that very excellent actor, Lumsden Hare, will have the important part of Joan's father.

JOAN BENNETT

Hamilton McFadden, the young New York stage director who scored a hit at the Fox studios with his direction of "Harmony at Home," is to direct the Vincent Lawrence comedy.

GARY COOPER GOES TO TEXAS FOR NEXT

It was announced yesterday that the fair Fay Wray will play opposite Gary Cooper as leading lady in "The Texan."

It seems to us, incidentally, that there was once a play called "The Texan," but Paramount declares the story is an original.

FAY WRAY

At any rate that organization says that "The Texan" is a companion picture to "The Virginian," so we'll let it go at that.

John Cromwell is to direct, and many scenes of the picture are to be made in Texas.

Louise Dresser's Plans

Louise Dresser is to star in another picture for Fox, and is then to go east, according to her present plans. Fox officials are still searching for a story for her, and it is expected that one will be selected within a few days.

Following the completion of this picture, Miss Dresser expects to go back to New York for a visit—a trip she has been promising herself for the past several months.

Miss Dresser tells us that she has lately been deluged with telegrams of condolence, regarding the supposed death of her husband, Jack Gardner, former Broadway star and now casting director for Fox.

"Please tell your readers that my husband is very much alive," said Miss Dresser. "There are a lot of Jack Gardners, and my friends seem to have heard of the death of some one of that name, and to believe the person to be my husband."

Denny Has Fine Cast

If Reginald Denny doesn't make a good picture of "The Dark Chapter" it certainly isn't going to be the fault of the cast.

Headed by Miriam Seegar, opposite Denny, as announced in this column last week, other members include Harvey Clark, Greta Granstadt, Lucille Ward, Norma Drew, Charles Colman, Christian Yves and Carlyle Moore.

Stuart Erwin Rewarded

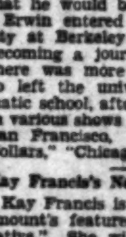
Stuart Erwin, a local boy who until recently has never left California, yesterday signed a five-year contract with Paramount, which will start immediately after the actor returns from New York, where he is to play the leading role opposite Helen Kane in "Dangerous Nan McGrew."



STUART ERWIN

The actor has just completed work in "Young Eagles," starring Buddy Rogers. Evidently his work in "Sweetie" and "Young Eagles" led the producers to believe that he would be a good prospect.

Erwin entered the State university at Berkeley with the idea of becoming a journalist, but decided there was more money in acting, so left the university for a dramatic school, after which he worked in various shows in Los Angeles and San Francisco, including "White Collars," "Chicago" and others.

Kay Francis's New Role

Kay Francis is the latest of Paramount's featured players to "go native." She will lend her charm and sartorial splendor to "Let's Go Native," the rollicking musical comedy and romance in which Jeannette MacDonald, James Hall, Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher, William Austin and others are to appear.

Noted Names in Comedy

That high-class farce has completely submerged slapstick comedy can be seen in the selection of such stage stars as Taylor Holmes and Helen Bolton to play the featured roles in Stephen Roberts's forthcoming Jack White comedy "Dad Knows Best." Roberts himself will direct.

HELEN BOLTON

However, just in case some fan should be disappointed, there is one slapstick role in the comedy, which is in the capable hands of Monte Collins. Maurice Murphy and Evelyn Greer will play the other two parts in the comedy.

IMMORTAL LOVE TALE UNFOLDED

"Romeo and Juliet" Enacted on Belasco Stage

Stratford Players Disclose Consummate Skill

George Hayes, Joyce Bland Take Leading Roles

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," an' it was your privilege to see it last evening at the Belasco Theater, marks another triumph for the Stratford-Upon-Avon Players. For this is Shakespeare as you like it; this is the work of a playwriting man at the blazing summit of his craft, performed with such consummate understanding that it was like discovering the dear treasure of the theater all over again—to witness its unfoldment. One is almost tempted to shout of the advent of a genius newly sprung fullborn from the brow of Thespis, and of a company for the first time complete in the expression of that genius, were it not that neither is anything of the kind. Write it down, then, that a tragedy of the Montagues and Capulets—"for never was a story of more woe than this of Juliet and her Romeo"—will be given again at this playhouse in Los Angeles on the matinee a week from today, and that between now and then other riches will be poured forth in coruscating plenitude on the same stage, and from the same hands. (It hardly seems possible.)

There is none of he too-familiar tedium about Will Shakespeare as the Stratfordians interpret him. The bard's dramas, in both the old and new senses of the word, are virtually "scenarios." Swiftly moving, the progress of their events is unimpeded by such routinely practical things as scene shifters and sets in the De Mille manner. Here, for once, is drama no thoroughly its own master that painted back drops and the shabby necessity of houses and parapets flapping in a backstage wind pass unnoticed or ignored. Carp at the scenery, and a whole procession of thrills of a lifetime will pass you by.

George Hayes and Joyce Bland, b ysome alchemy that is beyond my comprehension, play Romeo and his Juliet without ever letting them descend to the saccharine. This is all the more remarkable when we consider that pathetic eagerness of the average audience to give way to uncontrollable merriment at the slightest protestation of love in the grand manner. Perhaps it was the achievement in an evening of achievements that no one laughed at the wrong time.

Miss Bland's portrayal of torture in the mind, undergone by Juliet ere she drains the sleeping potion, attained a peak in sustained power which I have not seen duplicated by anyone else. The same I can say for Mr. Hayes in his final scene in the tomb. Of the others, one may but touch briefly on the tender humors of Wilfrid Walter as Mercutio, particularly in his dissertation of Queen Mab and her elfin court; on the misguided Friar Laurence's efforts to straighten out a pretty muddle, his sincerity, alas, never doubted (Roy Byford was the friar;) on the Nurse's equally unhappy and wasted exertions for the ultimate good of her mistress Juliet (Olive Walter was she;) and of the contributions made so ably by Eric Maxon as Tyblat, Ernest Hare as Benvolio, Gordon Bailey as Capulet and Oliver Crombie as the Prince of Verona.

It is with these and their comrades that we passed "the two hours' traffic of their stage." What better company?

Australian in Film Farce at United Artists

Clyde Cook, who portrays the faithful Grumio in "Taming of the Shrew," the film farce costarring Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford at the United Artists' Theater, is a native of Australia. He began his career at the age of 6, appearing in a dancing act.

His international career began with an engagement in London as comedian and dancer that extended into five years, only to be followed by another at the Folies Bergere in Paris. The completion of his Parisian run found him again in Australia for a brief stay and then he went to New York, where he obtained a role with Charlie Dillingham in "Happy Days."

Completing the program at United Artists' is Charlie Murray's first all-talking picture, "The Duke of Dublin."

Russian Pianist Plans Brilliant Concert Tonight

Vladimir Horowitz, Russian pianist, will be heard in a complete program at the Philharmonic Auditorium tonight. George Leslie Smith is manager of the concert. The following program has been arranged by Horowitz, for his recital tonight:

"DYNAMITE" ON SCREEN

"Dynamite," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by Cecil B. De Mille, is the feature attraction at the Westlake Theater. This story runs merrily from the haunts of luxury to the depths of a coal mine; from the bars of the "death" cell at State's prison to a colorful ladies' field day at a country club. The principal protagonists are Charles Bickford, Conrad Nagel, Kay Johnson and Julia Faye.

Strange Love Story Continues

Virginia Valli

Has a leading role in "The Lost Zeppelin," a film combining romance and hardship, which is being held over for an additional week at the Million Dollar Theater.

PREMIERE PLANS BRIGHT

Indications are said to point to a successful midnight premiere of "Sally" on Saturday at Warner's Hollywood Theater. The film is from First National and stars Marilyn Miller.

Those who have seen "Sally" on the stage will remember the noted song hits of that show, "Look for the Silver Lining," and "A Wild, Wild Rose." The songs will be heard again and in addition many new songs and dance numbers written especially for the picture. Alexander Gray is the leading man.

A versatile supporting cast will be seen with Miss Miller. Gray, her leading man, formerly sang in "The Desert Song" stage company. Joe E. Brown, noted comedian of the screen and stage, has the principal comedy role. He is aided in the fun-making by T. Roy Barnes, Ford Sterling, Jack Duffy and others. Pert Kelton has the ingenue role, and Cissy Fitzgerald, E. J. Ratcliffe and Maude Turner Gordon are also members of the cast. John Francis Dillon directed.

CHINESE TO PLAN STAGE OFFERING

Abe Lyman Signed for Extended Engagement; Policy Changed

Negotiations have been completed with Abe Lyman, former local newsboy, now a noted band leader and protege of the Prince of Wales, for an engagement on the stage of Grauman's Chinese Theater with his band, according to announcement made today.

ABE LYMAN

Lyman and his rhythmic dynamos will start simultaneously with the world premiere of M.-G.-M.'s production of "The Rogue Song," starring Lawrence Tibbett, on the 17th inst. He will offer on the stage of the Chinese Theater what might be termed "a spectacle of rhythm, color and beauty," with a cast including several popular stage favorites. This engagement is taken as an indication of a resumption of the former Chinese policy of the elaborate stage presentations which were features under the regime of Sid Grauman.

Orpheum Starts Coffee Service as New Feature

Coffee is being served at the Orpheum Theater.

With the opening of "Hit the Deck," this unique theater service was inaugurated by the Orpheum. Its popularity with the patrons has caused the Orpheum management to plan to make it a permanent feature. The inspiration for this coffee service comes from "Loloo's Coffee Shop" in "Hit the Deck."

Jack Oakie as "Bilge" Smith is the featured player in "Hit the Deck," with the supporting cast including Polly Walker, June Clyde, Marguerita Padula, Ethel Clayton, Wallace MacDonald and the Brox sisters. It was directed by Luther Reed. An all-talking comedy, "Good Medicine," with Edward Everett Horton, Enid Bennett and Olive Tell is also on the bill.

HUGH ALLAN TRAVELS

Hugh Allan, young juvenile, was just beginning to feel at home after a two-month location trip in Honolulu for the filming of "Aloha," when he was called to San Francisco, so made a flying business trip to the northern city. While there he visited for a day with his parents, returning to Hollywood the first of the week. He is completing negotiations for his next contract.

NO LULL FOUND

Dot Farley, popular free-lance player, closed 1929 by completing two pictures during the holiday month, "Good Manners" at Warner Brothers and "Old Vamps for New" for Darmour. After having a very busy schedule during the entire year at several Hollywood studios, she did not find any Christmas lull in productions.

TUNEFUL FILM TO HAVE RUN

R.-K.-O. Books "Tanned Legs," Starring Former Stage Favorites

As one of the first musical shows to be written directly for the screen, with five original song numbers and a chorus, "Tanned Legs," a Radio picture, will be given its first presentation at the R.-K.-O. Theater tomorrow.

Ann Pennington, noted Ziegfeld star, will be seen in several specialty dances with Allen Kearns. Albert Gran, remembered as the old taxi driver of "Seventh Heaven," portrays a high stepper, finally brought to his senses by his youthful daughter, June Clyde. Others in the cast include Sally Blane, Arthur Lake, Dorothy Revier, Edmund Burns, Nella Walker and Lincoln Stedman.

The Kelso Brothers' musical revue, "Cuttin' Capers," is the R.-K.-O. stage feature. Bob Armstrong and James Gleason make their final appearance tonight on the screen in the Pathe talking railroad comedy, "Oh, Yeah."

Duffy Believes Unknown Writer Now Has Chance

Henry Duffy believes that the time for the American playwright is the present.

"With many of the best known dramatists of the country writing exclusively for talking pictures, the opportunity for the unknown playwright who has something to say is right now," says the actor-producer, who is appearing with Dale Winter and the Henry Duffy Players at the President in "The Cat and the Canary."

"In the last four months I have read nearly 200 unproduced manuscripts and out of that list have found at least fifteen that are worth presenting. When you comprehend how many hundreds of people, many of them with no knowledge of the theater, are endeavoring to white plays, this is a high average," he said.

Current Comedy at Majestic to Terminate Run

Members of what local playgoers have acclaimed one of the most versatile casts ever presented here will be seen together for the last tim when the curtain rings down on the final performance of "Among the Married" at the Majestic Theater Saturday night.

The comedy is replete with talent, garnered from both the stage and screen. The cast includes Edward Everett Horton, Florence Eldridge, Gavin Gordon, Phil Tead, Fred Cummings and Doris Lloyd.

The final performance of "Among the Married" will also constitute a temporary farewell to the stage for Edward Everett Horton, who is concluding his footlight activities for the time being.

GIANNINI SINGS WAY TO FAVOR

Philharmonic Audience Pays Tribute to Noted Soprano

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Giannini again delighted a throng of song lovers at the Philharmonic Auditorium last night. Many of her songs were of the heroic type, and she endowed them with rare nobility. She is a most satisfying artist, never stinting a performance, ever giving of her best—and the best from Giannini is superlative. Miss Molly Bernstein provided the indispensable backing at the piano.

Naturally, the finest numbers on the program were Italian. A group of unusual songs by Cimara, Benvenuti, Respighi and Puccini established the tone of the evening, and a concluding group of folk-songs, particularly well arranged by Mme. Giannini's brother Vittorio, were more than effective. They were arresting in their beauty.

"Rispetto" by Benvenuti displayed a glorious vocal power and the solemn "Nebbie" by Respighi was a masterful study in the dramatic force of a scale. "Heart Cry" by V. Giannini was an unforgettable song of sorrow as Dusolina Giannini sang it. The love song of Mischa Levitzki was a tender and charming utterance.

The Italian folk-songs arranged by V. Giannini bring new life to the literature of soprani. "Sing to Me," "Luise," "Manella Mia" and the deliciously staccato "Menechei" were perfect little gems, spontaneous, melodious outpourings of a warm, emotional, music-loving people.

Giannini goes to Europe again after this tour to sing in opera. Some day, I hope she will sing opera in Los Angeles, but more than that—I hope she will always have this city on her list of places to present song recitals. Her art is rare in the sea of showmanship and bad singing with which the concert world is flooded.

'Laughing Lady' Features Noted Dramatic Star

In less than a year's time, Ruth Chatterton has risen to a place of prominence in the film world. Tomorrow she appears in her latest talking picture, "The Laughing Lady," at the Paramount Theater. In it she is supported by Clive Brook.

Miss Chatterton's fan mail, according to the Paramount studio, has increased to such a volume in the past few months that she is close to the leadership held by Clara Bow. Her first appearance was in support of Emil Jannings in one of his last pictures before his return to Germany—"Sins of the Fathers." Since then she has been starred in "The Doctor's Secret," "Madame X" and "Charming Sinners."

In "The Laughing Lady" Miss Chatterton portrays the role of a woman who laughs at scandal, at the irony of fate, but who could not laugh when the chance came to ruin the man who had wrecked her life.

Biltmore Will Present Animal Hunt on Screen

"Hunting Tigers in India," the American Museum of Natural History picture coming to the Biltmore Theater Sunday night, is said to be one of the best travel pictures of India ever filmed and is also notable for being a pictorial record of a modern tiger hunt.

The expedition, sent out by the American Museum of Natural History under A. S. Varney, traversed India in search of several specimens of fauna needed by the museum. Commander Dyott, the Amazon River of Doubt explorer accompanied the expedition and acted as the photographer. A one-horned rhinoceros, rare swamp deer and other much coveted creatures were bagged and the hunt terminated in a chase for three man-killing tigers.

As a sort of prologue to the Dyott picture, a series of news events will be thrown on the screen. These will be of special interest, it is said, because of the fact that they are thirty years old.

William Haines Makes Debut on Talking Screen

Tonight ends the week's showing of Norma Shearer in "Their Own Desire" at Loew's State Theater. Lewis Stone, Belle Bennett and Robert Montgomery head the cast in this story of modern youth and equally modern parents.

"Navy Blues," opening tomorrow, brings William Haines in his first all-dialogue production. This is described as a rollicking comedy of shore leaves and shore loves. Charley Chase in "Snappy Sneezer" is an added comedy attraction.

The Stanford-Army game and President Hoover's reception to President-elect Ortiz Rubio of Mexico in Washington are highlights of the new issue of Fox Movietone News.

Swedish Comic Will Take Bow

A celebration of anniversary week begins tonight at the Criterion Theater with personal appearances of El Brendel and Charles Judels, the eccentric musician of "Hot for Paris."

This will mark the first of a series of personal appearances which will take place at the Criterion during the week in observance of the birthday of the theater. It is planned to present among others Victor McLaglen and Fifi Dorsay.

RAIN FOLLOWED BY COLD SNAP

of the United States Weather Bureau for Los Angeles were as follows: .58 of an inch for the twenty-four hours ending at 5 p.m. yesterday; 1.06 inches for the storm, which began last Sunday morning. The total precipitation for the season is 1.40 inches, as compared to 4.66 inches for this time last year. The normal rainfall total for this time of year is 5.22 inches.

Continued cool weather, but fair and no rain, is the official forecast of the Weather Bureau for today and tomorrow, the official announcement reading: "Fair Wednesday and Thursday, continued cool, diminishing northwest to north winds."

The highest temperature yesterday was 54 and the lowest 43 deg.

FREAK HAIL FALL

In the Los Angeles area the afternoon yesterday saw scurrying clouds with occasional local showers. Near Santa Paula there was a freak fall of hail about the size of peas and hail was also reported from Fontana.

In San Gabriel Canyon the fall was recorded as 1 inch, while Glendora reported a precipitation of .63 of an inch.

Rain reports for Monday night's storm to the county flood control showed Opid's Camp, 1.11 inches; Switzer's Camp, 1; Clear Creek, 1; San Gabriel Canyon, 1.06 inches; San Gabriel Dam, .94 of an inch; Topanga Ranger Station, .60; Newhall, .40; Pacoima Dam, .38; Alta Canada, .61; Little Cienega, .86; Mt. Wilson, .64; Santa Anita Dam, .21, and Puddingstone Dam, .47.

HEAVY WINDS

The rainstorm was general over Southern California as well as up and down the Coast, with rather heavy seas and some high winds at some of the beach towns in Los Angeles county. Redondo, particularly, reported an unusually heavy wind which was estimated to have reached a velocity of about fifty miles an hour during the height of the storm Monday night. Small craft were thrown up on the beach by the wind and heavy seas, and yesterday morning a number of the power boats that were able left Redondo for the shelter of San Pedro. Some of the Redondo power lines were short-circuited by the wind and a portion of the city was plunged into darkness for a time.

Santa Monica reported a stiff gale with high tides during the night, with practically no damage. Heavy combers raked the beaches as the gale which followed the rain became more violent.

Reports from the harbor district said no damage was done despite a stiff chop of the sea and heavy ground swells, the wind roaring in from the northwest.

CROPS BENEFITED

The rain was a great benefit to ranchers of Southern California, but officials of the local water department counselled residents against the tendency to feel that as long as it rained there is no need to be economical in the use of water.

County Horticultural Agent Ryan's office stated that the rain was of untold value to the Southland. Although it is not certain that any of the citrus districts received enough rain to constitute a complete irrigation, there has been enough in practically all districts to be of very material help to the trees that have not been heavily irrigated, according to K. L. Wolff of Ryan's office. The winter cover crops in citrus orchards were very greatly helped. Even the removal of the dust from the trees is valuable in that the leaves are thereby allowed to function as they normally should, Wolff said. It will now be possible for growers of annual grain crops to break the ground and get the seeds in that should have been put in several weeks ago. The bean growers also will be helped in their planting preparations.

"Everybody is thankful for what we have had, but we could use more," said Wolff.

WATER SUPPLY

The same thought was expressed by H. A. Van Norman, head of the city water department, who pointed out that as far as adding to the domestic water supply locally, the rain was negligible. It served to cut down the use of water for sprinkling, he said, but what helps in replenishing the supply for the city is the amount of snow that falls in the high Sierras on the Owens Valley watershed. Reports from the valley yesterday stated that the snowfall up there was rather light.

The Southern California Edison Company reported snow on the ground at its plants in the high Sierras as follows yesterday: Florence Lake 12 inches, Huntington Lake 27 inches, Shaver Lake 14 inches, Big Creek Plant No. 1, No. 2 and No. 8 13 inches, 4 inches and 2 1-4 inches, respectively.

Ventura reported a five-minute snowstorm yesterday between 3:20 and 3:25 p.m., when the flakes fell in the business section. The white flakes melted as fast as they hit the ground and the freak storm then turned into a light sprinkle.

WINTER SPORTS BOOSTED

As the long-waited-for snow fell on the mountains winter sports enthusiasts prepared to make the most of the opportunity. At Big Pines County Recreation Camp five inches of snow fell, with good tobogganing, ice skating, skiing — and both roads to the camp open. Skis, skates and toboggans can be rented at the park, it was said. At 5 o'clock last night the thermometer at the camp was down to 24 deg. and still going down. It was still snowing.

Camp Seeley, the city of Los Angeles playground in the San Bernardino Mountains, also reported about six inches of snow, with opportunity and equipment for winter sports of all kinds available.

Mt. Wilson reported four inches of snow, as did Mt. Lowe, both points affording what might be termed a close-in opportunity to take a whirl at old man winter. Snow also was reported at Forest Home and Idyllwild.

Big Bear Lake and Arrowhead reported from three to five inches. The snow reports received from the Angeles Forest peaks showed a fall at Oat Mountain of 10 inches; Opid's Camp, 5; Mt. Gleason, 7, and Camp Baldy, 3.

Reports to the county flood control gave snow in the mountains at Loomis ranch, 6 inches; Pacifico Road Camp, 6 inches; Little Cienega, 4 inches, with a fall varying from one to five inches at Cross Country Club, Topanga ranger station, Bel-Air, Granada and Newhall.

San Diego also reported snow-covered mountains in that district, on Laguna, Palomar and Cuyamaca peaks, the snow extending to the Viejas Valley, about five miles east of Alpine. San Diego netted 1.08 inches of rain from the storm, according to Dean Blake, the government weather man down there. Fair weather for today was forecast.

Snowfall was reported in the mountains above Bakersfield, with 5 inches at Glennville and 3 inches at Kernville.

FREEZE WARNINGS ISSUED IN NORTH

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. (Exclusive)—Leaving lowlands well sprinkled with much-wanted moisture and mountain tops heavily crested with much-wanted snow, King Winter moved southeastward today leaving extreme cold weather behind. The Weather Bureau tonight issued a warning of freezing weather and heavy frosts in practically all the valleys of Northern and Central California, sending orchardists for the smudge pots. There will be more snow in the mountains, according to Forecaster Summers, but the prospect otherwise is for clear and cold weather.

The mercury dropped to 39 deg. in San Francisco today and to the freezing point at Oakland Airport, which is more exposed than is the downtown section in Oakland. The minimum among official stations was registered at the Sierra summit, where eight inches of new snow fell in a temperature of 15 deg. Freezing or subfreezing readings were reported also from Chico, Independence, Lindsay, Oroville, Paso Robles, Point Reyes, Rocklin and Santa Rosa.

Snow at the Sierra Summit now is fifty-five inches deep and at the Cascade Summit, twenty-five inches. Snow plows still are in service in the Redding section keeping highways open. Yosemite's snow carpet has been increased to thirteen inches, with forty-two inches on the summits surrounding the park. Sequoia National Park reported twelve inches.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (AP)—Phil Scott, of England, and Jack Sharkey, Boston sailor, will meet in the ring at the second annual "battle of the palms" in Miami, Fla., February 27, it was announced tonight.

JACK SHARKEY

The announcement, made by the Madison Square Garden Corporation, sponsors of the Miami battle, said representatives of Scott and Sharkey had agreed to terms and would formally sign contracts tomorrow.

Just what financial arrangements were made the Garden declined to say until the contracts are made public tomorrow. The announcement followed a long conference at the Garden of representatives of the corporation, Sharkey and Scott.

DIFFICULTIES ENDED

Selection of Scott as Sharkey's opponent at Miami ends all of the garden's difficulties in getting the Boston sailor's consent to fulfill his contract obligations. Previously Sharkey had declared he would not

Shires was introduced as the "Idol of Baseball" and this drew a chorus of boos and cheers. When Faeth was introduced, however, the big crowd went wild and words of encouragement were shouted to the pitcher to get the "wise guy."

Faeth was so completely out that he had to be carried to his corner. Shires assisted Faeth's seconds in this task. After the bout, Charles Arthur attempted to make a speech, but was drowned out in a series of boos.

RUTH FAILS TO SIGN CONTRACT

Bambino Wants $85,000 and Three-Year Pact

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (AP)—A conference between Babe Ruth and the Yankees over the home-run king's new contract broke up in failure today. The Babe refused to accept a two-year offer calling for $75,000 per year and Col. Jacob Ruppert, the Yankee owner, rejected Ruth's counter-proposal for a three-year agreement at $85,000 a year.

Ruth's salary for the past three years has been $70,000. The Yankees offered to renew this for one year, as well as to boost the amount $5000 for a two-year term but the big hitter declined both proposals.

CLOTHIERS THUMP H.A.C.

Wichita Basketeers Romp Over Local Club Cage Artists to Tune of 50 to 29

BY BOB RAY

Playing a speedy brand of basketball that swept their opponents off their feet, Henry's Clothiers, the touring casaba cagers from Wichita, Kan., buried the Hollywood Athletic Club quintet under a 50-to-29 score last night in the losers' gym.

The Clothiers, who only nosed out the L.A.A.C. team by 3 points Monday night, started fast, chalking up 10 digits before the Circle-H outfit realized the game was on, and were never threatened by the Hollywood quintet.

FLOYD BURKE

Potter Goff, flashy Kansas center, played a superlative game for the losers and found the hoop for 20 points to easily carry off high-scoring honors for the night. Harold Davis, midget forward, and Joe Hewett, thrice named American forward, helped Goff pile up the visitors' imposing score, the pair registering 21 points between them. Hewett, who was off form against L.A.A.C., never scored a point last night until the closing minutes of the game when he got hot and sunk five of the Clothiers' last seven baskets. Hewett got his famous one-hand push shot functioning near the close of the contest and all but one of his field goals were of the sensational variety.

Capt. Berry Dunham, all-American guard, and his running-mate, Floyd Burke, again played some great defensive ball to keep down the Hollywooders' score. Dunham, a husky 185-pounder, also showed the customers something in the line of sinking 'em from the middle of the floor, the big Wichita guard whisking four long ones through the net in the first half to help the visitors pile up their early lead.

The Hollywooders, although they fought hard, were just naturally up against too good a team. They were

F. F. TWOGOOD

The Mercuries finally found themselves in Monday's game against the Henry's Clothiers from Wichita, Kan., and the visitors only nosed out the clubmen, 33 to 30, with a last-minute spurt.

MORTENSEN AND HILL NAMED AS COACHES AT RIVERSIDE

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 7. (AP)—Jess Mortensen and Jesse Hill, prominent members of the University of Southern California football and track teams, will take over the coaching assignments of Riverside High School and Junior College next fall, it was announced by the Board of Education here today. Hill, a graduate of Riverside Junior College, will be head coach of that institution, with Mortensen installed as high school mentor. Both played in the Trojan backfield during the past season, and both were outstanding tracksters. Hill holds the national Intercollegiate Athletic Association broad jump record, while Mortensen, formerly of Gila Academy, Thatcher, Ariz., is the junior A.A.U. javelin record holder. Mortensen is also a star basketball player.

TROJAN TOSSERS TO GO NORTH TOMORROW NIGHT

With eleven to fourteen players, two coaches, one doctor, two student managers and one faculty representative composing the party the University of Southern California basketball team will leave tomorrow night on the Padre for Oakland where the squad opens the Pacific Coast Conference season against the University of California quintet on Friday and Saturday nights, the 10th and 11th inst. The contests will be played on the Bears' home court in the Oakland Auditorium.

The players who are certain of making the trip are Henry Cano, Aaron Nibley, Jack Gardner, Herman Hirdler and William Pierce, forwards; Frank Smith and Henry Walbot, centers, and Wilbur Caldwell, Raymond Harris, Capt. ## FARRELL, TURNESA SEEK TO JOIN SELECT CIRCLE

Former National Open Champ in Crucial Test at Lakeside; Field of 300 Battles for Places

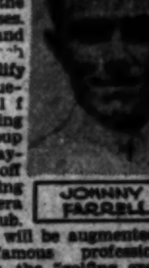
BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

While Riviera, quiet as a battlefield just before the zero hour, awaits the opening shot of the fifth annual Los Angeles $10,000 open chambpionship on Friday morning, 300 amateurs and pros engage in a thirty-six-hole qualifying skirmish today over seven local courses.

Lakeside, Los Angeles, Wilshire, Sunset Fields, Fox Hills, Rancho and Hollywood will be the center of the gathering storm this morning with fifty-odd golfers to qualify at each of the seven courses. Low eleven and ties from each course qualify for the blue-ribbon golf classic, making a select group of eighty players to tee off Friday morning at the Riviera Country Club. That number will be augmented by forty-three famous professionals and amateurs, the "golfing greats" who finished among the low thirty in either the national or Los Angeles opens of 1929 to win exemption.



JOHNNY FARRELL

Outstanding among those who must qualify are Johnny Farrell, debonair professional of St. Augustine, Fla., United States open champion of 1928, and a member of America's Ryder Cup team; Joe Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., also a Ryder Cup team player; Olin Dutra of the Brentwood Country Club, leading money winner of the 1929-1930 season, so far, Charles Guest, Southern California P.G.A. champion, and Bill Mehlhorn of New York.

ERROR CORRECTED

Farrell and Turnesa both qualify at Lakeside, Dutra plays at Hollywood, Guest will be tested over the north course of the Los Angeles Country Club, and Mehlhorn at Rancho.

In checking over its exemption list, the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce uncovered an error or two, and was pleased to announce last night that Tony Manero of New York, winner of the Catalina open, and Johnny Rogers of Denver, would not be required to qualify as they both finished among

ARMOUR ANNEXES TOURNEY

Sets Two Course Records to Cop Annual Lloyd Golf Championship

Tommy Armour of the Tam O' Shanter Country Club, Detroit, United States open champion of 1927, and ranked as the greatest iron shot maker in the game, established two new course records, for nine and eighteen holes, respectively, to win the fourth annual Harold Lloyd invitation tournament, played yesterday over the Lloyd Beverly Hills estate, with scores of 30-29—59.

TOMMY ARMOUR

Armour led W. H. (Wiffy) Cox of Brooklyn, N. Y., second-place winner, with 33-31—64, by five strokes. Cox tied for second prize with Al Watrous of Detroit, but won the play-off on the first hole, when he canned a twenty-five-foot putt for a birdie 2.

"Wild William" Mehlhorn of New York scored 33-33—66, to tie with Willie Hunter of Montebello Park, 34-32—66, and Harry Cooper, 32-34—66. Tony Manero, winner of the Catalina open, carded 32-35—67, as did Al Espinosa of Chicago, 33-34—67.

HAGEN'S MARK BROKEN

Armour's 30 in the morning tied the existing competitive record established by Walter Hagen last year, and his 29 in the afternoon, three strokes under par, will give

Everett Marshall Tangles With Joe Malcewicz in Feature Olympic Bout To

EX-AMATEUR GETS CHANCE

Former Cougar Athlete in Feature Tangle

Utica Panther is Choice in Mat Struggle

Daro Has Classy Program for First Card

EVERETT MARSHALL

Everett Marshall isn't a Trojan, and Joe Malcewicz never went to the University of Pittsburgh, but the recent Rose Bowl football is being taken by "hunch" players that the former will win the main event of Lou Daro's first wrestling program of 1930 at the Olympic Auditorium tonight.

Marshall is the former Washington State College amateur who has never been beaten, while Malcewicz, if you don't already know it, has been called the "Utica Panther." Considering what happened to the Pittsburgh Panthers when they hooked up with a Pacific Coast contender, it looks sad for the slippery eastern grappler.

The ex-Cougar hero is a 22-year-old 210-pounder who is supposed to possess the greatest array of arm holds which have been seen here since "Honest John" Pesek used to toss the boys around. He has looked highly impressive in a few local starts, uncovering wristlocks, armlocks, hammerlocks and arm scissors for the general edification of all concerned. The airplane spin and the crotch and half-nelson slam are a couple of others he has used to advantage.

AFTER CROWN

Marshall is headed for the championship; make no mistake about that. If he loses tonight, he intends to dash right out and build himself into another big shot. A victory over Malcewicz won't exactly put him in the title-challenging class, but it will establish him as one of the real sensations of the game today. He was unbeaten as an amateur in three years of wrestling at Washington State. He turned professional last February, and hasn't lost a match. If he wins tonight he is willing and ready to meet Joe Stecher, Ed Lewis, Marin Plestina, Stanley Stasiak or anybody else that stands in his way of a match with Gus Sonnenberg.

Curiously enough it was Joe (Toots) Mondt, present manager of Richard Schikat who has some claim or other on the grappling crown, who taught Marshall how to wrestle. Mondt is from Greeley, Colo., and Marshall is from La Junta, a near-by town. The youngster used to bum his way to Greely to watch Mondt and his stable of behemoths in action, and learned the game there.

Malcewicz is rated a 10-to-7 favorite tonight because of his experience and ability. There is no smarter wrestler in the game today. He has beaten plenty of topnotchers, held the championship for a short time once, and can give anybody a real battle. He isn't as heavy as Marshall, but in his backward body slam he owns a hold in which he uses the other fellow's weight to his own advantage, and if he drops the ex-Cougar over his head, he will reward his backers' confidence in a hurry.

Marshall is supposed to have worked out a defense for the body slam. He's got to be fast to do it, but if it works the fans will see an exceptionally slick piece of work, according to all reports. The defense is combined with an offensive maneuver that winds up with Malcewicz on the receiving end of a double wristlock that is likely to spell disaster.

The bout is a big test for Marshall. If he loses, it's no disgrace, for Malcewicz has beaten plenty of good men; but if he wins, he'll be title-bound on a one-way track.

The engagement is for two-out-of-three falls to a finish. The other two events carry plenty of class and distinction, what with two physicians of some repute displaying their bulging muscles.

ADONIS ON CARD

Dr. Karl Sarpolis, standing six feet two inches, and weighing 215 pounds, hooks up with Dick Daviscourt, a popular avocado grower, in the second event, one fall, one-hour time limit. Sarpolis is known as the Adonis of the ring, and is said to resemble Nick Lutze in action. He recently beat Ira Dern, Charley Draak, the former Olympic king, and John Evko, who gave Pesek a great battle not long ago. He wrestled Lutze in a two-hour draw.

Dr. Perry Alva Mulliken and Al Baffert hook up in the opener. This bout might be billed as being for the championship of Hollywood, thirty minutes, one fall.

DYNAMITE JACKSON AND HOLLOWAY MIX

Rated by many experts as the real heavyweight champion of the Pacific Coast, Dynamite Jackson, 19-year-old negro giant, will meet George Holloway, Pacific Fleet champion, in one half of next Saturday night's double main event at the Main-street Athletic Club. According to Wirt Ross, Jackson's manager, neither Les Kennedy nor Frankie Campbell will accept Dynamite as an opponent.

Jack (Red) Stephens and Kid Ponce, 128-pounders, clash in the other wind-up bout Saturday night.

TIGERS PLAY PUENTE

Occidental's green and inexperienced group of freshmen basketball representatives will journey to Puente High tonight for a practice cage tilt with the prep hoopsters on their home court. Coach Bill Anderson carries with him very little hopes for any victory against the prepsters, for he has hardly had time to instruct his charges as yet.

RABBIT PUNCHES

A SOUTHERN LOWDOWN

NEW YORK writers and Pittsburgh writers have been heard from to a certain extent on the Army debacle and the Pitt massacre, but it remains for a columnist of the dear old South to call the turn on the New Year's Day game.

In an article headed "Those Smart Westerners," Mr. McG. Keefe of the New Orleans Times-Picayune tells his readers just why Southern California picked Pitt as an opponent in preference to Tulane, an undefeated team of the South.

Assuming that local readers also desire enlightenment your correspondent appends Mr. McG. Keefe's remarks, which were sent to him by E. T. Mackie with a notation, "Good reading for you westerners":

"Well, well; after taking a slant or two at the score of the Southern California-Pittsburgh game, one doesn't need a brick house to fall on him to see why the Californians chose an eastern team this time for their Rose Bowl game instead of a southern team. And you can't blame them, either. It is only right they should win a game now and then.

"By the same token we guess the southern teams can just count themselves out of California competition. Those Californians have gone ahead and mopped up with almost every team that could be sent against them from the East or Middle West. But every time they hooked up with a squad from old Dixie the best they could hope for was a tie and they only got one of them. The rest of the times they landed second money.

"It doesn't go so well with the home folks—seeing the local heroes always on the underside of the score. So in spite of the fact that the 'great' Pittsburgh team put four men on the all-American, Southern California chose the Panthers in preference to Tulane or Tennessee.

"That affair of last year, in which the Golden Tornado gave California such a going-over that poor Roy Riegels forgot which end of the field belonged to California, just about settled southern teams with California.

"The Californians didn't mind meeting Notre Dame and the Army. Southern California was nosed out by Notre Dame in Chicago, 13 to 12, and Stanford trimmed the Army. But it didn't take a Philadelphia lawyer to figure out that Georgia's 15-to-0 triumph over Yale, Yale's victory over Army and the luck Notre Dame needed to beat Army spoke worlds for the strength of southern teams. Tulane, it will be remembered, outclassed Georgia.

"Tulane didn't get a man on any of the all-American teams picked by the big shots; Pittsburgh got four.

"But those Californians study their geography—and football scores. And the chances are that it will be tougher, in years to come, to coax them into a game with a southern team.

"Just think! Pacific Coast teams won all their intersectional games except three, and it took a southern team to give one of the Pacific Coasters its worst beating. Notre Dame just nosed out Southern California and Chicago trimmed Washington, but old Florida put the skids under Oregon in such decisive manner that Oregon, it is said, has decided to stay out of Dixie.

"It is too hot down here! The climate, of course, we mean.

"That is, it was too hot for Yale and Oregon.

"And Alabama and Georgia Tech evidently have been taking some of the atmosphere to California with them.

"Wonder how many Panthers would have made the all-American if the pickers had waited for the returns of the Rose Bowl battle? And with four all-Americans on the Pitt team, what sort of players must those other seven men be to get beat by a 47-14 score?"

FAINT FIGHTING SIGNS

HORRORS! It has now been discovered—or at least the process is under way—that Primo Carnivorous, or whatever the name happens to be of this Italian giant, is about to reveal signs of intelligence as a fighter.

This will come as a sad blow to the great mass of gloved pachyderms masquerading under the guise of heavyweight pugilists.

Griffiths was too small.

Naturally, it follows that Sharkey will declare Primo too big.

The great Sharkey is a 190-pounder. Griffiths is not much over the 180-pound mark—a light heavyweight.

Primo hits 280 pounds on both hoofs, and towers 6 feet, 8 inches in the sky.

He is the biggest heavyweight that has tramped a ring since Jess Willard's time.

Willard, the champion who won the title with Jack Johnson blinking up at the sun in an Havana ring back in 1915, was 6 feet, 6 inches tall and weighed 250 pounds.

Generally, these big fellows are so slow of foot that they are mere chopping blocks for a lighter, faster man.

Jack Dempsey was outweighed sixty pounds by Willard when they met at Toledo in 1919, but he speared the giant Jess into submission in three rounds. The same thing has been true in similar matches. Primo may be the exception, and his case will be watched with interest.

NEW LLOYD RECORD

FOR something tricky and sporty commend me to the golf course of the leading screen funmaker of the universe. Mr. Harold Lloyd. It's only nine holes and the par is 32, but try and beat it.

The best have tried—that's the funny part of it—and been found wanting.

The invitation list is as select as one for a Presidential dinner. Only the topnotchers get a bid.

Not that Mr. Lloyd is exclusive, but his course has limitations, and he has to sacrifice his customary democracy in the interests of those he invites.

Twice the par of Mr. Lloyd's course—32 for 1060 yards—has been beaten unofficially. Eddie Loos once registered a 28 and Tommy Armour a 29 on another occasion.

Yesterday 30 was cracked for the first time in the annual Harold Lloyd invitation tourney, and it was Tommy Armour, the canny Scott, a former national champion, who hung up the new mark of 29.

The previous record was 30, and it was registered by Walter Hagen last year.

Armour had a great chance for a 28, but he missed a four-foot putt for a birdie on the eighth, and had to be content with a 29. But that mark is some shooting over Mr. Lloyd's course, which calls for accuracy first, last and all the time.

TAMIO ABE TO LEAVE FOR EUROPEAN SHORES

Tamio Abe, captain of the Japanese Davis Cup team, who has been wintering in Southern California and studying at Pomona College, will leave this city for Europe within the next three weeks to prepare himself for the Davis Cup matches in the European zone. Abe is the former national champion of Japan, which title he has not defended because of absence from his native country.

TEXAS TO MEET MISSOURI

AUSTIN (Tex.) Jan. 7. (AP)—Negotiations have been completed for four football games between Texas University and Missouri University, starting in 1931, Dr. N. J. Ettlinger, director of athletics at the University of Texas, announced today.

CLUB SWIM TEAM CHOICE TONIGHT

With three consecutive dual-meet victories to its credit, the crack swimming team from the Deauville-Commercial Club will tackle the local Y.M.C.A. team in the latter squad's home tank tonight. Coach Howard Ploessel is developing a crack squad and his undefeated outfit will be favorites tonight. With a number of well-known local performers, including Bob Crosby, Tom Medilcott, Jack White, Sheldon White, Tom Peirce, Stanley Anin, Jimmy Egan and the like, the Deauville-Commercial outfit is expected to score decisively at the expense of Coach Cadwallader's "Y" squad.

SAGEHEN FIVE PLAYS CALTECH

Rival Tossers Mix Saturday on Pasadena Floor

Coach Merritt's Team Busy Practicing Plays

Putnam Joins Squad Though Handicapped by Arm

CLAREMONT, Jan. 7.—With the first game on the Southern Conference schedule to be played this coming Saturday night Coach Earl Merritt and his Sagehen basketball team are putting in a strenuous week of practice. The Pomona team has been unable to practice during the vacation period so both Merritt and the boys realize the work that lies before them. Pomona opens the season against Caltech, Saturday, the Engineers playing host to the Sagehens.

Merritt plans to make several changes before the week is over, one of them being the insertion of Frank Clements in at one of the guard positions. He will team with Owen Kelson, veteran from last year. This pair of guards will give the Sagehens plenty of scoring power for both Kelson and Clements are good shots, Clements having held down a forward position on last year's frosh team. Clements is also a capable floor worker and his ability to work the ball down the floor should aid the Pomona team considerably.

Bishop will undoubtedly hold down the center position and Hal Hadfield will perform at one of the forward berths. The other front-line position sees Stahn Hahn and little Steve Stroud alternating. However, Hahn will probably get the call as he boasts of more experience than does Stroud.

Al Putnam, who played forward last year, will see plenty of service after he gets in condition, but at present he is anything from being in that state for he has been unable to work out due to an injury to his arm. He reported for practice this afternoon, however, and should be ready for work within a couple of weeks.

The Pomona schedule for the year follows:

January 11—Pomona vs. Caltech at Caltech.
January 18—Pomona vs. San Diego at Pomona.
February 1—Pomona vs. Whittier at Whittier.
February 8—Pomona vs. Oxy at Oxy.
February 15—Pomona vs. Redlands at Pomona.
February 22—Pomona vs. Oxy at Pomona.
March 1—Pomona vs. La Verne at La Verne.

MIAMI WILL BE SCENE OF BOUT

box Tuffy Griffith in the southern arena. He named Scott as the opponent he wanted to meet.

The Garden immediately went into a huddle with Jimmy Johnston, Scott's manager, and after wrangling over terms for several days finally emerged with an offer agreeable to the Britisher's representative. Johnston had been holding out for 25 per cent of the receipts as opposed to 20 per cent offered by the Garden. A compromise between these two figures probably was arrived at, although the Garden was reticent on that subject.

Sharkey's objections to various opponents suggested by the Garden were based on the theory that as the outstanding American contender for the vacant heavyweight throne he should be asked to meet only outstanding rivals. Griffith, he maintained, was too small and would not prove to be a good box office attraction in the South.

Another heavyweight menace, Primo Carnera, of Italy, became official today as the New York State Athletic Commission met and suspended indefinitely the harassed Art Shires, fighting first baseman of the Chicago White Sox. Shires, granted a license here before he knocked out Bad Bill Bailey in Buffalo in a round, will be investigated along the lines of the charges filed against him before the Michigan and Illinois boxing commissions in regard to alleged "dives" of his opponents. There probably will be an inquiry also into Shires's abrupt disposal of Bailey.

CARNERA LICENSED

Carnera, the 283-pound behemoth, and his manager, Leon See, were granted licenses by the commission which ruled out Carl Carter, Chicago negro, as his first foeman.

Carter is not considered a fit opponent. A three-year managerial contract between See and Carnera was approved.

PROBE CLEARS SHIRES'S NAME

CHICAGO, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—The Illinois Boxing Commission today probed the alleged confession of James Gary, alias James Gerry, alias Mysterious Dan Daly, in which Gary was said to have stated that he did a nose dive for the Great Shires in the latter's premiere as a pugilist here on December 9, and reached the conclusion that Gary had been knocked cold and that no effort had been made to put Gary in the tank.

Shires and his manager, Messie Blumenthal, did not appear at the hearing because of the former's boxing engagement in St. Paul but promised to be on hand tomorrow.

Promoter Jim Mullen, who staged the Shires-Daly fight and Eddie Meade, who served as Daly's handler in consideration of $10 in hand paid, attended the hearing. Although formal decision was withheld until after tomorrow's hearing, it was indicated that Mullen and Meade would be absolved of all charges of irregularities.

RIVAL FOR CARNERO

PEORIA (Ill.) Jan. 7. (AP)—Primo Carnero and Vittorio Campolo, giants of the ring, take heed. James Easte, a 20-year-old truck driver, who stands 7 feet in his hosiery and weighs slightly more than 200 pounds, aspires to boxing accomplishment and has taken his first step by entering an amateur tournament.

TIGERS TO MEET OILERS

Winner of Ice Hockey Game Tomorrow Night Has Fine Chance for Title

A wide-open race has developed for the California Hockey League title, with all four teams in the running and putting on the pressure. The steady advance of the Los Angeles Richfields toward first place may be continued tomorrow night when they wage war with the San Francisco Tigers over the question of who belongs in second place and who is going to take first place away from the Oakland Sheiks.

With the rewards for winning so high and the rivalry at its highest point, tomorrow's game promises a world of action for the Winter Garden Ice Palace.

The Oilers have been putting on a real drive, at that, and in their last two games with San Francisco and their last game with Hollywood have been victorious. They also have dumped the champion Oakland Sheiks along the way, proving that the critics were right when they said that the Oilers could prove mighty dangerous.

Lloyd Cook and his Tigers received their first drubbing from the Oil men, 2 to 0, at the Garden recently when a young and promising player by the name of "Bud" Nichols went on a rampage. Another kick in the same spot was given the Tigers up north, on Sunday afternoon, 3 to 1, Los Angeles copping on a furious late-game rally. It savored of turning the other cheek, for the Tigers, and there is nothing they like less.

LIONS AND BEARS TANGLE ON ICE TONIGHT

S. C. TOSSERS TO GO NORTH

Student Manager Joseph D. Clarke and Director of Athletics Bill Hunter.

The party will arrive in Oakland Friday morning, the 10th inst., at 9 o'clock and will stay at the Oakland Hotel. Leaving San Francisco Sunday evening at 6:15 on the Sunset Limited, the Trojan party will arrive home Monday morning in time for the players to attend their 9 o'clock classes.

While the University of California quintet is not considered as strong as last season's championship five, Coach Nibs Price's quintet will undoubtedly enter the game as strong favorites over Coach Sam Barry's Trojan men, who have only shown mediocre form in practice games this season.

Barry, formerly of the University of Iowa, where he developed several outstanding fives in the Big Ten Conference, has been installing a new basketball system at Troy which the players have not been able to master as yet and as a consequence the team has looked ragged in victory and entirely outclassed in defeat. In the opening night game, however, it is expected that the Trojan quintet will hit its stride and give the California Bears a hard tussle.

Coach Sam Barry's starting lineup will probably consist of Jack Gardner and William Pierce at forwards, Frank Smith at center, and Capt. John Lehners and Wilbur Caldwell at guards. Jesse Mortenson, all-Pacific Coast star for the past two years, was expected to be one of the starters, but due to a shoulder injury suffered in the recent Pittsburgh contest at the Rose Bowl, he will be unable to don a basketball suit for another two weeks.

Trobabes Get Grid Numerals

Twenty-four members of the University of Southern California freshman football squad are today sporting sweaters and '33 numerals, which came this week as a delayed Christmas present for their work on Coach Aubrey Devine's championship Trobabe eleven of 1929. The Trojan first-year team repeated the feat of last year's Trobabes of going through a season without defeat and of winning the championship of the "little big three" from the California and Stanford freshman elevens.

Numerals were awarded to the following Southern California freshmen: Bill Armistead, tackle, Beverly Hills; Henry Biggs, end, Los Angeles; Rupert Black, tackle, Abilene, Tex.; Raymond (Tay) Brown, end, Compton; Pascal Dilday, quarterback, Long Beach; Byron Gentry, guard, Corcoran; Bill Hawkins, center, Los Angeles; Wesley Hooper, guard and backfield, Escondido; Nathan Kates, fullback, San Fernando; John Kennedy, guard, Phoenix; George Kirkwood, quarterback, Portland; Talbert Ledbetter, tackle, Olinda; Duncan McAlpine, quarterback, Inglewood; Kenneth McKenzie, halfback, Oxnard; Orville Mohler, quarterback, Alhambra; George Norene, center, Pasadena; Alfred Plaehn, tackle, Reinback, Iowa; Theron Ramey, guard, Glendale; Eugene Ridings, fullback, Pittsburgh, Cal.; Richard Rippey, guard, Arcadia; Harold Smith, end, Long Beach; Ernest Smith, tackle, Los Angeles; Ray Sparling, end, South Pasadena, and Howard Tipton, halfback, Los Angeles.

nually on a three-year contract basis, Col. Ruppert said the club would not sign the Babe to a three-year agreement on any terms.

The great man of baseball, after a lengthy confab with Col. Ruppert and Ed Barrow, club secretary, who announced the failure of the meeting, declared he will leave Saturday for St. Petersburgh, Fla., to start spring training.

Neither Ruth nor the Yankee officials seemed greatly perturbed over the break-up of the first financial parley. The discussion will be renewed later in the South and there is every expectation that a compromise will be reached in time for Babe to occupy his customary outfield post when the Yankees start the season.

It was recalled that three years ago, when Ruth talked about demanding an increase from $52,500 to $100,000 for 1927, the compromise figures of $70,000 for three years was reached.

Ruth already is the highest salaried figure in baseball, his salary for the last three years being $5000 greater than that of Commissioner Landis.

Today the famous hitter declined a two-year contract calling for the same salary as the President of the United States, demanding instead $10,000 more than the nation's Chief Executive and $20,000 more annually than baseball's highest ruling official.

Babe Ruth's ever-mounting annual pay check with the New York Yankees has ranged over the years as follows:

1920—$10,000.
1921—$25,000.
1922—23—24—25—26—$52,500.

PINCKERT IS IRON-MAN OF TROJAN GRID SQUAD

To Ernie Pinckert, sensational sophomore right halfback, goes the honor of having played the most time for the University of Southern California football team during the 1929 season, which ended just recently with the overwhelming victory over Pittsburgh University on New Year's Day, according to figures announced yesterday by Director of Athletics Bill Hunter.

Pinckert saw action with the Trojan varsity for 481 minutes, 5 seconds out of a possible 720 minutes, being on the field for S. C. for a shade more than two-thirds of the time of the Southern California games. Clark (Chick) Galloway, right guard, ran Pinckert a close second for total time played with 465 minutes, 25 seconds. Francis Tappaan, all-American left end, was third with 453 minutes, 10 seconds.

Other men who were near the top for total-time honors were Frank Anthony, right tackle, with 408 minutes, 30 seconds; George Dye, center, with 399 minutes; Garrett Arbelbide, right end, with 392 minutes, 20 seconds, and Russ Saunders, quarterback, with 345 minutes, 43 seconds.

Tappaan has the honor of having played the most Pacific Coast Conference time for Southern California, the all-American flash having been in action 297 minutes, 5 seconds, or 71 per cent of the time, against the seven Trojan conference opponents. Pinckert is a close second in this regard with 295 minutes, 5 seconds of conference play.

The fact that Pinckert, Galloway and Tappaan head the list of Southern Californians in amount of time played indicates that Coach Howard Jones considered them about his most dependable performers. Last year Galloway led the list in time played, but this season, although his playing was even more consistent than during 1928, he was nosed out by Pinckert, whose work branded him as one of the greatest sophomore stars a Trojan eleven has ever had.

PACIFIC SOUTHWEST CUE TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

The Pacific Southwest amateur three-cushion championship tournament will be played in the Stevens Billiards Academy, here, the National Billiard Association of America, sponsors of all tournaments, has just announced. Play starts today. The leading amateurs in this territory will see action and will compete for the crown made vacant when Charles E. Jordan of Los Angeles, last year's winner as well as last year's national amateur title-holder, joined professional circles.

The winner of the Pacific Southwest tournament will oppose the winner of the Pacific Northwest championship tournament for the right to represent the Pacific Coast in the national amateur three-cushion championship, which will be played at the French Lick Springs Hotel at French Lick, Ind., starting on March 17. The national champion and the seven sectional winners will see action in the national title tourney.

The national amateur 18.2 balkline will open at the University Club in St. Louis on March 10. The next amateur 18.2 balkline challenge match will be played between R. V. Fessenden of Madison, Wis., and Alex Elmslie of Milwaukee, Wis., at Madison on the 13th, 14th and 15th inst. On the same dates Max Shimon of Milwaukee and Bud Westhus of St. Louis will meet in Peterson's Academy in St. Louis for the national amateur three-cushion crown.

Dempsey May Fight---Mebee

ATLANTA (Ga.) Jan. 7. (AP)—Jack Dempsey thinks little of the present crop of heavyweights, and "may have a pot shot at one or two of them yet." Here to referee a welterweight bout tonight between Farmer Joe Cooper and Ted Goodrich, the old Manassa Mauler brushed aside a question of whether he would return to the ring.

"Anything might materialize," he said. "If these birds don't get to mixing it up a little more lively, why I may have a pot shot at one or two of them yet."

Dempsey thinks the boys are "ducking the issue."

"A champion should meet and beat them all or he should not be champion," he said. "The heavyweights are spotting their matches instead of slamming their way through the division."

BEASLEY NEXT FOR CAMPBELL

Rival Heavyweights Meet in Legion Ring

Frankie Campbell is the biggest box-office attraction in Los Angeles boxing circles and after he fights Jack Beasley at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium Friday night he will listen to terms for a fight with Les Kennedy. Both Campbell and Kennedy have been main eventers at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium and Campbell sells the stadium out as a main eventer while Kennedy is considered just a fair attraction. That is why Campbell is asking for terms that will be agreeable to him and pay him for the popularity he has acquired.

When the time is ripe Campbell will fight Kennedy, but the fans are craving the fight. It will get hotter and the gate will be a big one if the Kennedy-Campbell shot is staged at a later date and for that reason Campbell postpones the signing for such a fight.

Another sold-out house at Hollywood Friday night and fight fans expecting to see Campbell and Beasley fight will have to get the remaining seats.

Charley Sullivan will fight Eddie Lowe, Philadelphia bantamweight, in the semi-wind-up. Sid Torres has a bad hand and will meet Sullivan if he wins. He was scheduled to fight Sullivan. Lowe is in the same stable with Speedy Dado.

The special event will make a strong bid for the bonus money. Clayton Gouyd fights Tommy McGough and they rate with the best bantams in the preliminary ranks. The winner of this spot may fight the winner of the semi-wind-up.

Although there were eighteen water hazards on each nine, thirty-four for the eighteen holes, Tommy was in trouble only once, indicating that his short game is right on edge for the Los Angeles $10,000 open.

The mill stream that winds through the picturesque course, caused the downfall of more than one star of the links. Horton Smith played beautiful golf for seven holes, being one under threes, only to take a 9 on the eighth hole. Horton finally picked up on the final round, as did Henry Ciuci, the Bridgeport (Ct.) pro, and Big Ed Dudley of Concordville, Pa., former Hollywood Country Club professional.

FAMOUS STARS PLAY

Unfortunately, Hagen and Leo Diegel, annual visitors to the Lloyd tournament, were unable to play as they are still working on their two-reel comedy.

More than three score nationally famous pros matched strokes, however, and the less fortunate were somewhat consoled by a bounteous luncheon served on the course.

U.C.L.A. Cards Track Meets

With spring track practice now in its second week, four meets have been scheduled for the University of California at Los Angeles inderpath artists, Bruin athletic authorities announced yesterday. Other meets will be scheduled later in the season.

The Bruin tracksters will open their season, under present arrangements, on March 8, next, against the Pomona Sagehens at Westwood, although practice meets may be scheduled prior to that date. On March 22, next, they will journey to Pasadena to meet the Caltech Engineers. Paying back a visit of the U.C.L.A. track team to Tucson last year, the University of Arizona track squad will meet the Bruins at Westwood on April 5, next. Fresno State Teachers' College will oppose the locals the following week on April 12, next, at U.C.L.A. As usual, no meets will be scheduled with schools in the Pacific Coast Conference.

Approximately seventy-five freshmen and varsity track athletes turned out last Friday in response to Coach Harry Trotter's call. Capt. Johnny Hill, star sprinter and shot-putter, heads the varsity this year.

Penn Defense Checks Tigers

BY SOL METZGER

When a five has the ball out of bounds near its basket, defense has to be airtight or a two-pointer will be hung up against it. Penn knows its out-of-bounds defensive stuff pretty well, as it was able to break up the Tiger's best plays when they last met. You may recall the Princeton out-of-bounds play shown yesterday.

Here's the way the Red and Blue checked it, even though it was clever legal blocking on the part of Wittmer's five. When the Tigers got the play under way, all moves being for the purpose of freeing No. 2, who circles around and takes the pass in to thus obtain an unhindered shot for the basket, Eddie McNichol's free guarding players take care of this situation as follows:

Player C merely drops back, meets No. 2 as he cuts around and spoils the pass in. Let's see what other combination a team may use to block this type of play. Got to go clear up to Syracuse, N. Y., to find out.

PAYNE, HESS IN DRAW RING GO

bled and was about to fall. He steadied himself by grabbing the top rope and returned to the center of the ring. Another right half spun him into Payne's own corner, but from then on the beach boy steadied, and he grew stronger as his head cleared.

In the fifth Hess came out to make up lost ground, and he succeeded. In a furious mix-up in the middle of the ring with both boys standing head to head and trading blows Payne slipped to the floor claiming foul. The referee refused it the minute Payne's knees touched the floor and ordered him up. Payne obeyed and the fight continued hammer and tongs.

They continued to alternate in the lead right up to the finish. Hess took the seventh, cracking Payne a dirty left in the mouth, followed by a right which brought the blood in gobs.

Hess added the eighth to his string, and then Payne nabbed the last two rounds.

HESS AGGRESSIVE

The round-by-round score shows five apiece with the shade going to Payne because of the dizzy condition he had the Ocean Park boy in during the fourth round. Hess's aggressiveness was one of his strong points.

This was the second meeting of the boys, Payne having beaten Hess in a surprise fight early last month.

Hess came in weighing 132 and Payne 131.

Alfredo Imperial's manager threw in the towel to save the Filipino a bad beating at the hands of Lew Snyder in the fourth round of a six-round bout. Imperial took a bad face massaging while the bout lasted.

Joe Salerno defeated Jimmy Lyall in the regular four rounds and Cecil Guysel copped the nod over Frankie Burnell in the opener.

RICHFIELD OILERS BEATEN BY OAKLAND

OAKLAND, Jan. 7. (Exclusive)—Unawed by the long winning streak of the Los Angeles squad, Oakland's Sheiks skated to an unexpected 3-to-0 victory over the Richfields in their California Hockey League contest here tonight. The visitors dropped to third place in the standings as a result, despite a persistent climb from the cellar to second place without the loss of a game.

Billiards

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (AP)—Otto Reiselt, veteran Philadelphia cue master, tonight went into the undisputed leadership of the national three cushion billiard tournament with a 50-to-42 victory in forty-five innings over Allan Hall, 28-year-old St. Louis sensation. It was Hall's first defeat of the tournament and Reiselt's fifth straight victory.

Rallying in the late innings, Johnny Layton of St. Louis stayed in the running in defense of his title with a 50-to-34 victory in forty-nine innings over Gus Copulos of Detroit.

Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago chalked up a 50-to-25 victory over Harry Schuler of New York in forty-nine innings.

PASADENA JAYSEE FIVE WINS, 31-7

The Pasadena Junior College quintet won its first game of the season last night, defeating the Pomona Jaysee quintet, 31 to 7. Pasadena led, 17 to 2, at the half, and coasted to an easy victory. Smith was high-point man with ten digits to his credit.

WOOLLEY BEATS MOORE

WRIST BREAKING CORRECTED

Hagen Pointed Out Fault in Young New Jersey Professional Which Hampered Style; Rigid Left Arm Necessary to Insure Getting Correct Snap in Shot

BY CRAIG WOOD

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

(This is the fourth of a series of articles written by famous amateur and professional golfers, telling how they overcame outstanding faults in their play.)

My greatest weakness in golf—one I didn't correct until recently—was a tendency to break my wrists too soon. This applied to all shots, and though I managed to get tremendous distance on my drives, I never could be quite certain where the ball was going.

CRAIG WOOD

It is always easier to see others' faults than to recognize our own. I pointed out my could have error if I had seen it in some one else, but I couldn't put the finger of certainty on it for myself. Perhaps that is why it remained for Walter Hagen to point out that I was choking my swing by breaking my wrists almost simultneously with the start of the backswing.

The fact that my swing was so well grooved counteracted the tendency to break the wrists too soon on the drives and long shots in the fairway, but when it came to executing mashie-niblick and niblick chip shots the weakness bobbed up like a nightmare.

Shortly after the national open I was talking with Hagen and he called my attention to the fault. I immediately set about correcting it, and in the Metropolitan open at Lido I felt pleased with the result.

I have not changed my stance for these short shots, but instead of playing the stroke entirely with the wrist snap I hold the left forearm rigid, taking the club back slowly. Then I let the wrists snap into the shot. After careful study I am convinced that my fault is the fault of the majority of golfers. Some seem to hit their chips crisply, but, like myself before I shied away from the habit of breaking my wrists at the start of the backswing, they have no idea where the ball is going.

Read over the preceding paragraph carefully and get a picture of the thought I intend to convey. Tonight get your niblick out and take some practice swings in the living-room. Swing in your usual way at first and see if you're not breaking your wrists too soon. Chances are that this is what you have been doing.

Then take the club back slowly with the rigid left arm and try letting your wrists snap into the shot that way. Practice that each night, and the first good day see how it works on the course.

GOLFERS QUALIFY TODAY FOR LOS ANGELES OPEN

the low thirty of the Los Angeles open last year.

With the National P.G.A. championship, played at Hillcrest in December, attracting practically every eastern and midwestern professional of note, the caliber of the qualifying field is of a higher standard than those of previous open tournaments.

FAMOUS STARS QUALIFY

Among the nationally noted stars who play today are Tom Kerrigan, who finished third in the British open championship of 1921; Mel Smith and Neil Christian, rated among the finest playing pros of the Pacific Northwest; Ed Gayer and Johnny Dawson, well known pro and amateur, respectively, of Chicago; Clarence E. Clark of Tulsa, Okla., the young professional who won second money at Long Beach and first prize at San Gabriel, and scores of others equally well known.

Southern California amateurs have responded nobly to the lure of qualifying for the open, and the lists are filled with names of brilliant local simon pures.

Fay Coleman of the California Country Club, who qualified for the Los Angeles open last year, but played poorly because of a bad cold, will try again at Los Angeles. Gibson Dunlap, Southern California amateur champion, will play at Fox Hills. Other well-known local amateurs who have entered the qualifying play are Ray Palmer of Rancho, Lester Coleman of California, Jack Mackay of Los Angeles, E. S. Armstrong of Midwick, Harry Wesbrook of Annandale, Clark Somers, Jr., of Los Angeles; Gene Brown of California, Johnny De Paolo of Bakersfield, George M. Lewis of Los Angeles, Winston Fuller of Los Angeles, Dick Smith of Riviera and Bill Jelliffe of Girard.

LUCK TO STARS

Golf fans today are wishing both Farrell and Turnesa the best of luck. Johnny is one of the most pleasant personalities in golf. Up until the time he won the national open championship at Olympia Fields in 1928, Farrell had a marvelous tournament record. The task of keeping himself in physical and mental trim through a difficult schedule, however, proved too great a strain, and Johnny has had only a mediocre year. He is a fine golfer, and will be an asset to the open if he qualifies.

Turnesa has not played in the Southland since 1927, when he took an unmentionable number of strokes on a hole at Wilshire, and failed to qualify for the final thirty-six holes of match play. He is also a great golfer, and is about due to crash through with some of the championship golf that has made him famous in the East.

In the meantime, the select forty-three who are exempt have been wasting no time preparing for the big battle. They will not be permitted to play Riviera until the tournament starts Friday, but are getting in a few practice rounds over various courses in the meantime.

Tonto Rock in Border Victory

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) Jan. 7. Dashing to the front at once, Tonto Rock, 3-year-old from the stable of P. Almy, gained enough lead to enable him to win the Santa Monica, an allowance affair at six furlongs, here this afternoon. Tonto Rock had to be punished all through the stretch to hold his advantage and finished a half-length in front of the fast closing Hatrick. Jeu de Bar got the show.

The race was run in the heavy downpour over a track made sloppy by heavy showers throughout the day. The victory was the second in three starts for Tonto Rock, the other effort being a second place. Time for the distance was 1m. 14 4-5s.

Results:

PATHFINDERS TRIM SPARTAN QUINTET

The Fremont basketball team defeated the Huntington Park quintet, 25 to 22, in a practice game played last night in the Spartans' gymnasium.

Fremont appeared to be on their way to an easy victory at the end of the first half, as they were leading by a 21-to-7 margin. The Spartans staged a great come-back in the last quarter, however, and came within 3 points of tying the score.

Individual high-point honors were carried of by Williams, playing forward on the Fremont five, his total being 10 markers. The second highest scorer was Miller of Huntington Park, who tallied 7 points.

Basketball

With "Lanky" Steppling leading his team in a second-half rally, the E. A. Pierce basketballers last night trounced the R. Staats quintet, 18-16, in the fifth round of the Bulls section of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange Institute Basketball League.

The encounter, which took place on the John C. Burroughs Junior High court, marks the fifth straight win for the Pierce team, and makes the squad the only undefeated team in the Bulls league.

In two other games, which were held preceding the Pierce-Staats encounter, the Toole Tietsen five staged a rally in the second half of the game which saw them triumph over the Sutro & Co. five by a 16-12 score. H. J. Barneson cage five defeated the Gorman Kayser basketballers, 15-12. The Barnesen boys also staged a last-half rally to win.

Fine Putting During Winter

"JIMMY" JOHNSTON HAS THE LOW FOLLOW THROUGH EVEN WHEN PUTTING Sol Metzger 1-8

BY SOL METZGER

As the chip shot is merely a long putt played with a lofted club in order to jump your ball over the longer grass of a fairway, it stands to reason that a mastery of putting principles gives one control over two radically different lies during a round.

So, master putting. You can do it this winter time at odd times at home with one of the many devices that can be set up on a carpet or rug. Practice of this nature now will greatly improve your play next season. Putting itself is an art that demands rather lengthy explanation. So, if you want to understand its principles write me, care of The Times, for my putting leaflet, and inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope. I'll send it along.

The main idea in these shots is the low follow through, according to Bobby Jones. This means your clubhead closely hugs the ground as it follows after the ball. That is the dominant idea, too, when Harrison Johnston, United States amateur champ, putts, as the sketch shows.

Sol Metzger has prepared a complete analysis of the pivot with illustrations which will aid any golfer. He will gladly send it to any reader requesting it. Inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

handicapped somewhat, however, by the failure of Gene Dorsey, one of their regular guards, to show up. Cole and Kearney each accounted for eight points to lead the locals in the matter of hitting the hoop.

The Clothiers, who were cheered to victory by an enthusiastic audience of former Kansans, got off to too big a lead to make it an exciting contest, and at half time were out in front, 29 to 13. Hollywood managed to work up to within nine points of the Clothiers at one time in the second half, but then Goff and Hewett went on a scoring spree to leave the locals way in the rear.

The Wichita team plays the Pacific Coast Club at Long Beach tonight and on Friday night tackle the Los Angeles Elks at the Olympic. The Elks have won fifteen out of their seventeen games and have a win over the L.A.A.C. to their credit, so they should be able to give the Clothiers a close struggle. The Elks are making arrangements to take care of a big crowd at the Olympic.

Bruins Down Poets, 34-14

Coach Caddy Works's U.C.L.A. basketball quintet walloped the Whittier College five, 34 to 14, last night in the losers' pavilion. The Bruins' powerful offense sprang into action with the opening whistle, and at half-time had piled up a comfortable 20-to-7 lead. At no time during the contest was the Bruins' superiority contested by the Whittier team, thus giving the Bruin substitutes plenty of opportunity to have their fun, also.

Larry Wildes, captain of the U.C.L.A. five, was the individual high-scorer of the game, with nine of his team's points to his credit. His team-mate Knowles, ran a close second with eight markers.

The preliminary game between the Whittier College freshmen and the Huntington Park High School five resulted in a 14-to-14 tie. An extra three minutes was played to decide the winner, but the score remained the same, so the game was canceled to make way for the main event.

SAN PEDRO QUINTET WINS OVER BANNING

The San Pedro Pirates won a 25-to-18 victory over the Banning High School quintet last night in the winners' gym. The game was featured by the excellent playing of the losers' star forward, Gill, who chalked up a total of 13 points to lead both teams in the matter of individual scoring. Dragozich was high-point man for the Pirates, with 9 digits to his credit.

The preliminary game between the same schools' lightweights was also won by San Pedro. The score being, 23 to 8.

PILLSBURY WIRES EDICT

Numbers on Cars Entered in Sunday's Race at Legion Speedway Must be Changed

There was much news popping in auto racing circles yesterday as drivers and mechanics prepared themselves and their cars for Sunday afternoon's 100-lap Durant Cup race at the American Legion Speedway.

Perhaps the most important bit of news came from A. C. Pillsbury, who is attending a meeting of the big racing moguls in New York. Pillsbury wired that numbers of all cars must be changed for Sunday's grind. The old numerals, grown familiar to local fans, will go. The No. 18, made famous by Mel Kenealy, will be something else. Jimmy Sharp will have a new digit for his No. 3 and so on down the line.

Also the numbers of the cars must be painted in black, inside a twenty-inch circle of white. The only numbers not allowed will be eleven and thirteen. It is declared that eleven sounds too much like seven to the judges. The objection to thirteen is obvious enough.

All the fastest cars will be ready to go to the post Sunday, according to Roy Tuttle, the man who is doing the signing up of cars and drivers during Pillsbury's jaunt east.

Babe Stapp, who was injured a short time ago, will have the Bobby Special ready for the fireworks. This machine is the one that turned the track in 28.8s. three weeks ago for a new record.

Francis Quinn, Fred Frame, "Shorty" Cantlon, Johnny Krieger, "Speed" Hinckley, Ernie Triplett and other knights of the open throttle, who rank among the foremost, have entered Sunday's grind.

BATTERYMEN TO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 7. (AP)—Chicago White Sox batterymen have been ordered by Manager Donie Bush to report at San Antonio, Tex., February 18. The remainder of the squad will be due in camp about ten days later.

EDDIE SHEA KAYOES SAILOR FAY KOSKY

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 7. (AP)—Eddie Shea, Chicago's contender for the featherweight crown, used only a round and a half of his scheduled 10-frame fight with Fay Kosky, California southpaw, here tonight before he slapped a knockout punch to Kosky's jaw.

Martie Fields, brother of Welterweight Champion Jackie Fields, won a close newspaper decision from Chick Pupeca of Chicago in ten rounds.

Judge Will Decide Fate of Film Actor's Widow

Defense Tells of "Newly Discovered Evidence"

Counts of Grand Theft Cut from Five to Three

Granting a defense motion to reopen the case of Mrs. Florine Walz Williams, widow of Earle Williams, motion - picture actor, Superior Judge Wood late yesterday dismissed the jury that had heard evidence on the grand-theft charges against Mrs. Williams and will himself pass on the guilt or innocence of the woman.

Mrs. Williams originally was charged with five counts of grand theft in connection with her asserted illegal mortgaging of personal property in her home at 620 Irving Boulevard. Three of the counts were dismissed yesterday on the ground they were covered by the remaining two counts.

JURY DISMISSED

The defense had rested its case and attorneys were prepared to begin arguments to the jury when Defense Attorney Milton M. Cohen, following a consultation with other attorneys in the case and Judge Wood, asked permission to reopen the case on the ground of "newly discovered evidence."

Defense and prosecution attorneys then stipulated to dismiss the jury and try the case before Judge Wood, who after granting the motion to reopen, ordered a continuance to Monday. Defense attorneys did not indicate the nature of the "newly discovered evidence" they will place before the court.

Mrs. Williams is accused of mortgaging her property to Albert K. Lucas, an attorney, for $5000 after it already had been placed as security for a $12,500 loan from Arkell Burnap. The remaining count of the indictment accuses her of permitting the property to be sold at auction while it was under mortgage.

WIDOW ON STAND

Mrs. Williams, on the witness stand, denied mortgaging her property to Lucas without advising him of the mortgage already given to Burnap. She admitted signing a document giving C. H. O'Connor & Son the right to auction the property, and said she did not know it was necessary to advise the auctioneers that the property was mortgaged.

Neil McCarthy and Jay Chotiner, attorneys, also took the witness stand for Mrs. Williams and testified she was financially able to meet her obligations under the asserted mortgages.

The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Penney, while Mrs. Williams is represented by Attorneys Cohen and R. D. Knickerbocker.

PORT STRIP ANNEXED BY COUNCIL MOVE

HIS FISH CAUGHT BARE-HANDED

Veteran Swimmer Has Witnesses, Too

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 7.—Albert Fuchs, retired capitalist, formerly of Chicago, is well known at the beach here for his prowess as a swimmer. He takes his dip of a mile swim at dawn every day, winter or summer. His 65 years have been lived wholesomely and with plenty of outdoor exercise, and in his residence at 130 Adelaide Drive, Santa Monica, he has many trophies won when he was a champion with broadsword and foils around Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis.

To his eagle eye as a fencer and his daily swimming Fuchs today attributed one of the most remarkable exploits ever performed along the Pacific Coast. The thing sounds so much like a "fish story" that it must be introduced by naming the witnesses, including George Merritt and Carl Guercio, beach land developers; half a dozen life guards and beach patrons; A. Wilding, gardener; and Eva Rehberger, housekeeper at the Fuchs home.

They were all as astounded as Fuchs—to say nothing of the fish—when the veteran athlete went into the surf without hook, line or sinker, and emerged with a ten-pound silver bass he had caught with two fingers through the gills.

Retired Capitalist Likes Southland

Fuchs relates the experience with a still-bewildered-yet-pleased manner:

"I was just a short distance out, swimming near the kelp bed, when I had to dive under a wave. I saw a mass of kelp ahead of me, and out of it popped a fish. Just for the fun of it I made a grab for it. Maybe my fencing has given me quickness and kept my eye keen, or perhaps that fish had just been chased into the kelp by a larger fish. Anyway it couldn't have been more surprised than I was when I hooked it with two fingers beneath the gills. It was a ten-pound silver bass.

"I had a hard time getting that fighter ashore. I carried it high up on the sand and left it there, wanting to finish my morning dip. When I returned to get it the bass jumped around so that a lifeguard had to throw a bathing suit over it and then capture it with a flying tackle.

"As I carried it up the 300 steps from the Santa Monica Canyon beach to my home on Inspiration Point skeptics made wisecracks about how the fish must have been dead when I caught it. The bass, however, sustained my reputation for veracity when I put it in one of the pools in my yard. As soon as it hit the fresh water it leapt out again and started the fight all over on the grass.

"In the ensuing struggle my gardener killed it, and my housekeeper will tell you she never cooked a finer fish. Southern California is the place for thrills and health, and I am getting plenty of them. I have never had a cold or a sick day in Santa Monica, and I'm glad I sold my Chicago property for $1,000,000 less than it was worth so I could live here."

Jacobson Rites to Be Tomorrow

Mrs. Rose Jacobson, 63 years of age, of 959 South Gramercy Place, a resident of Los Angeles for many years, died early yesterday morning at her home following a long illness. Mrs. Jacobson leaves her husband, David Jacobson, one son, William C. Jacobson and three daughters.

According to announcement by the family, funeral services will be from the Glasband & Groman undertaking parlors at 901 West Washington at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, and interment in the Home of Peace Cemetery. The services will be read by Rabbi Neches.

SUIT MENACES REST OF DEAD

Taxes Continue Pursuit Even Into Burial Ground

Hollywood Cemetery Owners Defendants in Action

Tomb of Late Senator Clark Among Those Involved

The right of the dead to occupy their graves—including such an imposing tomb as the $500,000 mausoleum of the late Senator Clark in Hollywood Cemetery—is challenged in a series of mandamus suits argued in Superior Judge Gates's court yesterday by City Attorney Werner and attorneys representing the Municipal Bonding Company, which holds assessment claims of $5012 against the Hollywood Cemetery Association.

Judge Gates, after a conference with the attorneys, decided that the facts in the case were not at issue, and that the case can be submitted on the 22nd inst., after a stipulation concerning the facts is filed.

The facts are that the Hollywood Cemetery Association was assessed for improvements in the paving of Wilton Place and the building of the Sacatela storm drain. Contending that the cemetery company owns only 32 per cent of the ground in the cemetery, where 2750 bodies were buried before the assessments were levied, the association has declined to pay more than 32 per cent of the amount levied.

The bonding company thereupon sued City Treasurer Powell for the amount of the assessments, which the city agrees to collect and pay over to the bonding company. The cemetery association intervened in the suit, as did W. A. Clark, Jr., whose father, the late Senator, occupies the mausoleum that is considered one of the most imposing architectural works in the city. George H. Cutts, members of whose family also are buried in the cemetery, is another intervenor.

City Attorney Werner declared in his answer filed for Treasurer Powell, that the cemetery was organized for profit, and as such does not come under the constitutional provision that exempts cemeteries from taxation and assessments forever. The cemetery company contends that when it sells a lot its profit-making function is over, and it can no longer be considered a profitable enterprise. It is argued to the contrary, however, that the cemetery does not sell the lot in fee, but only grants a perpetual easement for burial purposes. On this point, and others considered by attorneys equally fine, the judgment of the case will depend.

Clark and Cutts, intervenors, contend that they were not served with the proper notice of assessments when the matter came before the Council for protest, and that the assessment therefore is not legally binding upon them. The notice was served only on the cemetery association, it is contended.

The law regarding assessments provides that if an assessment is not paid, the bonding company that puts up the money for the improvement may claim and take possession of the property involved. If the Municipal Bonding Company wins this suit, it is pointed out, they will be in a position to foreclose on all the lots in the cemetery and acquire possession.

CITY HALL WATCHMAN COUNTS UP VISITORS

R. L. Schirra, chief watchman in the City Hall, yesterday filed a report covering the last six months of the calendar year 1928, showing that during that time 8569 persons have ascended to the City Hall tower, while 6048 visitors have been shown about the building by municipal guides. During December 18,467 automobiles were housed in the City Hall garage.

DAUGHTER SUED FOR PROPERTY

Mother Says It Was Given on Unkept Promise of Support

Mrs. Retta Hawkins, 79 years of age, appeared in Superior Judge Crawford's court yesterday to contest her suit to recover property valued at $10,000 which, she asserts, she gave to her daughter, Mrs. Jessie Hirsch, on condition that Mrs. Hirsch would support her.

According to Mrs. Hawkins's petition her daughter has given her only $25 since December, 1927. The case will be continued today.

PIONEER'S BODY TAKEN TO BAY CITY

Laura Hope Crews Goes North With Remains of Forty-niner Mother

The body of Mrs. Anna L. Crews, mother of Laura Hope Crews, stage actress, who died at her daughter's home, 729 South Bedford Drive, Beverly Hills, last Monday, was en route last night to San Francisco, where funeral services will be conducted this afternoon.

Mrs. Crews, 84 years of age, passed away after a week's illness. Final rites will be conducted from the San Francisco Grace Methodist Episcopal Church.

One of the few women who came around Cape Horn during the California gold rush of 1849, Mrs. Crews resided for many years in Los Angeles and San Francisco. She left here twelve years ago to be with another daughter, Mrs. Gene Hughes, in New York, but returned to spend the last months of her life in Los Angeles while Laura Hope Crews acted in a Hollywood picture.

Miss Crews accompanied her mother's body on its northward journey last night.

Mrs. Crews also leaves a sister, Mrs. C. P. Martin of San Francisco, and two sons, William Crews of New York and Shirley Crews of San Francisco.

Widow's Death in Hotel Laid to Alcoholism

Mrs. William R. Tollmer, 55 years of age, reputedly wealthy widow, who was found dead in her room in a hotel at 6162 Hollywood Boulevard Sunday night, died from acute alcoholism, County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner announced yesterday following a post-mortem examination. The verdict disposes of the theory advanced to police by friends of the dead woman that she succumbed to a blow on the head suffered when she was held up by robbers in the Manx Hotel, San Francisco, two weeks ago.

The body of Mrs. Tollmer, fully clothed, was discovered when the manager of the hotel forced an entrance to her room, following a report by a maid that there was no response to her knock.

Mrs. Tollmer is said to have a sister, Mrs. J. Seymour Wilson, prominent in eastern society circles living at 298 Union avenue, Bellview, N. Y.

Council Calls For Report on Rock Deposits

Councilman Martin yesterday introduced in the City Council a resolution calling on the City Engineer to make a report on the available deposits of rock, gravel, sand and limestone in or close to the city, with the idea in mind of establishing municipally owned rock and gravel and cement plants.

The resolution was referred to the Public Works Committee without comment.

ICE SPORTS PLANS PUSHED

Playground Department Prepares for Carnival at Camp Seeley Later This Month

Plans for a huge winter sports carnival, the first of the present season yesterday were being pushed by officials of the City Playground and Recreation Department following the blanketing of Camp Seeley, Los Angeles's municipal mountain playground, with six inches of snow during the recent storm.

Expenditure of several thousands of dollars recently have prepared this camp for the large number of persons who like to vary their usual routine with a little snowballing in the mountains. This expenditure has resulted in the equipment of new cabins for winter use, the building of long and steep toboggan slides, thrilling ski-jumps and a large ice-skating rink.

The winter sports carnival will be held on the 18th and 19th inst. and will include contests and exhibitions by some of the Southland's leading ice skaters, ski jumpers, and snow-shoe experts. Roads to Camp Seeley will be kept open at all times by the employment of huge snow plows, the Playground Department announced.

The snow carnival at Camp Seeley will be followed by similar events at other leading mountain playgrounds, according to the plan for promoting winter sports in the Southland advanced by the Southern California Winter Sports Association, which is a division of the State Chamber of Commerce.

CAPTIVE SEA ELEPHANTS REACH PORT ON STEAMER

Four huge animated hunks of blubber looking little like what one ever saw before were brought into captivity by the little steamer Patsy yesterday for the edification of the public.

They are male sea elephants from Guadalupe Island, 200 miles south, the only known habitat of the species, which, with a herd of 200, rapidly is nearing extinction.

The beasts weigh four tons each, have a short knobby trunk like an elephant, and when they snort sound like pile drivers at work.

Fred Henderson, deep-sea diver, and seventeen men, worked for three days bullying and bluffing the herd before four could be captured. Occasionally they would seize a club from a man and bite it in two, or rise eight or ten feet and defy their molestors.

They finally were driven into huge crates, in which they reached port yesterday. Trucks took them to the Bimini baths, where they soon may be put on public exhibit. Interested in their management yesterday were Henderson, Capt. G. M. Bryde, who obtained the permit to remove them from Mexico, and Albert Shaw, veteran show and exhibit man.

REPERTORY THEATER ON NEW BASIS

Noncommercial Status Announced With Gest's Retirement from Group

Reorganization of the Los Angeles Civic Repertory Theater on a true repertory basis, that is, a noncommercial, yet professional status, was announced yesterday. With the announcement came word of Simeon Gest's withdrawal from the group.

The Repertory Theater henceforth will operate much on the lines followed by the famous Moscow Art Theater of Russia, with all members of the organization, directors, sponsors, actors and actresses, sharing in the undertaking on a co-operative basis.

In the series of plays to be presented, the first being "And So to Bed," starting the 27th inst., at the Hollywood Music Box, leading and minor roles will be alternated by the actors. For example, Olaf Hytten and Elsie Bartlett Schildkraut have the leads in this first production, while in the next they may play comparatively insignificant parts.

Gest, in announcing his withdrawal, stated: "I am heartily in sympathy with the ideal to be followed by the Civic Repertory Theater, and I regret that I have found it necessary to retire."

Membership in the reorganized theater includes H. Ellis Reed, Paul Irving, John R. Moss, H. O. Seeban, in executive capacities, and Hytten, Miss Schildkraut, Boyd Irwin, Mabel Gibson, Maude Fealy, Eric Snowden, Marian Clayton and Kenneth Duncan as players, and Arthur Collins, director. The theater was started a year ago at the Figueroa Playhouse and backed by a number of Los Angeles' leading citizens.

DECISION IN WILL FIGHT POSTPONED

Mrs. Kleeman's Bequests Taken Under Advisement by Superior Court

It will be several days before pretty Natalie Mercedes Jarvis, known in motion pictures as Dollie Jarvis, will learn whether she will share in the $30,000 estate of her grandmother, the late Mrs. Natalie H. Kleeman, for at the close of a hearing late yesterday of a contest against the will of the deceased, Superior Judge Yankwich took his decision under submission.

The contest was begun by Dr. George Eugene Kleeman, Oakland physician, a son of the decedent, disinherited under the provisions of the will, who asserted that Mrs. Kleeman was of unsound mind and unduly influenced at the time she signed her will. She died at the age of 80 years.

Judge Yankwich indicated at the close of the hearing that undue influence had not been shown by the testimony, though he declared he was in doubt whether Mrs. Kleeman understood it was a will she was signing.

Broker testified yesterday in Municipal Judge Russill's court, where Campbell was ordered held for trial by Superior Court on three counts of forgery. Broker maintained that by using the robes Campbell victimized three downtown merchants, cashing two worthless checks for $50 each and one for $35.

PROXY PRISONER BALKED IN PLOT

Man Nabbed Trying to Serve Another's Jail Term

Now He's in Cell to Worry With Own Troubles

One Whose Role He Assumed Faces More Charges

Detected as a "ringer" when he entered the City Jail to serve a seventy-day jail sentence for Dash B. Williamson, Haley Byrd, who was recognized by jail attaches on account of the fact he had already served several misdemeanor and liquor sentences, was taken into Municipal Judge Curtis's court yesterday. Put under oath, Byrd admitted that he is not Williamson and that he appeared Monday, last, in the latter's place and pleaded guilty to liquor charges and entered the jail with the intention of serving the sentence imposed.

Questioned by Deputy City Prosecutor Kaufman and police officers at the jail, Byrd declared that he had "taken the fall" for Williamson not for money but because he was sorry for the latter. In his shoe, according to Kaufman, police found a $50 bill which had not been found during the first search when he entered the jail. Byrd was ordered held on suspicion of conspiracy to obstruct justice and the prosecutor declared he will seek complaints from the District Attorney's office charging both Byrd and Williamson with that offense, which is a felony. Judge Curtis, according to Kaufman, also will cite both men for contempt of court.

Williamson, who was at liberty on $1000 bail, was surrendered late yesterday by his bondsmen, after exoneration of the bail, granted when Byrd was sentenced, was set aside by the court and the bail ordered forfeited. Arraigned on the liquor charges, he pleaded guilty and was ordered committed to jail to await sentence today by Judge Curtis.

Williamson, who resides at 812½ North Van Ness avenue, was arrested on the 4th inst. by Police Officers Sund, Beiger and Hargett and Federal Officer Ellis after he had driven a sedan loaded with eighteen five-gallon bottles of whisky from a garage at 1240 Colton street. In the garage the officers reported finding fifteen more five-gallon bottles of liquor. When Byrd, appearing for Williamson, pleaded guilty, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $700 or to spend seventy days in jail and elected to serve the jail sentence.

SECONDHAND AUTO SHOP KEEPS CHIEF FROM CLUB

Chief of Police Steckel yesterday missed one of his first speaking engagements since his recent appointment when he disappointed those gathered about the round-table luncheon meeting of the City Club.

Chief Steckel was scheduled to deliver the main address on how the average citizen can help the police. When he failed to appear on scheduled time it was announced that he was detained at a meeting of the Police Commission, and a second announcement related how he appeared in front of the club building in an automobile, accompanied by the Police Commissioners, and hurriedly tendered his regrets, saying that he had to accompany the commissioners on an investigation.

It developed later that the police executives were on their way to investigate the status of a man who had applied for a license to operate a secondhand automobile shop. When it appeared that the Chief was unlikely to appear, it was voted by the club members that he be invited to deliver his speech some Wednesday noon soon.

In lieu of Steckel's talk, Albert Martin, architect, was called on to fill in. Martin discussed the need of a new City Jail, a condition recently pointed out by the 1929 grand jury. Martin agreed with the grand jurors that the present Central Station and Lincoln Heights Jail are a disgrace to the city. He advocated a modern jail at Lincoln Heights and another, perhaps smaller, downtown, but close to the courts. Cheerfully declaring that there might be some self-advertising in the statement, he next asserted that the entire plan should be given to competent architects for a comprehensive study that later could be presented to the people when they are asked to vote bonds.

WOMAN TO FACE TRIAL IN SHOOTING

Mrs. Andrade's Bail Set at $2000 as She Awaits Action in Superior Court

Mrs. Helen Lois Andrade, first wife of Albert F. Andrade, wealthy land owner, accused of firing five shots at him in front of his Beverly Hills residence at 206 North Palm avenue, was ordered held for trial by Superior Court on charges of assault with a deadly weapon following her preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Russill yesterday. Bail was fixed at $2000.

"She came to my house on December 12, last," Andrade testified, "and the minute she saw me she began shooting. She fired five times, but all the shots missed me."

Mrs. Judith Lane Andrade and her sister, Miss Eleanore Warren, testified that they heard the shots and saw the bullet holes in the house, and saw Andrade hurry into the house and close the door as the fifth shot was fired. Police Officers F. A. Powell and W. W. White of Beverly Hills declared they went to the Andrade home in response to a telephone call for help. They saw the bullet holes and later arrested Mrs. Andrade, they said.

Over the protest of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Broker, Andrade was allowed on cross-examination to explain partially his marital troubles. He said that he divorced Mrs. Andrade No. 1 in Yucatan, Mex., on December 4, 1924, and married Judith Lane Lavendar in New Orleans twelve days later. The marriage was repeated three weeks later in Juarez, Mex., he said.

Anita Loos and Husband Go East

Anita Loos, author, and her husband, Jhon Emerson, playwright, and her co-worker, will leave Hollywood today to spend the winter months at their Miami (Fla.) home. They were visitors here for several weeks to spend the holidays with relatives.

During their stay in Hollywood reports were heard that Miss Loos, author of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," and her husband had separated. Yesterday, however, Emerson blamed any such reports to mere Hollywood gossip, and said that "if we are separated we don't know a thing about it."

OPTION SUIT ON ACREAGE BEING TRIED

Land Near Cotton Club on Washington Boulevard at Issue in $150,000 Fray

An asserted option on seven acres of land in connection with Sebastian's Cotton Club in Washington Boulevard is the cause of a damage suit for $150,000 which went to trial yesterday before Superior Judge Lamberson. The action was brought by Samuel and Sara F. Hersh against Aurelio and Sarah Garau, the last named the owners of the property.

Represented by Attorneys Meserve, Mumper, Hughes & Robertson, the plaintiffs contend they took over the option on the property from Morris Rouch, entered into between Rouch and the defendants on March 26, 1923. The purchase price of the property was to be $90,000. Later, on September 26, 1923, Rouch assigned the option to Mr. and Mrs. Hersh, according to the complaint. Notice of the assignment, the Hershes declare, was given to the Garaus on February 15, 1924.

Mr. and Mrs. Hersh declare they offered to carry out the option and offered to pay the $90,000 purchase price, but Mr. and Mrs. Garau refused to sell. The refusal, they were told, was based on the ground that no consideration had been given for the option.

The defendants, represented by Attorneys Haas & Dunnigan, deny the option was revoked.

ORATORICAL CONTESTS

Reports of the progress of the federation's program of better citizenship brought enthusiastic comment at the meeting yesterday, and decision was reached to give even more impetus to the federation's speakers' bureau and national intercollegiate oratorical contests.

A unanimous vote was given to continue the oratorical contests this year, when reports revealed that in 1925 when the contests were started, 315 colleges and universities participated, in comparison with last year's record of 540 institutions of higher learning taking part.

Statistics on the contests disclosed that 25,000 orations were submitted by student contestants, all of whom showed that their preparation required a thorough understanding of the Constitution. Hundreds of thousands, if not millions of persons, heard the addresses delivered, it is estimated.

HISTORIAN OF OREGON HERE

Salem Editor to Study Mission Play as First Step Toward Pageant in North in 1934

Because Oregon is to have its Mission Play, and because R. J. Hendricks, editor emeritus of the Salem Statesman, believes it should be an enduring history of the Oregon country, he has made a pilgrimage to this city for the express purpose of talking with John Steven McGroarty, author of California's "Mission Play," and to study the play itself. He is accompanied by Mrs. Hendricks. They will be at the Savoy for about ten days.

R. J. Hendricks

Although not commissioned by anyone, Mr. Hendricks will write a history of the missions of the Oregon country with the understanding that later its facts will form the basis of a pageant to be given in Salem in 1934 in a centenary celebration of the coming of the first Protestant missionaries to Oregon.

The history will begin, he said, with the arrival of Jason Lee and his three followers on June 15, 1834, at old Fort Vancouver, after a trip over the Rockies on what later became the Oregon Trail, and will cover the whole mission period, some of which extends down to the present day.

"All the histories of Oregon so far," said Mr. Hendricks, "largely have been denominational and controversial, reflecting petty quarrels and jealousies. My whole interest is to have one that will endure, so I came down here to see how McGroarty did his job. I have seen the play once and expect to go several times more and I may come back later to do more research work.

"The reason I am so interested in this work is because I believe that if Jason Lee had not gone to Oregon when he did and if he had not been a man of vision and with the qualities of a statesman, the British flag would be flying over the Pacific Coast of this nation today. He did more than answer the call to bring the white man's God to the Flathead Indians, he sounded the call of the resources of the Pacific Coast and started the move of civilization and immigration to the Far West."

Jason Lee was the first Protestant missionary to go to Oregon. He preached the first Protestant sermon west of the Rockies and conducted the first Christian burial.

Mr. Hendricks, who was editor of the Salem Statesman, the oldest newspaper on the Coast, for forty-five years, still considers himself a member of the staff, although he disposed of his newspaper interests a short time ago. He does some writing for the paper and regularly conducts a column called "Bits for Breakfast," which he has been writing for years. He began his journalistic career at the age of 16 years, when he says that he was everything from manager and editor down to printer's devil on the Roseburg Plain Dealer. At 21 he started his service on the Salem Statesman.

Expert Says Film Children Lead Others

Any conception that film children are not up to the standard of the average school child is all wrong, in the opinion of Dr. Charles K. Taylor, psychologist of New York City. He asserts they are from 10 to 20 per cent above the average school child in muscular development and above the average school child mentaly.

Dr. Taylor bases his statement on the result of tests made at the Paramount Studio School for Children which operates under the control of the Board of Education. Coming here to address the annual teachers' institute and convention, Dr. Taylor was invited to visit the film school.

He made the tests with the aid of Miss Rachel Smith, principal of the school, and on his visit he was accompanied by Guy M. Hoyt, head co-ordinator of the division of attendance and employment of minors, and By J. Harold Thomas, supervisor of working and professional children.

Among the children players who went through the tests are Paul Gertzman, Paul Toien, Dick Winslow Johnson, Camilla Johnson, Kenneth Johnson, Austen Jewell, Anita Louise, Mitzo Green, Billy Butts, Lois Campbell, Catherine Cotter, Douglas Haig and Buck Black. All the studios in Hollywood maintain classes for children during the studio working day.

side down and seeing initials and things. Doubtless it was then as now; the actors took the poor author's script with a pitying smile and changed everything he said; so Shakespeare probably wrote it in the end to suit himself—no matter who started the plays. After all these centuries Shakespeare is experiencing the rightful acid test of the movie critics and we discover that he wasn't much of a scenario writer, anyhow.
